JAPANESE ATTITUDE GROWS BELLIGERENT

BARRETT AT LIBERTY IN COMPANY OF OFFICER.

Husband of Alice Drexel Says There Was Nothing Criminal Involved in Matter of Spreckels Jewels.

In his first statement for publication, Capt. William N. ("Diamond Bill") Barrett, about whom centers a two-continent story into the supposed loss of $125,000 worth of jewels belonging to Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Jr., declared last night that no criminality is involved in the matter, that nothing is hanging over him and that as soon as he can get in touch with E. E. Edwards, his London solicitor, the matter will be straightened out. He is not worrying, he said.

Capt. Barrett, war aviator and eloper-husband of Alice Gordon Drexel, spent the night at the Clark Hotel in company with an officer, who will remain with him until official confirmation or denial is received by cable of the reported issuance in London of a warrant for Capt. Barrett on the jewel charge.

Capt. Barrett said in his statement that he knew Mrs. Spreckels in London and had befriended her. He declined to comment on the report that the jewels were pawned except to say that no criminal act was involved and that everything probably will be cleared up today. He has retained Attorney H. L. Geisler to represent him here, but plans no local action as yet. Mr. Geisler declined to talk last night except to say that he has cabled Solicitor Edwards.

Efforts to get in touch with Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Jr., elicted the information from her home in San Francisco that she is now in Paris with her husband.

After city, county and Federal officials here had all taken a hand in the investigation of the local aspects of the supposed Spreckels diamond theft, Capt. Barrett was placed at liberty here late yesterday afternoon to go where and as he pleased, but with an officer to keep him company.

The new phase of the unique case came after the heads of the different departments called into consultation had refused to order Capt. Barrett's arrest until formal notification of the existence of a warrant is cabled them through official channels. The plan of "semi-official liberty" was approved by Barrett, it is understood at police headquarters, although none of the officials handling the case was willing to discuss this.

"Mr. Barrett is not under arrest. He was not detained when he left

MANY PRICES TUMBLING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—John Wanamaker started something when he ...a general reduction in prices of all articles in his great store ...Philadelphia, and that movement is still bearing fruit. Now Henry ...comes in with another formidable swat at Old Hi Cost and his sen... ...is bound to affect many other things than Ford automo...biles and tractors.

Bankers and merchants here agree that prices are coming down. They do not say that the action of Mr. Ford in cutting the prices of his machines to pre-war figures is causing reductions in necessities of life, but that it is a prominent sign in the trend of the times.

In the search to discover what goods would be reduced, it was discovered that leather has taken a marked slump, and that silks, in many instances, are being sold at prices lower than the retailer paid for them because raw silk has dropped in price. The same condition prevails in cotton goods.

As for woolens, though there has been a 10 per cent reduction since last fall, the real effect of the reduction in the cost of raw material will not be felt until spring when the cheaper material will be made into clothing. Sugar is down to 11 and 13 cents a pound with an unlimited supply. Eggs, butter and meats show but slight declines. Potatoes are selling at less than one-third the price they brought six weeks ago.

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank, blames the rate of foreign exchange for most of the high prices, and adds:

"Manufacturers have had a large amount of their goods made up. Now they must liquidate to re-establish their credit. That brings prices down."

He also says the passing of the excess profits tax along to the ultimate consumer is one of the chief causes of high prices.

"Once that is removed we will get back to normal progress production and prices."

CLOTHES TO COME DOWN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Recent price reductions of from 20 to 25 per cent announced by textile manufacturers will be reflected in the prices of men's clothing new spring, Eli Strouse, president of the National Clothing Manufacturers' Association, declared tonight at the association's convention. Mr. Strouse added that men's clothing prices cannot go down more quickly than the high cost of labor and materials.

IRISH RAIDS DESTRUCTIVE.

Damage of Million Dollars at Balbriggan; Destroy Homes of Valera's Relatives.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 22.—The damage done by the "Black and Tans" in Balbriggan, in their raids Monday night and yesterday, is estimated at £200,000 pounds. Among the dwellings destroyed were those of Mrs. Andrew White, sister-in-law of Eamona de Valera, and Lawrence Flanagan, brother-in-law of De Valera.

Nearly one thousand persons, about half the population of this partly devastated town, crept back to their homes today after having spent a second night of terror in near-by hay fields. Once in the night an alarm was raised which caused a stampede to remoter fields where they took refuge under hedges and hay cocks or other shelter.

Women and old men shivered in the cold and until dawn, when a reconnoitering party found things quiet in Balbriggan, and all gradually returned home.

The correspondent witnessed the last of the population coming home—women with crying infants, men carrying blankets and food and children endeavoring to rub the sleep from their eyes. Only a handful of the residents had been courageous enough to pass the night in their houses.

Many townspeople scattered among friends in neighboring villages while others went to farms about Dublin, more than twenty miles distant.

GAZE AT RUINS.

Groups stood in the streets today gazing at the smoking ruins of houses wrecked by bombs or burned after having been soaked with petroleum Monday night.

The correspondent saw motor tenders, each containing a half dozen "black and tan" recruits, wearing nondescript uniforms, half khaki and half police blue, whizzing through the main thoroughfare, the men with rifles. The local police

FINE FRUIT ROTS CLOSE TO CHICAGO.

Farmers and Commission Men Make Excuses for Situation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—A half-million dollars' worth of fruit in Berrien county, Michigan, lies rotting on the ground, four hours from Chicago by boat or rail. This estimate was made by expert growers to an investigator for the Chicago Daily News, which today published the story.

Thousands of bushels of fine peaches are being fed to the hogs or dumped on the ground to rot. Farmers, commission men and farmer organization experts gave various reasons for the situation. Some of these were car shortage, inability of boats to handle the huge crop, a sudden general ripening due to the late warm weather and "welching" by commission men through "jokers" in contracts made last spring with the growers.

Growers admit, the article said, that their only salvation is organization such as the men of the Pacific Coast have perfected.

COX'S TRAIN IS WRECKED

Democratic Special on its Way to Prescott Stopped by Spreading Rails.

Second Engine and Tender of the First Thrown off the Track.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 22.—Gov. Cox's Presidential campaign train was wrecked about 4:30 o'clock today, fourteen miles north of here, while en route to Prescott, Ariz.

The Democratic Presidential candidate and his party were badly shaken up when an engine and four cars of the special train were ditched, but all escaped serious injury. The most seriously injured was Charles A. Nicholas, engineer, of Prescott, who had a leg broken in jumping from his cab when his engine toppled over.

Spreading rails were assigned by railroad men as the cause of the wreck, which compelled the Governor and his party to return here tonight and cancel his evening address at Prescott. His future itinerary also was upset.

WRECK NEAR PEORIA.

The accident occurred a half-mile out of Peoria, a village on the Santa Fe Railway. After the Governor delivered several speeches here the train, consisting of six cars and drawn by two heavy engines, needed for the upgrade to Prescott, left here at 4 o'clock. About a half-hour later, while running at a speed estimated at between thirty-five and forty miles an hour, the train jarred suddenly as if in collision and then application of the emergency brakes, bumping over broken rails and ties and careening of cars told passengers the story.

The four forward cars were ditched, the Governor's private car, the Federal, at the rear and the adjoining compartment car of newspaper men, except for its forward truck, remaining on the rails.

A baggage coach jumped the track about fifteen feet and turned over on its side. Two passenger coaches and another compartment car behind also slewed ten feet or less from the track and partly toppled over.

LEAVES RAILS, JUMPS ON.

The first engine of the double-header, Engineer F. C. Sutton, of Prescott, said, left the rails and then jumped on again. But the second engine toppled over amid a cloud of escaping steam. The tender of the forward engine also fell over, while the first passenger coach ran the length of the overturned baggage car and jammed its forward end into the trucks.

All passengers on all cars were thrown topsy-turvy. Some suffered bruises and cuts from flying glass. In the rush for escape, several women passengers were put through broken windows.

Gov. Cox was in the dining-room of his private car going over papers with Dr. Robert C. Goldsmith, his assistant on the League of Nations question, when the crash occurred.

"What's that?" he shouted, rising to his feet, to be thrown heavily across the car into a steel wall. He was shaken up, but rushed out to assist the injured and soon was nonchalantly viewing the wreckage, smoking his pipe, and waiting for a wrecking train to arrive and take him back to Phoenix.

Of the passengers, including sev-

HARDING PLANS TWO TRIPS.

Candidate Will Speak Through Middle West and Part of South.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MARION (O.) Sept. 22.—Two speaking trips, circling the Middle West and dipping as far south as Tennessee, are to be made by Senator Harding during the first half of October.

Under plans completed today at least eight formal addresses will be delivered and it is expected that the Republican nominee also will make impromptu speeches in cities where short stops are scheduled.

During the latter half of the month other cities are to be visited, but the itinerary for that period has not yet been arranged. It was indicated that two swings announced today probably would constitute the longest journeys to be taken and that proposals for a trip to the Pacific Coast had been definitely put aside.

The first of the two trips, taking the nominee across the Middle West, will begin a week after his return, on September 29, from his excursion into Maryland, West Virginia and Kentucky. Leaving Marion on October 6 he will speak at Des Moines, Omaha, Kansas City and Oklahoma City.

After a stop of only a few hours here he will depart again on October 12, speaking at Chattanooga, Louisville, Indianapolis and St. Louis.

Whether the candidate will return to Marion after the St. Louis engagement was not announced and it is understood to have been suggested that he may swing into South Dakota, North Dakota and Wisconsin during the first two days of the next week. Later he is expected to visit New York and possibly New England.

Chicago also has been under consideration as a point to be visited in late October, and the Senator probably will close his campaign in one of the larger cities of Ohio.

Today Senator Harding made no speeches and saw only a few visitors. During the afternoon he motored to Mansfield, forty miles away, for a game of golf.

LIMIT TO PATIENCE, SAYS PAPER; FEARS CALIFORNIA ACTION

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Sept. 22.—The Kokumin, the leading pessimist newspaper, draws attention to the conference yesterday of the elder statesmen, deducing portentous consequences therefrom. The Kokumin says:

"Japan now has borne all she can bear and more than she should bear.

"There is a limit to patience.

"What will Japan do when her patience has been exhausted? America is in confusion over the Presidential elections, with the two great candidates competing with each other in anti-Japanism. They do not know—they cannot afford to pause and consider what a dreadful change internationally they thus encourage."

COLLISION IS FEARED.

"The California question is fast approaching a stage where the two great powers on the Pacific cannot avoid collision. If anything appeals to those persons who really advocate a peaceful policy, certainly the present Japanese-American relations deserve the most serious attention."

Lieut. Admiral Sato, commandant of the Maidsura naval port, writing a series of articles in the Hochi Shimbun under the caption, "If America and Japan Go to War, Which Will Win?" says:

"America appears as a race of mighty men, but internally it is consumed by the maggots of communism. Japan should not fear such an opponent who would crumple under attack."

KANEKO IS FEARFUL.

Viscount Kaneko, a lifelong leader in the movement for American-Japanese friendship and president of the American-Japanese Society, who was recently selected as special representative of Japan in America to explain the Japanese attitude on various questions, said when interviewed today:

"California, for the United States, will write an indelible impression into the minds of every man, woman and child in Japan, if it passes the anti-Japanese referendum. Such a law would be the death knell of the best feelings of the two nations touching upon the sensitiveness of all Japanese, big and little.

"I do not predict war, but I must say as a friend of America that, despite America's past kindnesses and well-appreciated acts of friendship, this would be wiped out overnight if the California legislation is passed."

ALL JAPAN IN TURMOIL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Sept. 22.—The Japanese government, as a result of yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet, will, in the first place, vigorously pursue the negotiations concerning American anti-Japanese legislation, and, in the second place, will push firmly the question of racial equality in the League of Nations conference, according to the Hochi Shimbu today.

These difficulties will be considered further at today's meeting of the diplomatic advisory council, the newspaper says.

The labor unions, in conference here today, adopted resolutions pledging "harmonious co-operation with the Japanese laborers of California in their insistence upon their lawful rights." The resolutions were cabled to the California labor associations.

THREATENS AMERICA.

At a public meeting in the Y.M.C.A. hall here today, Representative Kodama spoke on the subject, "An American-Japanese War." He denounced American militarism, saying that as long as a threatening nation existed beyond the Pacific Japan naval expansion cannot be dispensed with. Police interfered and silenced the speaker.

A graduate of Columbia University, New York, M. Osako, who followed Representative Kodama at the Y.M.C.A. hall meeting, attributed the anti-Japanese sentiment in the United States to racial differences. He declared that the whites were oppressing the colored races. Japan was the only country strongly opposing white oppression, M. Osako asserted, and, therefore, had incurred the hatred of the Americans. The Japanese, he added, must strongly be determined to meet any serious consequences following the anti-Japanese movement prevailing in America.

The Hochi Shimbun says it thinks the negotiations with the United States hinge on whether the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" should be revised and a formal treaty drawn up. The political situation in the United States, however, does not favor a speedy solution, which might be overturned by the succeeding administration, the newspaper declares, adding that America seems to object to giving the Japanese equal treatment with Americans. It declares some Japanese officials are convinced the anti-Japanese sentiment is spreading gradually throughout the United States, and, therefore, the Japanese must seek a fundamental solution.

The newspaper understands also that Japan will insist on maintenance of her rights in the South Sea Islands, for which she received the mandate at the Peace Conference.

Although Great Britain and the United States may oppose racial equality, according to the newspapers, Japan will insist by all pos-

JAP PROBLEM AT DEADLOCK.

But Nippon Policy Will Not be Changed, Says Tokio Paper.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU, Sept. 22.—The Chugai Bocki Shimbun, Tokio newspaper, reports that negotiations between the United States and Japan on the Japanese problem in California are deadlocked, according to Tokio cable advices to the Nippu Jiji, Japanese-language newspaper here. Continuing, the advices report the Nichi Nichi Shimbun as saying that the negotiations are encountering difficulties, but that Japan's policy toward the United States will not be changed at present.

...aibis means upon its acceptance by the League of Nations.

To the provincial governors yesterday Premier Hara said the situation of the world never was more strained than at present. Japan had decided to withdraw her troops from Siberia except from those places where consideration of the empire's defense rendered troops imperative, he said.

Concerning Shantung, the Premier asserted Japan still was ready to negotiate with China, who refused to consider Japan's proposals.

After referring to Japan's increased responsibility and increased expenditures, Premier Hara said these were points deserving every attention of the people.

"In these circumstances it is the height of folly to use diplomatic problems for furthering political struggles," the Premier declared.

MATTER OF GRAVITY.

Kensee Adachi of the Kensee-Kai, or opposition party, today said the anti-Japanese movement was a matter of international gravity. He declared Premier Hara's words of hope of a satisfactory settlement were disappointing. M. Adachi said he believed Japan's defeat in California would be equivalent to her defeat in China and Korea.

CONVENTIONS LATE IN ENDING.

Republicans Get Through at Midnight Session.

Democrats Demand that Waste and Extravagance End.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—The last of five political conventions which opened here yesterday finished its labors this morning after setting back the clock to make legal sessions that the law provides should close at midnight.

The Democratic convention, which was the laggard, was the scene of a bitter fight over group votins of proxies, but differences that threatened for a time to split the convention were finally composed.

Democrats and Republicans went on record in favor of Japanese exclusion legislation. At the Republican convention U. S. Senator Johnson opened his speaking tour in behalf of Senator Harding, Republican nominee.

The Prohibitionists placed in the field a "dry" candidate for United States Senator and the Socialists stressed resolutions asking amnesty for all "political prisoners."

Secretary of State Jordan went to San Francisco early today to get from Atty.-Gen. Webb an opinion as to whether he should consider the action of the Prohibition party convention yesterday in naming James S. Edwards of Redlands as its candidate for United States Senator as legal justification for printing Edwards's name on the November election ballot.

After the Prohibition convention, the party State central committee met and ratified the nomination, which then was presented to Secretary Jordan with the argument that the committee was entitled to declare Edwards the candidate in view of the failure of A. J. Wallace to obtain sufficient signatures to his nomination petition to qualify as the Prohibition candidate at the August primary.

Secretary Jordan took the view that the Wallace incident eliminated the Prohibitionists from the Senatorial race and said he would not consider Edwards a candidate unless ordered to do so by the courts.

EVIDENCE MAKES SURE-POP CASE.

"My Nose Knows," Comments Judge as Egg Falls to Courtroom Floor.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22. — Tony Crisnick, grocer, was in Police Court today after having been arrested by Lee Nelson, food inspector, on a charge of selling "antiquated" eggs. "Is there anyone here a judge of good and bad eggs?" Judge Don C. McCombs asked. No one responded. Nelson stood over the judge's desk toying with one of Grisnick's eggs. "I guess we'd better give Tony the benefit of the doubt, and—" began the judge. He was interrupted by a loud "pop." Nelson had dropped the egg. "You're fined $25," said the judge. "My nose knows."

REPUBLICANS AGAINST JAPANESE AGREEMENT.

The Republican State Convention adjourned at midnight Tuesday night, after adopting a platform that made no direct reference to prohibition and failed to mention by name any of the measures on the November ballot.

The Committee on Resolutions failed to report out a resolution by Senator Inman approving the alien land measure, but this was adopted after spirited debate on the floor of the convention.

The resolution places the convention on record as favoring:

(1.) Cancellation of the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan.

(2.) Exclusion of "picture brides."

(3.) Rigorous exclusion of Japanese immigrants.

(4.) Confirmation and legalization of the policy that Asiatics shall be forever barred from American citizenship.

(5.) Amendment to the Federal Constitution, providing that no child born in the United States of alien parents shall be considered an American citizen, unless both parties are of a race eligible to American citizenship.

(6.) The convention expresses its entire approval of No. 1, upon the ballot being the so-called alien land law."

The party platform declares for rigid enforcement of all laws, and delegates saw in this an indirect allusion to the prohibition issue.

The administration of Gov. Stephens was approved by the platform and Republican nominees for State and national offices indorsed. The national party platform was approved.

Other planks included:

Labor—Constitutional amendment to validate the Federal child labor law invalidated by a decision of the United States Supreme Court.

Americanization—The party is pledged to extension of this work.

Service men and women—The pledge is given that the Republican party will support land settlement legislation.

Mining—Laws to give impetus to gold mining are urged.

High cost of living—Rigid enforcement of laws against profiteering is promised.

Teachers' salaries and public schools—The convention went on record in favor of "adequate salaries" for teachers and extension of the public school system.

Economy and efficiency—Elimination of any overlapping boards or commissions is urged.

Highways—The party is pledged to a constructive road-building program.

Gasoline and fuel—Legislation to secure to the State an adequate supply of gasoline and fuel is urged.

Japanese immigration—The stand on Japanese immigration of Senator Harding, Gov. Stephens, Senator Johnson and Samuel Shortridge, Republican nominee for Senator, was approved in the platform, which said the Republican party will "insist upon the termination of the so-called gentlemen's agreement with Japan."

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

Presidential electors named by the Republican convention follow:

At large—J. H. Rosseter and A. H. Breed.

District No. 1—A. H. Witt.
No. 2—A. J. Mathews.
No. 3—J. F. Brooks.
No. 4—Mrs. E. E. Glasser.
No. 5—Lawrence J. Flaherty.
No. 6—C. C. Young.
No. 7—Wiley M. Giffen.
No. 8—C. C. Teague.
No. 9—George R. Davis.
No. 10—Mrs. D. C. Stephens.
No. 11—Edward Fletcher.

The Democratic State convention adjourned shortly after 1 o'clock this morning after composing the difference of rival factions engendered by voting of a group of proxies in favor of D. S. Ewing for chairman.

Ewing, just before adjournment, was seated as permanent chairman, but a resolution was approved that would forbid entrance to proxies in future conventions.

During debate on the report of the credentials committee Theodore Bell, who had supported W. D. Shearer of Yreka in opposition to Ewing said he "would leave the convention and take thirty delegates" with him if group voting was permitted.

The platform adopted by the Democrats included indorsements of the League of Nations. A plank seeking a Federal constitutional amendment to prevent Japanese children born in this country from acquiring citizenship was inserted.

Outstanding features of the Democratic State platform were:

A demand for a "discontinuance of the waste and extravagance of the present State administration" and for a "reorganization of the business of the State along lines of simplicity, economy and efficiency."

Opposition to proposition No. 4 on the November ballot, the initiative measure to raise the percentage of signatures necessary on initiative petitions relating to finance.

Greetings to President Wilson were dispatched.

Senator Phelan's measure introduced in Congress to exclude the Japanese for admission to this country and his proposed Federal constitutional amendment were specifically indorsed, as well as measure No. 1 on the November ballot.

The convention also favored the proposed constitutional amendment to increase the rate of interest on State highway bonds and urged the early completion of the State highway system.

The McFadden bill in Congress providing for a bonus for the production of new gold was indorsed as a means of reviving the gold-mining industry.

State aid in irrigation and reclamation of waste lands was another recommendation of the platform.

RAIDERS CAUSE GREAT DAMAGE.

consisted of twenty Royal Irish constabulary veterans. They are said to have prevented the "black and tans" from burning the principal factory and also to have saved other property.

One child had a remarkable escape from a stray bullet, which carried an apple from its mouth, without injuring its fingers or lips.

The body of Royal Irish Constabulary Inspector Burke, killed in the early fighting, was removed today from the police station, but the bodies of Gibbons and Larkins still lay in a near-by outhouse today awaiting an inquest.

FACTORY RUINED.

The manager of a British-owned hosiery factory, the inside of which was ruined, was preparing to return to England. He said it would be impossible to rebuild. He suggested that the burning of this factory marked a new phase in alleged attempts to suppress the Sinn Fein. He said although many creameries which had been community property had been destroyed, he believed the burning of the factory the first instance of a deliberate attack on an industrial works. About 400 employees, including many women, have been thrown out of work. Skilled mechanics and other employees say they will be unable to find jobs elsewhere in their particular line in Ireland.

One of the men, father of eight children, told the correspondent that his only chance for work was in England.

The "black and tans" are encamped at Germantown, three miles distant. Their threats to return and complete the destruction are keeping the people at a high pitch.

County Councillor Lynch, a prominent Limerick Sinn Feiner, was shot dead this morning in his hotel apartment in the center of Dublin. His assailants are alleged to have been "Black and Tan" police.

The murder took place at 3 o'clock this morning, according to the Press Association's account, when uniformed men entered the hostelry, the Royal Exchange Hotel, and, going straight to the room of their intended victim, shot him dead.

MACSWINEY UNCHANGED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, today began the forty-first day of his hunger strike at Brixton prison, there being no change from his condition of yesterday, according to the report of the physician of Brixton prison to the Home Office. No reference was made in the report to the prisoner either accepting or refusing nourishment.

The Irish Self-Determination League's mid-day bulletin said:

"The Lord Mayor's condition has suffered a setback. His sister Mary, who has just visited him, says he is very weak, almost as prostrate as he was yesterday."

Other Berlin suburbs reported similar demonstrations, some accompanied by the use of explosives.

TELL OF PARTY FINANCE PLANS.

Hearings Resumed by Senate Committee in Capital.

Barnes Explains Publication of His Book.

Thompson and Gerard also Give Testimony.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — The Senate investigating committee again plunged into the sea of Republican and Democratic campaign financing today, but the record had little affirmative information on party funds at the close of the session to add to what had been previously disclosed.

Two flat denials connected with charges in previous testimony were produced, however. One was entered by William Barnes, Jr., who asserted that the book, "Republicanism in 1920," published by his company, the Albany (N. Y.) Journal, had no connection with the Republican National Committee and was a private commercial venture.

The other was made by George T. Carroll of Elizabeth, N. J., president of the National Retail Liquor Dealers of America, and of the Federated Liquor Industries of New Jersey, who said that such support as these organizations had given the candidacy of Gov. Cox was in no way connected with the Democratic party financing.

CHALLENGES COMMITTEE.

Barnes carried his denial to the extent of challenging the committee's right to demand subscription lists for the book and questioned its authority to call for an accounting as to a private business venture, contending that his explanation showed the work was not a campaign document.

After an argument with Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, who insisted that a form of subscription contract differing from those produced by the witness was already in the record, completion of Barnes's examination went over until tomorrow, when exhibits filed with the committee during its Chicago sessions will be available.

Carroll acknowledged having authorized the sending out from his office of letters urging liquor dealers in the national association to aid the Cox and Roosevelt ticket. The letter before the committee, he said, had been read to him over the telephone for approval, but he said he did not recall the paragraph specifically urging that the Democratic candidates be supported. No official action had been taken by either organization of which he was head to indorse a Presidential ticket, he said, although it had been decided to urge election of a liberal Congress regardless of what party they represent.

GOT LESS THAN $2500.

A total of less than $2500 had been received in response to the circular letters, Carroll said, adding that no campaign literature had yet been put out, although it was in preparation.

Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, asked if any Democratic party official had ever sought to have the liquor men desist from this activity in behalf of the Democratic ticket. Carroll replied in the negative and the Senator then asked if the work had not been accepted by the Democrats.

Senator Pomerene, Democrat, Ohio, challenged this last question as unfair and Senator Reed finally broke into the discussion with the declaration that the single subscription of John D. Rockefeller to the Barnes book was larger than the whole fund raised by the liquor men. He insisted that such a subscription was shown in the committee records.

The first witness today was James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany and now chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic National Committee. He gave the full membership of the committee and submitted his books to show all contributors to a fund, which yesterday totaled $128,821.

He denied knowledge of any sinister influences at work to aid the Republican campaign fund.

TWO MILLIONS ENOUGH.

Gerard expressed the opinion that $2,000,000 should be an ample national campaign fund for any party and added that he would be thankful to get $1,000,000 or even $800,000. Included in the list of contributors he presented were several with sums of $5000 and one, Edward L. Doheny, with $6500.

The sharpest clash came during testimony of Col. William Boyce Thompson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Republican National Committee, whose assertions that charges of a Republican slush fund were all bunk roused Senator Reed. During the interchange Thompson asserted that big business as represented by Wall street financial interests were more behind Gov. Cox than Senator Harding and declared Cox himself was not a stranger to Wall street.

Senator Reed demanded if the witness knew of a crooked dollar Gov. Cox had made, and Thompson answered "no."

The Senator demanded to know if the witness intended to infer that Cox had been in any way entangled with Wall street interests, and Thompson finally said his statements were founded on common report, rumors and talk.

"I have nothing against Mr. Cox whatever," Thompson said. "I would say he is a clean, fine man."

BOTH FINE MEN.

"Thank you for that," replied Senator Reed. "Nobody is throwing any rocks at Mr. Harding here and I want to say he is a very splendid fine American citizen. Both of them are."

Barnes explained that publication of the book, "Republicanism in 1920," developed out of a contract made by the Journal company with a Mr. Young of New York, whose business was soliciting special editions for newspapers and similar enterprises.

The witness said he was not in control of the Journal at the time and declared the project was purely a commercial one, no dollar of the money coming from it going to the Republican National Committee. He produced two forms of contracts furnished him, he said, by Young and denied that there was any agreement to underwrite the book for political purposes by the subscribers. No attempt to conceal campaign contributions was involved in the publication, he declared.

Senator Reed asked if there was not a third contract form under which men had subscribed as high as $2500 for circulation of this book as a campaign document. Barnes said he would not produce the subscription lists unless ordered to do so by the committee, declaring that it was beyond the power of the committee in his opinion to go into details of private business transactions.

An argument followed as to whether exhibits showing such subscriptions had not already been presented and the committee adjourned without acting on the point.

BIG STORM, NOW INLAND, DIMINISHING.

Tropical Hurricane Does Some Damage on Gulf Coast; Many Wires Down.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) Sept. 22.—Morgan City, La., this afternoon reported that the city had suffered little damage from the tropical storm which swept in from the gulf near that point last night.

Other reports received here indicate the path of the storm was between Lutcher and Burnside, La., and for a distance of forty miles west of New Orleans, some damage is reported west of Baton Rouge.

STORM DIMINISHES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The center of the tropical hurricane passed inland west of the Mississippi River during last night and is now over Northern Louisiana, the Weather Bureau announced today. The bureau said the storm would diminish in intensity. Warnings on the gulf coast were ordered down at 9:30 a.m.

MORGAN CITY SAFE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—The tropical hurricane that passed inland near Morgan City last night apparently had spent itself before reaching the coast, and reports indicate only minor damage.

Wire communication, however, was difficult, and railroad schedules had been revised because of weakened bridges and washed-out roadbeds.

Available information did not warrant any great anxiety regarding the Louisiana sugar and rice crops. All outbound craft held at Port Eads steamed out today.

FEARS DISPELLED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CORPUS CHRISTI (Tex.) Sept. 22.—Fear of a repetition of the devastation caused by the storm of last September had entirely abated in this section of the Gulf coast country late today. Business tonight had resumed a normal aspect.

GALVESTON CONFIDENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

GALVESTON, Sept. 22. — Refugees who yesterday fought for places on outgoing cars and trains before the tropical hurricane hit the Texas coast today were trickling back. About 6000 people had left the city. Reassured by the storm's swerve into Louisiana, people generally considered all danger past.

Stores which yesterday took all goods from their ground floors today were moving back. Industry generally had resumed operations, while work on the water front proceeded as usual.

Marches With Ohio Division at G.A.R. Encampment in Indianapolis.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22. — Weary from marching, but delighted with their enthusiastic reception, the 18,000 Civil War veterans who paraded today at the fifty-fourth annual encampment of the G.A.R. rested tonight. On benches in parks and around the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, the veterans talked of their march and of the days when their hikes were longer.

The parade covered a route of less than a mile, but it taxed the strength of many. A temperature of 85 deg. made marching uncomfortable and before the parade was finished many were carried to first-aid stations to recover from mild prostrations.

The marchers were greeted with a war-time enthusiasm. A continuous roar of cheers greeted each contingent.

Daniel M. Hall, commander-in-chief, flanked by the color and standard bearers, reviewed the parade as it passed the Indiana State Capitol.

Leading the procession were members of the Illinois department. Following the Wisconsin and Pennsylvania delegations were two former slaves, Charles Wyatt of New Orleans, wearing the army uniform which he wore in the war, and Harry Johnson of Danville, Ill., wearing his war-time navy uniform.

In the Ohio department was Dr. G. T. Harding, father of Warren G. Harding. The Old Guard of Ohio, marching in full uniform with rifles at right shoulder and with fixed bayonets, brought roars of cheers.

New York veterans marched by in step calling out the familiar "Left, left," as they stepped along. Following came the departments of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maine, California and Nevada, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont and the District of Columbia.

The band playing "Maryland, My Maryland" led the Maryland veterans and the remaining State delegations followed.

Behind the marchers came automobiles carrying veterans unable to march.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Sept. 22.—Italian metal workers who occupied factories in some of the larger cities last month, notably Turin and Florence, are refusing to evacuate the plants in accordance with the settlement agreement reached with the employers after government intervention, according to dispatches to the Giornale d'Italia. In Turin three additional works were occupied today. In fifty other works in Turin the majority of the men decided not to abandon the plants unless they received ample guarantees against reprisals. They also are claiming payment of their wages for the period of their occupation of the works.

BOMB THREATS NUMEROUS

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—While the latest developments today in the investigation of Wall street's explosion pointed to an accident rather than a plot, news dispatches from other cities indicated that a mild epidemic of bomb threats had broken out throughout the country.

Cleveland, Boston, New Bedford, Trenton and New York were among cities which reported anonymous warnings of dire misfortune. Although authorities professed to regard these as the work of some practical joker or crank, nevertheless in every instance extra precautions were taken.

The fact that New York's customhouse still stands unshaken after the warning of an explosion to have occurred yesterday did not cause either Federal or local officials to relax their vigilance.

While various investigating bodies were tracking clews all over New York and New Jersey, four men employed by a house-wrecking concern working in the financial district reported that ten minutes after the Wall street blast they had been talking with the driver of the death wagon which is believed either to have carted a bomb into Wall street or to have been hit by an automobile there while conveying explosives.

The workers said that the driver had rushed up to them and declared his wagon had been blown up while he was telephoning his employer for an address to which he had been ordered to take some building materials. Then he disappeared.

Asst. Dist.-Attv. Talley announced tonight that the federal grand jury investigating the disaster would be particularly interested in a story of these four men, as the jurors had been charged to look into criminal negligence as well as into conspiracy. A hint of the story was given by the workmen, who declared to reporters that certain persons frequently carted explosives in some sort of vehicle without having to obtain a permit.

The grand jury today ordered issued subpoenaes to be served on the owners and superintendents of several companies here, reputed to own the row.

WATKINS READY TO LEAVE FIELD.

Will Support Harding or Cox if They Take Stand.

Congress Stirred by Declaration of Candidate.

Prohibitionist for Cause, Not Party, He Says.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator Harding and Gov. Cox were promised today by Aaron S. Watkins, Prohibition party's candidate, that he would withdraw from the race if either of them pledged his support to the dry program. Mr. Watkins's announcement was made before the International Congress Against Alcoholism. He said later that he would embody his proposal in telegrams to the candidates.

"I ask only two things of the other candidates," Mr. Watkins told the congress. "Whenever any one of them pledges himself to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and enforce the Volstead Act, if elected, and to use all of his power and influence to retain them as a part of the nation's law, I will agree to ask our national committee to release me from the ticket."

FEARS EXPRESSED.

The assertion followed a series of inferential as well as direct statements by speakers that the Prohibition party might be the cause for overturning the dry majority in Congress through defection of suffrage votes from known dry candidates.

P. A. Baker, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, almost precipitated a clash by an address, the trend of which was an appeal for all prohibition workers to support the dry candidates on the major tickets and thereby avoid possibility of anti-prohibitionists being elected locally.

At the conclusion of Mr. Baker's speech Mr. Watkins hurried to the platform and made his declaration. The Prohibition nominee asserted he was "fighting for a cause and not for a party, and when that party stands in the way I will hurry to my national committee and say, 'Let's dissolve this party for all time.'"

CONGRESS IN UPROAR.

Numerous members of the Prohibition party in the audience joined in a chorus of "Noes," declaring they proposed to stick by their party. Others criticised Mr. Baker's attitude. The congress for several minutes was in an uproar.

E. C. Dinwiddie, president, after restoring order, apologized to the delegates, saying it was a burst of enthusiasm which is likely to manifest itself in any way. He explained to the foreign delegates that, while they were not familiar with American politics, the day's proceedings should convince them the dry workers here were not overlooking opportunities.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, expressed the belief that the Prohibition party should not have nominated a national ticket.

HOODLUMS ITCHING FOR BIG RACE RIOT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Bolshevists and other agents of violence are said to be working in and around the scene of Monday's so-called race riot, trying to work up genuine trouble, but they are being closely watched by the police. Investigation of the riot shows that it grew out of an ordinary grudge fight, in which a white man suffered practical decapitation at the hands of a negro. The victim had a record of a number of arrests for assaulting negroes.

Out of that killing grew the general trouble. Hoodlums seized upon the incident as an excuse for beating up all negroes they met. The feeling is such that it does not require much to start a general fight. The authorities appear to have the situation well in hand. Six hundred extra policemen have been distributed in and around the danger area, with instructions to come down hard upon any disturbance. They have especial instructions to curb the gangs of white hoodlums who planned to attack negroes as they went to and from work.

Sporadic fighting continued during the night and there were a few scattered fights today. Especial precautions were taken to prevent incendiaries and bomb throwers from invading the black belt. It is known that a majority of the negroes are armed. The police are keeping them inside their own territory, however, and also keeping outside disturbers away from the sharply defined lines.

WHITE HOUSE A NEST OF RACING TIPSTERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A special dispatch from Washington to the Evening Sun says:

"Recent successes at the Saratoga race track of horses owned by Admiral Cary T. Grayson, physician to the President, and of horses owned by men associated with Grayson in his racing activities have brought the racing fever to the White House and have converted this staid and conservative institution into a veritable nest of tips, tipsters and betting enthusiasts.

"Although Admiral Grayson does not appear on the cards as the owner of any of the thoroughbreds that have won the purses at Saratoga and which intend to repeat with a vengeance when the fall meeting starts at the Laurel (Md.) track, it is well known here that a number of the horses raced by Samuel Ross, a Washington hardware dealer, are either owned entirely by Grayson or Grayson has a part interest in them.

"In addition Grayson knows first hand about the performances of the horses owned by William P. Borch, trainer for the Samuel Ross horses and Preston Burch, son of William P. and also a trainer."

STEINMETZ HAS NEW INVENTION.

Motor for Which Wonders Are Claimed Announced.

Promises to Reduce Delivery Costs Heavily.

Plant for Manufacture Opens on October 1.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Dr. Charles Proteus Steinmetz, electrical wizard and $100,000-a-year chief consulting engineer of the General Electric Company of Schenectady, has invented a new motor, which, he says, will bring your daily wants to your door in half the time consumed by the present delivery truck and at considerably lower cost.

On his way back to Schenectady from Baltimore, where he had supervised the final arrangements for the opening of a plant which will turn out his motor, Dr. Steinmetz last night stopped over in Philadelphia. In an interview he explained the features of his invention.

"I have been working on this motor for several years," said Dr. Steinmetz. "Only recently I completed the invention. A corporation to place it on the market has been organized. It will appeal first to commercial trucks or delivery trucks. Later we may try it in passenger cars.

ADVANTAGES NUMEROUS.

"Briefly, the advantages of the new motor are: Saving of power, saving of weight and saving of cost. There are two outstanding novel features in the mechanism.

"The first is that the motor is constructed in such a way that both the field and the armature revolve and in opposite directions. The field propels one of the rear wheels of the truck, while the armature propels the other.

"This eliminates the differential, a heavy and costly piece of machinery, which, in the present truck, is used to slow up one of the rear wheels when the vehicle has to take a curve.

MOTOR CONTROL.

"The second feature is a new method of control of the motor, which will enable the machine to go up grade without slowing down. Here is a considerable saving of speed. On the other hand, when going down grade no brakes will have to be applied. The motor slows down itself and, at the same time, puts back the power saved to the storage battery. A regeneration of 25 per cent of the power used is effected in that manner."

The new truck, Dr. Steinmetz asserted, will weigh just half as much as the commercial vehicles now in general use. Half-ton trucks and one-ton trucks will be manufactured. The plant will open on October 1. The Steinmetz Electric Motor Car Corporation is the name of the organization which will place the trucks on the market.

Dr. Steinmetz, who is chairman of the board of directors, explained that there is no connection between the new corporation and the General Electric Company.

PLASTERERS AND HOD CARRIERS ARE IDLE.

BAY CITY UNION MEN REFUSE TO WORK WHEN WAGES ARE REDUCED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—More than 50 per cent of the union hod carriers and plasterers of San Francisco are idle as a result of the action of the Master Plasterers' Association serving notice that the pay of plasterers would be reduced from $12 per day to $10 per day. The plasterers' union last night unanimously decided to insist upon the wage of $12. No strike or lockout has been declared, the plasterers and hod carriers simply refusing to work for contractors who would not agree to pay the price.

That the plasterers, while receiving $12 per day, have been turning back $1 per day to contractors for the "kitty" became known. This fund, it is said, was to be used for the protection of both master and journeymen plasterers. The action of the Master Plasterers' Association in refusing to longer pay plasterers $12 was taken, it is said, upon orders received from the Central Council of the Builders' Exchanges with which the Master Plasterers are affiliated.

The Central Council of the Builders' Exchange has taken the position that it will not grant any more wage increases to building mechanics; that a halt must be called somewhere and now is as good a time as any. Several building trades crafts have had their applications for wage increases before the Central Council of the Builders' Exchange for some time, but it is understood that all such demands will be rejected.

SAYS BERGDOLL BRIBED GUARDS.

Mother of Draft Evaders and Others Face Jury.

Witness Tells of Plans to Escape Island.

Fugitive Reported Seen in San Francisco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Grover C. Bergdoll, while confined to the military prison on Governor's Island, bribed his guards and plotted to escape in a motorboat, according to testimony given by Thomas E. Fury, a Baltimore automobile salesman today, in the trial of Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, Grover's mother, and four other defendants charged with conspiring to assist Erwin and Grover Bergdoll to evade the draft. Fury declared that Grover had summoned him to Governor's Island and told him that he had fixed two guards, and asked him to get a motor boat and assist him to escape.

The witness described how he had come here with Erwin Bergdoll and how the latter had hid in a stone quarry near the home of Charles Braun, related to the draft evaders and a defendant in the present proceedings, while a new automobile was bought for him.

Lieut.-Col. Gresson testified that Mrs. Pergdoll had demanded Grover's effects after the latter escaped from his guards in this city, and had told him she had sent money and other articles to her son regularly.

SEEN IN BAY CITY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—San Francisco police today began searching for Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy Philadelphian, wanted for evading the draft. The search was begun when Department of Justice officials advised the police that several persons had reported seeing Bergdoll here.

Chief Blanford of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice here, said several American Legion members recently reported to him that they had seen a man here answering Bergdoll's description. One of the American Legion men identified Bergdoll's picture from a group of photographs. Blanford told Chief of Police D. A. White of his findings and asked that all police officers be instructed to watch for the fugitive.

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll may be in or about Los Angeles, according to information received yesterday by the local police from Police Chief White of San Francisco. Bergdoll, according to Chief White, was in San Francisco and is thought to have left that city for Southern California. Local police stated that the slacker would not stop if in this city, but would head for the Mexican border. Federal authorities along the Mexican line were notified that Bergdoll may attempt to slip through.

FRENCH PREMIER MADE CANDIDATE

Millerand Now Has Clear Field for Election.

Other Aspirants for Presidency Quit the Race.

Senators and Deputies Numerous in Caucus.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Premier Alexandre Millerand was chosen as a candidate for the Presidency to succeed former President Deschanel, who resigned as chief executive of the republic because of ill health, by the joint caucus of the members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies in the Senate chamber this afternoon.

The attendance early was larger than at the meeting held in January, before the election of President Deschanel. The voting began at 2:30 o'clock.

Two of the candidates who were prominently mentioned declared themselves out of the running today. These men were Leon Bourgeois and Raoul Peret, the presidents, respectively, of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

Before former Premier Clemenceau left Paris last night on his hunting trip to India, he said, according to the Petit Parisien, that he regarded Premier Millerand as the man best qualified for representing France in the eyes of foreign peoples.

Premier Millerand received 523 votes; Raoul Peret, president of the Chamber of Deputies, 157, and Leon Bourgeois, president of the Senate, 113.

Voting was unofficial. Premier Millerand was the only official candidate, but the names of M. Bourgeois and M. Peret appeared on the ballots.

WHISKY THIEVES USE TRUCK TO HAUL LOOT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Yesterday was a field day for whisky thieves, a gang of six of them stealing booze valued at $30,000 after binding and gagging a warehouse watchman. The thieves forced the rear door of the place and knocked the watchman senseless. They then bound and gagged him and tossed him into a rear room, after which they rolled out the barrels of whisky and carted them away in a motor truck.

The liquor was the property of the Jefferson Distilling Company of New Orleans. Federal officials are investigating. The watchman was able to loosen his bonds after the robbers departed.

Detectives today came upon a complete moonshine still said to be the most perfect yet uncovered. They also seized a large stock of raisins, peaches and corn and seven barrels of whisky that is pronounced by experts to be of fine quality. It is said this distillery has been doing an immense business. Officers were placed in charge but no one has yet appeared to claim the seven barrels.

NEW HOLD-UP STUNT.

Highway Men Lasso Victim Around the Neck, Then Search Him.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE, Sept. 22.—Something new in the hold-up line was reported to local detectives yesterday when W. J. Johnson told that while he was going home early yesterday and passing a tree, he felt something drop about his neck. It proved to be a noose, which was drawn taut until Johnson nearly choked. Then two men descended from the tree and proceeded to further bind the victim, afterwards going through his pockets and relieving him of money and jewelry.

Then, giving the rope several windings about the man's body, the thugs scurried away. Johnson was engaged for several hours in disentangling himself, making his way to the police station and reporting the hold-up. His neck was severely bruised. Search failed to give a clew to the noose throwers.

CONFEDERATE VETS TO BRING OWN BLANKETS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) Sept. 22.—Confederate veterans who attend the annual reunion of the S.U.C. in Houston, October 6 to 8, must bring their own blankets if they expect to be quartered by the city, it was announced by Gen. N. B. Forest.

The War Department has refused to lend cots and blankets for a camp. That a resolution has been passed by Congress authorizing the cots, but failed to mention other equipment, Gen. Forest explained.

PHYSICIAN SAYS EMPLOYER SHOULD CONSULT SAME ADVISER AS HIS MEN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—No employer who is conscientious would employ a medical adviser to take care of his employees whom he would not employ to take care of his family, Dr. Paul B. Magnuson, medical director of the Illinois Industrial Commission, said in a paper presented to the seventh annual meeting of the International Association of Industrial Accident Boards and Commissions today.

"It has been my experience up to this time that most employers do not go to the company doctor when they are ill, which would seem to indicate their opinion is that any doctor will do for the workmen, but they themselves must have the best possible attention," the paper said.

"It is because industrial surgery has been dragged in the mud for so many years, and the doctor made a part of the claims department, that men of large reputation will not, as a rule, take upon themselves the guidance of the medical work of a corporation," the paper said.

Others who presented papers were George A. Kingston, Ontario, Workmen's Compensation Board; Dr. M. R. Gibbons, medical director, California Industrial Accident Commission; Dr. Donald MacLean, chief medical adviser, Nevada Industrial Commission; Fred W. Llewellyn, Washington State Industrial Insurance Department; John P. Gardiner, commissioner Minnesota Department of Labor and Industries.

A tour of the city's hospitals was made by the delegates today.

LEGISLATORS' ACT IS FUTILE.

Vote Taken in Tennessee Does Not Invalidate First Record on Suffrage; Precedent is Cited by Former President to Support View.

BY WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

[Copyright.]

The thirty-six members of the Tennessee House of Representatives who fled the State to avoid their sworn duty as legislators returned some days after the vote of both houses had been certified to the Secretary of State by the Governor and the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment had been proclaimed.

They made a quorum in the House by their presence, and finding that they and their associate opponents there had forty-seven votes and a majority, in the absence of four suffrage supporters, they tried to undo what had been done.

They expunged from the record the vote by which the motion to reconsider the suffrage vote had been carried. They did this on the ground that there had been no quorum present when the vote was taken and so there was no power to pass the vote. They then proceeded to reconsider the original vote on the adoption of the suffrage resolution and on the resolution down. They voted in the Senate of this action. The generally accepted view has been that such a proceeding is futile, does not vitiate the original vote and does not affect the adoption of the amendment as proclaimed.

PRECEDENT IS CITED.

The precedent relied on is that furnished by the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment. One New York Legislature approved the amendment. Its successor voted it down. Thereafter the amendment was proclaimed as adopted by reason of the first vote, the accepted holding being that when a State Legislature has once approved an amendment, it cannot withdraw from its ratification.

It is questionable, however, whether such a precedent applies to a vote in favor of a resolution, when under the rules of the legislative body, the resolution is retained by a motion to reconsider as it was here. Certainly had the motion to reconsider been called up the next day with a quorum present the vote might have been reconsidered and voted down, and the passage of the resolution have been defeated.

QUESTION IS RAISED.

Do the facts that, in violation of the House rules, the passage of the resolution by the House had been certified to the Senate, its passage to the Federal Secretary of State, and that the latter on the strength of this certificate had proclaimed the adoption of the amendment, take away from the Tennessee House with a quorum power to reconsider the original vote on the resolution and defeat it?

As originally intimated in these columns, a court will be industrious to find presumptions from the record which will nullify the subsequent action of the lower Tennessee House and sustain the conclusiveness of the certificates. But the question is not so entirely free from doubt that the utmost pains should by both houses had been certified to the Governor and by him certified not be taken to remove it, even though the later action in Connecticut makes the question merely academic. It would be a great disaster if a question were seriously raised as to the validity of the national election of a President by reason of a subsequent judicial decision that the suffrage amendment had not passed.

MAY CONFIRM ACTION.

Before Tennessee's action, Gov. Holcomb of Connecticut would not call the Legislature of Connecticut to vote on the ratification of the suffrage amendment because he did not think there existed such an emergency as the State constitution required to enable him to summon an extra session. The possibility of a disputed national election, however, has been entirely removed by Connecticut's prompt ratification. We may hope that Gov. Clement of Vermont may now be induced to take a similar view of his duty after what has happened. Now that Connecticut has wisely ratified, the Secretary of State, without conceding irregularity or defeat in his first proclamation, could properly, because of the protest already made, issue a second proclamation reciting the additional ratifications and confirming his previous action.

eral of the local reception committees of Prescott and Phoenix, Judge E. E. Bollinger, Kingman, Ariz., of the Mojave county court, suffered a bruised leg. Personal effects of all members of the train were scattered and broken.

Charles Nicholas, the engineer, was taken to Phoenix in a passing automobile, and first aid was given to several others. Philip Ation, Prescott, brakeman, who was alone in the baggage car when it turned over, suffered scalp lacerations. The fireman on the second engine was unable to jump and crawled from the wreckage without a scratch.

ESCAPE DUE TO DELAY.

That Gov. Cox escaped injury was due, it was said, to delay in a conference with the Prescott reception committee. J. J. Sinnott, representing the Democratic National Committee on the campaign trip, and Chairman Norris of the Prescott committee were en route to the private car to get the Governor to go forward to the first coach, where the reception committee was riding, when the crash came. Most of those bruised or injured were in the forward coach.

The track was torn up for a distance of from 300 to 400 feet with bent rails, broken ties and glass strewn about, even in an adjacent cotton field. Railroad officials were unanimous in declaring that a spreading rail under the two heavy locomotives and unusually heavy steel equipment caused the wreck. The line is not a main artery, but a branch of the Santa Fe system, and the rails, it was said, were not of the heaviest type.

RUMOR NOT CREDITED.

A rumor was current among the farm people and others who gathered soon after the wreck that a man had been seen running along the road beside the track just before the train left the track, but the rumor lacked confirmation and was not credited by Gov. Cox, members of his party or railroad operatives.

Among prominent local Democrats who were on the Governor's train to attend the Prescott meeting were U. S. Senator Henry L. Ashurst and W. L. Barnum, State national committeeman.

Arrangements were made to have the governor and his party taken from here to Albuquerque, N. M., where he was to speak tomorrow night, by a different route, leaving here at 9:30 p.m. and traveling on the Arizona Eastern line to Deming, N. M. The change caused cancellation of engagements tomorrow in several Arizona and New Mexico towns. The Governor was due at Albuquerque late tomorrow afternoon.

STRENUOUS VISIT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 22.—Apparently Candidate Cox had a very joyous though strenuous visit to Central Arizona and he still was going strong when his special train rushed him northward.

At Mesa, seventeen miles from Phoenix, he spoke from a novel and very valuable platform of Pima Egyptian cotton bales. He had a cordial reception at Tempe at the State Normal School, had a few words for the thousand students of the Phoenix High School, gave expression of sympathy to a number of invalided soldiers at St. Luke's Consumptive Home near this city and then struck his real task in addressing an audience of possibly 6000 at the Fair Grounds. He was heard clearly, a speaking platform having been built within the immense grand stand.

The local reception was of the old-fashioned sort save that possibly a thousand automobiles brought the greater part of the throng.

Hills of bread and tubs of coffee had been consumed before the guest arrived. The policing arrangements were admirable, the High School Cadet Corps assisting in the handling of a very orderly crowd that had come as to a picnic.

CRITICISES TAFT.

Commenting on Taft's recent article, which said that Gov. Cox's "indisposition to maintain order by use of the militia is well known to local union leaders and explains his popularity with them," Gov. Cox made the following statement:

"It has been apparent for some time that Judge Taft's newspaper articles, which were intended to be the reflections of a mature statesman, have been turned into a cheap political propaganda. He ought to be ashamed of himself for the statement that law and order have not been maintained in Ohio. I would like to have him tell me the instances in which he would have used troops where I did not.

"I challenge him to cite the opinion of a single member of the Supreme Court of Ohio, no matter what his politics might be, in support of his absurd accusation. I have no objection to Judge Taft's becoming a water carrier around the old guard political camp. A great many people, however, in our State, who have respected him throughout the years, cannot but look with regret upon the ease with which reactionary politicians still make use of him."

Application of the League of Nations argument to western problems was stressed by Gov. Cox in addresses this morning at Mesa and Tempe. Readjustment of European conditions as a result of the League, the Governor said, would assist in opening up the European market to cotton and live stock which the West produces.

Gov. Cox promised that when elected he would send a corps of engineers into the West to locate new reclamation projects. He declared he favored the Smith-Fletcher bill for completing reclamation enterprises.

The Governor urged that Senators Marcus A. Smith and Henry F. Ashurst, Democrats of Arizona, be returned to the Senate. Speaking of Senator Smith, Democratic candidate for re-election in the general election in November, Gov. Cox said the Senator could be counted upon to vote in favor of the League of Nations. Senator Ashurst's seat is not involved in the election, his term not being expired.

Gov. Cox said the League would be a "remedy" to bring about the readjustment of prices as a result of the readjustment of world conditions.

There were two definite conspiracies in the Senate, the candidate declared. One was to prevent approval of the League of Nations covenant and the other to prevent reduction of war taxation. Both were for the purpose of creating unrest and feeling against the administration, he asserted.

ON NEWBERRY CASE.

Reply was made here by Gov. Cox to the statement of the Republican National Committee regarding his comment on the Newberry election case and the lemon tariff in his California speeches.

The Republican statement denied a declaration of the Governor's that Senator Newberry was appointed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and also questioned his having advocated a lemon tariff while in Congress. The Governor's statement today follows:

"The point in the Newberry matter was this: Except for his membership, the Senatorial oligarchy could not have organized the Senate, which means that Senator Lodge would not have been chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, nor could he have strangled the League of Nations. I am convinced the country feels that except for the one vote which Newberry supplied, we would now be a member of the League.

"As to lemons, I called attention to the fact that while in Congress I had advocated by recorded speech and otherwise such tariff schedules as would provide the difference in cost at home and abroad. I did not mention lemons in the speech and made no such claims in California.

"I have hesitated to make response to these matters, but the Republican committee seems to be in a panic on the real issue and is doing everything it can to introduce other questions."

PAVES WAY FOR LEGION.

JAPS DEMAND RACE EQUALITY.

Japanese and American governments over the California question would reach a settlement, "in view of the historical friendly relations between the two countries," was expressed by Premier Hara in addressing provincial governors here today. He declared he could not make any definite statement as to the progress of the work.

Fifteen hundred new cases of cholera have been discovered in Korea, according to an official statement issued at Seoul. This makes the total number of victims of the disease more than 20,000, of whom more than 9000 have died.

Two Japanese have been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment on conviction of an attempt to sell documents stolen from the Yokosuka naval station to Americans, according to newspapers here.

The theft of important documents dealing with naval plans from the trunk of a lieutenant in the naval school of gunnery at Yokosuka was reported in a Tokio dispatch July 19. A message from Tokio July 22 said that a naval lieutenant had committed hara-kiri.

TO ELECTRIFY ROADS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Japanese railway authorities have decided to substitute electricity for steam on all lines within the empire, according to reports reaching the Department of Commerce today. The change, which, it is estimated, will cost 200,000,000 yen, is expected to reduce the number of locomotives in service by 40 per cent.

Japanese exports during July exceeded imports by $2,000,000, a consular report received here today said. The island empire during July sent abroad goods valued at $147,000,000, despite the industrial situation experienced during the summer.

TWO NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH IN MOUNTAINS.

LEAP FROM TRAIN, ON BRINK OF 4500-FOOT CLIFF, WHEN ENGINEER LOSES CONTROL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 22.—Jumping from an overloaded, narrow-gauge train at the peak of Utah Canyon, an elevation of approximately 9000 feet, when the engineer lost control, Mrs. Jeannette Hyde, Republican national committee woman from Utah and Apostle Rudger Clawson of the Church of Latter Day Saints narrowly escaped a plunge over a 4500-foot cliff and death Monday.

I DON'T KNOW HOW TO ADVERTISE

I am just a tailor. I know tailoring from a to izzard. When I make a suit I design it and cut it and fit it and look after every stitch in it myself. I don't believe in building up a suit with haircloth and canvas, so that you feel you are walking around dressed in an armor-clad dreadnaught, and I don't believe in pressing and squeezing a suit into shape with a hot iron just before you come in for the try-on, so that it afterwards hangs on you like a bag. I believe that, when I say "tailoring," I should mean t-a-i-l-o-r-i-n-g.

I can't talk and chew my words at the same time. That's the reason I won't have one of these high-priced fancy worded advertising experts around my place. I don't believe in them. Half the time they don't tell the truth, and the other half I can't make out what they are talking about when they talk about my own business.

Not so long ago I had my store on Broadway, but I lost my lease over there. I didn't charge my customers enough to pay the kind of rents I had to pay. I have always had the reputation of being the highest-priced designer on the Coast. Boston is my old home town. If you are from there you know me.

I've opened this little store over here on Spring Street. It's so little, you have to look hard to find it,—but if you can beat the values and the tailoring I am going to give here in this store, anywhere in the State of California, I wish you'd lead me to it. I don't believe a man living can do it.

NOW, I NEED BUSINESS; and I need it P. D. Q.—And rather than spending a lot of money in advertising, or on these selfsame so-called advertising "experts" I've heard tell about,

As an introduction I am going to tailor just 150 Suits—the best Suits I know how to build—my regular $50 Suits at . .

MRS. WEIDINGER OUT WITH FACTS

Says Tanlac Has Done Her World of Good.

Eats Anything She Wants and Sleeps Fine Now.

Never Expects to Be Without Master Medicine Again.

"My friends say that I look as well and almost as young as I did when I moved to Berkeley, thirty-two years ago," said Mrs. Elizabeth Weidinger, residing at 1043½ University avenue, Berkeley, Cal.

"My health had not been good for several years," continued Mrs. Weidinger. "My kidneys were disordered, and I had awful pains across my back, and when I tried to stoop over to pick anything off the floor, the pain would almost kill me. And when I got out of bed in the mornings it would take the longest time for me to straighten myself up. I was so nervous I never enjoyed a good night's rest, and my appetite left me almost entirely, and the little I managed to force down disagreed with me.

"A few years ago I had a very bad fall and struck my elbow and ever since then I have been troubled with rheumatism in my right arm and shoulder and at times the pain was so great that I could hardly raise my hand to my head.

"I heard so many good things about Tanlac that I decided to try it, and I just cannot tell you how thankful I am for the good this medicine did me. My appetite picked up shortly after I began taking Tanlac, and now I enjoy my meals like other people, and everything I eat agrees with me. My sleep is sound and restful, and I feel splendidly all through the day. My strength has been increased so much that I am now able to do all my own housework, including the cooking. My kidneys seem to be in perfect condition and the pains in my back have entirely disappeared. I have gained twelve pounds, and everybody says I am looking healthier than they ever saw me.

"Whenever I hear anybody complaining in the least now, I tell them to take Tanlac. I never expect to be without a bottle of this medicine in my house."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Co.—[Advertisement.

HUGHES URGES NEW LEADERSHIP

Declares Democrats Have Forfeited Confidence.

Too Serious a Time to Capitalize Bitterness.

Makes Speech in Notifying Judge Miller.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Sept. 22.—The Democratic national administration at the peak of its responsibility and opportunity forfeited the confidence of the country and by inexcusable blunders seriously impaired the nation's prestige and influence, Charles E. Hughes declared tonight in notifying Judge Nathan L. Miller he had received the Republican nomination for Governor of New York.

"Instead of seeking a swift peace, the administration pursued a policy of delusion, bringing together good and bad in an unwholesome union which the administration was determined 'should be indissoluble,' said Hughes.

"There now is but one plain course to rectify the mischief and that is to put in a Republican administration which will be able readily to arrange for a salutory international cooperation and the full discharge of American duty to mankind."

NEW LEADERSHIP NEEDED.

Declaring that "We must have a new leadership which is cognizant of the right way to promote peace" and that "we need an enlightened foreign policy," Hughes asserted that "in our domestic concerns what we imperatively need is sound judgement and fairness and integrity of purpose in upholding the government of law and reason, a broad sympathy and solicitude for improvement in laws and administration.

"It is too serious a time to admit of attempts to win political favor by capitalizing passion, bitterness of feeling and misjudgment," he said. "Consider this statement: 'I charge it now. I will charge it until the ides of November are here, that they are raising the campaign fund for the purpose of purchasing the Presidency if they can.'

SPEEDY REBUKE.

"It is one thing to comment on campaign funds, but even here exaggerated and unfounded assertion only avail to bring speedy rebuke in the opinion of all intelligent persons, but to baske the charge I have just quoted goes beyond every possible license of the stump.

"Again consider the statement: 'I know many men are making contributions for the purpose of using the bayonet to settle industrial controversies.' Such statements do not invite rejoinder, but it is evident the unhappy disposition to make them should not have the opportunity of the Presidency of the United States."

Republican reservations to the League of Nations covenant formed the country's second Declaration of Independence, declared U. S. Senator Wadsworth, another speaker.

DECREASED PRICES OF GROCERIES FORECASTED

STATE RETAIL MERCHANTS BLAME PRODUCERS FOR PRESENT HIGH PRICES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DEL MONTE, Sept. 22.—The twenty-first annual convention of the California Retail Grocers and Merchants Association closed here today with the election of officers. Adoption of resolutions deploring the high price of food and advocating government investigation and punishment for those responsible featured the final day.

The new officers are:

President, Russell Warden, San Rafael; first vice-president, J. H. Herbert Smith, Los Angeles; second vice-president, J. M. Conklin, San Jose; third vice-president, C. E. Clinch, Grass Valley; treasurer, Felix J. Searmonet, Sacramento; secretary, Frank B. Connolly, San Francisco; directors, D. W. Herlipy, Pasadena, G. F. Schafer, Modesto; C. B. Pearson, Stockton, F. B. Connolly, San Francisco, George T. Kuble, Berkeley.

Responsibility for high prices of food was laid to the producers by the grocers.

Decreased prices in many lines of groceries were forecast by several speakers in urging the dealers to be careful about buying in large quantities. Such staples as sugar and coffee were mentioned as being on the decline.

Resolutions passed advocated a law requiring aliens to declare their intention of becoming citizens before being allowed to engage in business, and went on record against the right of Asiatics to acquire and hold title to agricultural land in California.

The delegates indorsed the closing of stores on Sunday, and passed other resolutions protesting against manufacturers setting retail prices; against formation of "buying clubs" by employees of commercial concerns, which have an unfair advantage over the retailer, and against use of government buildings by Federal employees in operating "cooperative" stores.

FRANCE TO PAY OFF $250,000,000 LOAN.

MINISTER OF FINANCE MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT BEFORE CABINET COUNCIL.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—France will pay every dollar of the $250,000,000 loan due in New York October 15, M. Francois-Marshal, Minister of Finance, officially announced to the cabinet council today.

M. Francois-Marshal informed the Ministers that the French Treasury already had shipped to the United States $150,000,000 in gold and securities. He added that the success of the $180,000,000 loan contracted through J. P. Morgan & Co., would permit the picking up of all notes due October 15.

BRITISH SUBJECT IS GIVEN HIS FREEDOM.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 22.—Bertie O. Johnson, a British subject, who has been the prisoner of bandits in the State of Jalisco since August 10, has been freed, according to an official announcement. Johnson was kidnaped during a bandit raid on the town of Autlan by Pedro Zamora, but escaped a few weeks later. His liberty was brief, however, because he was recaptured by a lieutenant of Zamora, known as "La Urracio." This bandit has just been surrendered and Johnson was found in his camp and given his freedom.

Zamora, following a pursuit by government forces and several defeats, is hiding in the mountains of the State of Jalisco, accompanied only by a woman he kidnaped during the Autlan raid.

Plans by which the government would take over the Mexican Light and Power Company and the Mexico City Street Railways, will soon be laid before either the President or Congress, it was announced by the Treasury Department last night Both are foreign concerns.

The scheme under consideration contemplates the issue of bonds by the government to pay the stockholders, the bonds being retired later by the profits of the company.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

You Cannot Gripe, Sicken, or Salivate Yourself If You Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow, besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's a harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.—[Advertisement.

POLITICS.

THE WATCHMAN.

TREND OF POLITICAL THOUGHT AND ACTION.

By the Sentry on His Beat.

My sympathies are profoundly with Gov. Cox, our late Democratic guest. If the various local Democratic campaign committees through whose tender mercies he must pass during the next few weeks, proceed to manhandle him with the same eager spirit that marked his passage in these parts, my guess is that he'll never reach the homestretch of the Presidential marathon. Even aspiring Bourbon White House-seekers have their physical limitations, though that fact seems not to have impressed the local Cox campaign mentors, who planned their candidate's Los Angeles speaking program. But overdoing these Presidential scrambles has its penalties—something which I suspect the Republican managers had in mind when they made the Harding front porch his campaign forum—and Gov. Cox was not excepted. Aside from the sore spots he opened by omitting the scheduled Morosco Theater and Tractor Show speeches it is fair to assume that his throat and leg muscles carried some acutely aching memories out of Los Angeles. Some bumps, however, are blessings in disguise. Maybe, after his local experience, he may develop more respect for the front porch pilgrimage idea, which to his local audience he pretended to despise.

Chairman Al Bartlett of the Republican County Central Committee has taken in hand the public meeting to be held here Saturday night next, at which Senator Johnson will be the chief speaker. This meeting will be held at Trinity Auditorium at 8 p.m. Supporters of Senator Johnson in the May primary campaign, I am told, are arranging a reception and dinner for him to precede the public meeting.

There is some talk that either Al Bartlett or John Mott may succeed Joe Crail as vice-chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, in charge of the southern division. A desire to co-ordinate the working of the County Central Committee and the State Committee may weigh in Bartlett's favor, though I believe the membership of the latter organization would be satisfied with either in command. Both of them are sensible of the need for concentrating on the work of electing Harding and Coolidge.

Gov. Stephens goes Elmer Dover one better in predicting the size of the Harding and Coolidge majority in California in November. Dover gave it to me recently as 150,000. Now the Governor boosts it to 200,000. At any rate, it is a safe wager that the State's electoral votes are right now padlocked by the Republican candidates.

Senator Phelan is due in Los Angeles tomorrow evening to launch his Southern California speaking campaign, according to his local headquarters, where yesterday the several ladies in command were making things shipshape for their Senatorial hero. The Senator is booked for his opening talk in Orange tomorrow night, and thence will work his way down to San Diego, after facing audiences at Downey, Norwalk, San Juan Capistrano and Oceanside. From San Diego he will swing around through the Imperial Valley, and then make the circuit back via San Bernardino, Upland, Pomona and Ontario.

Amelia Bingham, stage celebrity, is whooping it up for Harding and Coolidge, and, incidentally, is saying some kind words for the League of Nations. Now comes forward the immortal Lillian Russell, with sweet campaign phrases for Cox and Roosevelt, but favoring, I am told, a short shrift for foreign alliances, League or otherwise. Surely, this campaign has developed its paradoxes.

Fred Frank rushes forward with a denial of any intention of supporting Senator Phelan. He admits of the rough impeachment that he headed a primary campaign committee working for William Kent, but he now says he's strong for Shortridge, plus, of course, Harding and Coolidge.

As a Cox follow-up, the local Democratic Campaign Committee plans to deliver William Gibbs McAdoo and Secretary of State Colby to the speech-making sacrifice in Southern California. Their bookings have not been definitely decided, but I am told they will be planted here about the middle of October. Mr. McAdoo wants to set his motion-picture friends right on the historic slip-up at the San Francisco convention, while Secretary Colby may want to give us the low down on "self-determination for small nations," especially as to the case of Haiti and Santo Domingo.

Gov. Cox shows a hat full of political wisdom in having as a member of his official party on the Cox campaign special a League of Nations expert, so to say. Dr. Robert Goldsmith fills that hard-working role, his job being to wise up the Governor as the situation demands. The doctor, I am told, hung around the anteroom while the Peace Conference was on at Versailles, and there, peering through the cracks, got all the inside dope. He helped the Governor out at the women's meeting at Clune's Auditorium here on Tuesday.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-Datest:

The new deep blue tones in cloaking, suiting and dresses for winter. Often these are enriched by the addition of fur collars, or by sketchy embroideries in silk, chenille or metallic threads.

Soft, luxurious and comfy are the new wrappy wraps.

Ingrowing, rather than outwardly applied pockets, for wraps and suits.

The jewel strap for evening slippers—both ornamental and comfortable are those new shoes.

The low, luxuriously upholstered davenport and easy chair for placing before the fireplace to make the home cosy for winter.

Now is the Time to Buy:

Home sewing et ceteras while they are to be had at reduced prices. "Many a mickle saves a muckle" applies especially to savings in these small items, which, as a whole, become large. Blankets, both wool and near-wool, cotton and 'af n'af. There are prices this week which invite preparation for wintry nights. To make up your list of clothes for the season. The wise one is she who plans ahead for her wardrobe and, awaiting the opportune advertisement, starts forth to buy, secure in the satisfying thought that she is obtaining her season's needs at less than she had expected to pay.

New Raffia Work.

Unless you have glimpsed the latest developments in raffia work you have missed a really important item of Christmas preparedness.

Yesterday, it seemed, all of a sudden, that the town had blossomed raffia. First, there were the lovely raffia crocheted boxes for the dressing table. Done in the very plainest of stitches, those oblong boxes were a charm. They rested upon equally interesting raffia mats, also crocheted in a simple stitch and embroidered in the same material. The crafty beauty of both these articles was fascinating and set one to planning, forth-with, for Christmas makes.

And Also Raffia.

Elsewhere there were lovely baskets and dainty fans, ornamented with raffia flowers. These were crocheted and presented wild roses, forget-me-nots and other posies, in pastel tints. They were, evidently, given a coat of shellac, which stiffened them—or possibly the maker has a process unique for adding that effect. Posed upon the lids of baskets and centering fans, these raffia flowers and fruits were charming.

Quaint Window Setting.

Carrying the thought back to other days, that quaintly clad figure seated in a Windsor chair, upon a braided rug, attracts the eye in a window of that big store on lower Broadway. The return of stiff brocaded silks and satins is emphasized by that picture which recalls, vividly the days when grandmother wore the wide-skirted gown which we so love to fondle when it is brought forth from the old trunk in the attic. In the window picture the brocade, the rug and the adjacent draperies, which are of other silks and satins in the new-old brocade, all carry out a color plan delightful to the eye, old rose of that soft and pleasing tint predominating in the scheme.

Vac-ing the Lawn.

So different—so Japanese—so useful! You could not but pronounce it thus. "Lawn-vac!" You have, perhaps, wished for a lawn comb, some implement which would clear the lawn of finer leaves and bits of grass that the ordinary rake leaves undisturbed. Well—it took the Japanese to devise this implement. A bamboo rod, raised in the way it should grow to produce the right effect, forms that implement. Split and split again and many times again, it is thus furnished with multiple prongs, which in their meanderings across the lawn will miss not a single extraneous bit of loose material and that without disturbing the equilibrium of the growing grass. Light and easy of manipulation, too, are these lawn "vacuums."

Willowy.

The willow plume, long laid away in the old chest, has come forth to adorn the winter hat. A long, white, droopy willow on a black velvet picture shape—or one of white-and-black—gives the wanted touch of millinery modishness this season.

Wringing Out an Ironing Tune.

Aunt Jane always has a way. When the laundress failed last week, what did she do but "iron" the large pieces—such as sheets, spreads, blankets—by tightening the wringer and putting them through it, dry! It answered very well in place of a more expensive "mangle."

New China.

I was admiring those new tea sets, in the window of that big house-furnishing house, when Cousin Jack came along and tried to make me angry by standing close and being "flirty." But the joke was on him, for—having seen his reflection in the plate glass—I said, without looking around, but just talking to him as if we had stopped there together: "Aren't those the daintiest dishes! That lavender edge and the little fruits on the tea-pot lid—oh, I'd just have to have that set, if I did not already possess so many that I have no place to put them. Then I looked around and laughed. But we went on admiring the dishes, for—that is the comfort about Cousin Jack, he can appreciate all the things we like and so few men can.

Patent Leather Persistence.

Patent leather, once having crept into the world of women's clothes, just will not go back where it belongs—in the harness realm or wherever. After having had its fun as sole being of the hat, it has taken a back seat as brims, being overtopped by rich embroidery, or it has—of late—made a place for itself as tiny set-ins upon bands of embroidery for the blouse, the suit coat, the dress trimming.

Fashion's Fall Harvest.

The evening gown has no sleeves.
The bracelet is extremely popular.
Jetted blouses will have a great vogue.
The fall blouse will have elbow sleeves.
Suit coats and skirts feature wide pleats.
Embroidered net of large square mesh is much used with broadcloth.
A blouse of American beauty georgette is piped in black charmeuse.
Skirt foundations are rather narrow, but tunics hang in full folds.
Trimmings will be very lavish, owing to the prevailing slim silhouette.
Vestes, collar and cuffs should match in fine net or lace.
Brilliant-colored wool capes are worn more than sweaters.
Ribbon flowers are tucked among the laces of evening gowns.
The vestee holds a very important place in fall neckwear.
Velvet and felt hats have broad brims drooping at the sides.
Emerald green and mauve continue to be much in demand.
Light-colored felt hats have big bows of self-tone metal ribbon.
Batik blouses with apron effects and tie-back sash will be worn.
One collar, rolling high at the back, is boned with gold braid.
Upstanding maline frills outline the collars of tailor-made suits.
A brilliant yellow rough-finished homespun is favored for wraps.

BARRETT TELLS HIS SIDE OF IT.

the Federal Building. It is true that we know where to get him if necessary, and do not anticipate any trouble in locating and bringing him to the station if a warrant for his arrest is cabled by Scotland Yard," was the only statement Detective Sergeant Herman H. Cline, who was in charge of the case for the police, would make on this point. Sergt. Cline admitted that he and Detective Sergeant Murphy took Barrett before Dep. Dist.-Atty. Doran and Special Agent Sturgiss of the Department of Justice, before the man became "free to go."

Prior to Capt. Barrett's departure from the Federal Building, a cable to the police authorities of London and a telegram to the State Department in Washington were sent from Los Angeles. Answers to these are expected at an early hour this morning.

Throughout the investigation Capt. Barrett remained smiling, collected and good-natured, with the exception of the busy hours early yesterday morning when he kept a dozen detectives on the jump trying to catch up with him and the instances when newspaper reporters were mentioned.

The net results of the twenty-four hours' activity resulting from the identification of "E. Latham," the name under which he was living at a Hollywood hotel, as "Diamond Bill" Barrett, husband of Alice Drexel, and the cable dispatches from London purporting to tell of a warrant for his arrest on the charge of taking $125,000 worth of jewels from "Mrs. Spreckels of California," were these:

Capt. Barrett, who had been living in Los Angeles under the names of Latham or Lathan and Basil Gordon, admitted he is William N. Barrett, son-in-law of John R. Drexel of New York, that he is the same man who was known in 1914 as "Diamond Bill" Barrett, and that he has been in this country for several months under assumed names.

He further stated that he was with Mrs. John D. Spreckels, Jr., in London several months ago when she parted with a valuable pearl necklace. He denied that he had any connection with or knowledge of the disappearance of any jewels. His story to Detective Sergeants Cline, Murphy, Wood and Jarvis, and to the other officials who questioned him, was that he merely accompanied Mrs. Spreckels to a Regent-street jeweler in London, where she sold the necklace for "several thousand" pounds, giving the man a bill of sale for it.

He said he did not desert Alice Gordon Drexel Barrett in Europe, but left her with plenty of means, coming to this country for a hunting trip. He left London in June. While here, his story ran, he decided to enter the motion-picture work for a few months, adopting the different aliases for that purpose.

"My wife and I are on good terms. There is no truth to the reports that we are separated permanently," he told Detective Cline.

The incident that is said to have given him the name of "Diamond Bill," a chapter from his past which the Drexel family was reported to have sought with much anxiety, was also explained by Capt. Barrett to Detective Cline by the statement that the "trouble"—the charges made at that time regarding the supposed appropriation of diamonds from a jewelry store—were "all cleared up years ago, and I was found not guilty." This statement appears to establish the fact that he is the son of W. N. Barrett of Hillsboro, Or., something the brilliant young soldier of fortune never admitted to his friends in general.

AS TO FINANCES.

The drafts he is known to have deposited with local banks for collection, are covered by money he believes he now has on deposit, Barrett said. He admitted he made small loans from Los Angeles men on the understanding that he would repay them when the drafts are cashed, but said he was justified in expecting that his account with the London Provincial and Southwestern Bank, of London, would be able to meet the drafts. He said that he had approximately £500 left on account when he sailed for America, but said his solicitor, E. E. Edwards of London, was to deposit additional funds after the sale of an automobile and a lease held in Barrett's name.

The reason advanced by Capt. Barrett for the fact that he had removed his name from his clothing was that he wanted to remain unknown. His almost-successful attempts to evade the officers, he explained, were due to his anxiety to avoid reporters. Whenever he changed his plans and dodged the detectives, he was having reporters in mind, he said.

His conversations with the different officials were confined mostly to questions and answers. He did not go into the details of his experience in the motion-picture fields, but photographs, copies of contracts and scripts of plays found in his room testified to adventures, past and contemplated, in matters dramatic. His secretary, a youth with a good wardrobe and appearance, told the officers that "Mr. Latham" was about to close a contract to star in a big production, and that he turned down several others.

Throughout the questioning Capt. Barrett made a good impression on the officers and officials. His personal magnetism—famous among his many friends the world over—won him the sympathy of the investigators on every hand. He puffed a cigarette, smiled from beneath slightly arched eyebrows now and then, and showed a lively interest in everything and everyone around—excepting the reporters.

The "temporary detention" of Capt. Barrett climaxed one of the most spectacular and determined searches ever witnessed here. After a day and night of investigation, Detectives Cline and Murphy found Capt. Barrett and another man near Second and Broadway, leaving a building where the officers suspected he might go before noon. Both were asked to walk over to the police headquarters, and the other man, after proving his identity, was allowed to go. Capt. Barrett was detained.

The determination of the police to question Capt. Barrett was strengthened by his efforts to hide his identity and escape them throughout the afternoon and night of Tuesday, the facts that he used different names at different hotels, the statements of his associates, the fact that, according to the police, he tried to raise money to go to San Francisco, and the efforts to remove all identification marks from his clothing, coupled with the dispatches from London. While the officers were in the hotel a friend of Capt. Barrett's called his (Barrett's) secretary and told him to pack up everything and get ready for a trip. In the meantime Barrett was out in a hired automobile.

At 8 o'clock Tuesday night, the secretary left the hotel and walked to another hotel, to the room of a man who had been friendly with Capt. Barrett. He was followed there by Detective Cline, and after he and the other man talked over their plans, both were interviewed by Mr. Cline. Their stories led to further inquiry and to the realization that Capt. Barrett was apparently trying to avoid the officers. All telephones were watched, the garage where Barrett's car was kept was covered, and shortly before midnight Barrett was located at the house of a recent friend in South Pasadena.

As soon as this was learned, the police flying squadron, in charge of Acting Lieutenant Slaten, was sent to cover the house until the detectives could reach it from Hollywood. In the meantime, attempts by some unknown person to question Capt. Barrett over the phone caused him and his friend to leave the house hastily, a few minutes before the first police car arrived.

The watch was kept till long past midnight, and later was transfered to Los Angeles. Yesterday morning the officers learned that Barrett spent the night at a local hotel, and the search was resumed.

POPULAR HERE.

The police investigation developed the fact that Capt. Barrett was a popular man in Hollywood, in the few weeks he has been in Los Angeles. His wardrobe is immaculate. His bearing, conversation and manners, of the best. Silk shirts made in Paris, little articles of personal wear, fashioned to order and taste—all these contributed to the belief that Mr Latham, or Mr. Gordon, whichever the case happened to be, might even be a nobleman.

Then came the report, circulated from the studio where he was associated for a time, that he was in reality the Earl of Latham. A recent story telling of the domestic difficulties of Capt. William Barrett was indignantly denied by his friends, and it was generally whispered that he was an earl. Cable dispatches to England failed to establish this, however.

To the dashing young men and men who remain young, in Hollywood, Barrett was an Englishman. He said he was in this country for the first time. He said he had an estate and a valet and other things in Canada, and that all his money is tied up in England. To a few fortunate ones, he told of his fortunes. Two of his friends living at the Hotel Hollywood were selected by him as his companions on return trip to England. One was to be his secretary at $250 a week and everything, he said. The youthful secretary acquired a few days ago, was to go along, too.

After a while Barrett took a few persons into his confidence and told them he is the husband of Alice Gordon Drexel. He still clung to his story of English birth. One day, his close companion declares, he told him that he is of noble birth, and that he was contemplating marrying Alice Drexel, so that she could have the title.

Some of the city's most prominent business and professional men are among the friends and acquaintances of Barrett. He had the entree to their homes and social functions, and everywhere added distinction by his presence.

Army's Health Chief Confers With Veterans.

At a conference last night with delegations from the American Legion and the Disabled Veterans of the World War at the Hotel Clark, Surg.-Gen. H. S. Cummings, head of the United States Public Health Service, received complaints of conditions existing at Arrowhead United States Hospital and a request from the Disabled Veterans for the establishment of a hospital in Los Angeles.

Dr. Cummings declared that he had, upon receipt of a previous report, already made efforts to correct any irregularities at Arrowhead, but will today make a personal inspection of the institution. In regard to the establishment here of a hospital for disabled soldiers, Dr. Cummings said that at present there are no funds available for such a purpose. His visit here is part of a tour of government hospitals throughout the country.

ENGLISH LAWMAKER DIES IN ALMSHOUSE.

FORMER PARLIAMENT MEMBER BECAME BANKRUPT DURING THE WAR.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

DRIFFIELD (Eng.) Aug. 22. Sir Luke White, who was a member of Parliament for eighteen years, has just died in the almshouse infirmary here. Born in 1845 at Deighton, near York, he started life as a messenger boy, became an attorney's managing clerk, a solicitor, a county councillor, a Coroner for the East Riding and in 1900 Liberal member of Parliament for Buckrose. He was knighted in 1905.

The war affected Sir Luke's investments and in October of last year he filed a petition in bankruptcy, the statement of claims showing a deficit of more than $100,000. Later a Driffield solicitor, who had been Sir Luke's managing clerk, was prosecuted on a charge of alleged fraudulent conversion of $1000 and it was alleged the money had been converted to Sir Luke's use. A warrant was issued against White, but was suspended owing to his illness and advanced years. The case against his former managing clerk eventually was dismissed.

About three years ago there were rumors of impending trouble and bankruptcy proceedings were instituted by clients who had entrusted funds to Sir Luke. He was without means. His health, bodily and mentally gave way. There remained only the almshouse, but friends paid the cost of his maintenance there.

SANTIAGO PREPARES FOR CELEBRATION.

WILL COMMEMORATE DISCOVERY OF STRAITS OF MAGELLAN.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTIAGO, Aug. 23. — Many American nations as well as Great Britain, Spain and Portugal are to be formally invited soon to participate in the national festivities in November and December in commemoration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Straits of Magellan.

The festivities will center principally in Santiago and Punta Arenas, the latter the world's southernmost city, where the occasion will be marked by inauguration of important public works, including port improvements, lighthouses in Smith Channel, a highway between Punta Arenas and Natales, on the South Atlantic Coast, and laying of a corner-stone of the Punta Arenas University.

King Alfonso of Spain will be represented by the Infante Don Fernando of Bavary, who, according to present plans, will travel aboard a Spanish warship, via the Panama Canal, arriving in Santiago in November. It is expected the foreign delegations will visit the straits in December, when warships of the Chilean navy will be assembled there. It was through these waters that Ferdinand Magellan, the Portuguese explorer, first passed in November, 1520.

CHINESE FLOODS ARE SUBSIDING.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NANCHANG (Kiangsi Province, China) Sept. 21.—Floods said to be worse than any recorded in the past twenty years in the district north of Nanchang are reported to be subsiding after having devastated a wide area. People of the districts flooded were on the verge of starvation.

The district that has suffered most extends northward from Nanchang along the east bank of the Kan River to Poyang Lake. At one time the streets of Nanchang were under water. It is estimated that about 100 persons lost their lives in the floods.

Leases Store in State Building for Huge Total.

A fifteen-year lease at an approximate rental of $300,000 was yesterday taken by the Tufts-Lyon Arms Company on the corner storeroom of the new State Building at Sixth and Olive streets. Metcalf & Ryan handled the deal for the owners of the structure, the Central Business Properties, Inc., of which Lee A. Phillips is president.

The Tufts-Lyon company, which is one of the oldest sporting goods firms in the city, will have a frontage of thirty-six feet on Olive street, with twenty feet on Sixth street, giving the new store two entrances.

CONVENTION IS LOST BY LACK OF STADIUM.

EIGHT THOUSAND MACCABEES WOULD MEET HERE, BUT CAN'T FIND ROOM.

Through lack of a stadium capable of holding so large a crowd, Los Angeles will lose the opportunity of entertaining 8000 members of a women's organization who had chosen Southern California for their next meeting place, according to Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce, who yesterday was compelled to turn down proffers of the convention. Mr. Wiggins declared that these women, if it were possible to bring them to the city, would spend during their stay an amount equal to two-thirds of the cost of the proposed coliseum, bonds for which the voters failed to authorize at the primary election.

The organization that chose Los Angeles for its huge convention—termed a Marathon meet—is the Women's Benefit Association of the Maccabees, the largest fraternal benefit society for women in the world, with a membership of 235,000. The 8000 delegates to the big gathering will be selected from all parts of the country and the convention will be the sort that every city with adequate facilities for entertainment strives to attract.

Los Angeles was given preference over other cities because of its delightful summer climate, its far-famed name for hospitality to the tourist and its wealth of fine hotels and restaurants. Every facility requested by the women's organization can be supplied except the required floor space for drills of the degree teams.

A fact in which Los Angeles can take no pride, it is pointed out, is that the city is wholly unprepared to stage outdoor performances as a metropolitan city should, although it has become the largest city on the Pacific Coast and has a climate suitable for outdoor programs throughout the year.

FOR MRS. STODDARD JESS

Business Men Pay Last Respects to Memory of Banker's Widow.

With the casket completely obscured by a profusion of large and elaborate floral tributes, funeral services for Mrs. Stoddard Jess, widow of the former president of the First National Bank, were conducted at her late residence, 2133 South Harvard Boulevard, yesterday morning.

Rev. Oliver J. Fairfield, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Long Beach, officiated at the services, which were attended by many Los Angeles business men who had been associated with Mr. Jess. The minister paid appropriate tribute to Mrs. Jess's civic and philanthropic labors.

After the services at the family residence the automobile cortege moved to the Pomona Cemetery, where brief services were conducted at the grave. Mrs. Jess's body was consigned to earth beside that of her husband, who died in February.

READ-ADMIRAL WOOD ORDERED TO CAPITAL.

Rear-Admiral Wood, commander of the train of the Pacific Fleet, yesterday received orders detaching him from that duty and assigning him to the examining and retiring board at Washington, D. C. The change is to take effect the 30th inst., but as Admiral Wood is to have command of the forces to protect the harbor during fleet maneuvers scheduled to begin that day, he will probably not leave his flagship, the Minneapolis, until October 4.

He has completed the time of sea service allowed for rear-admirals and for that reason is detailed for shore duty.

Frayed Bunko Trick is Blamed for Cash Loss.

The time worn story of a millionaire brother, an oil producer, who died, leaving a million to be distributed to the poor, was told to Isidore Bouyssou, he testified yesterday in Justice Brown's court. He said he was separated from $3000 and asserted that Andy Moore did the separating. The money, it was said, was placed in a satchel and was extracted while the complaining witness was having dinner in a local cafe with the defendant. Moore was held to answer on this charge.

A charge of attempted grand larceny, made against Moore and Louis Regret, was dismissed because of lack of evidence. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts represented the prosecution.

Girl Will Marry Lover Who Shot Her and Himself

In the court of Justice Brown yesterday Harrison N. Beal, accused of assault with a deadly weapon upon Miss Loraine Barnes, sat with the young woman, who is the complaining witness against him, at the table reserved for the defendant and his lawyer.

The latter stated that the couple desired to be married, and that the interlocutory decree of divorce of Beal would become final within a month and they would be married. The case, in view of these facts, was continued until October 15.

Beal was accused of shooting Miss Barnes twice and then himself twice, because, he said, she refused to marry him.

HE'S MISSING LINK.

Pickpocket Victim Vanishes So "Perfect Case" Explodes.

Detective Sergeant O'Brien asserted yesterday in Justice Forbes's court that he had a perfect case against Charles W. Crotry and Edward Harris, accused of being pickpockets, except that he was unable to find the man whose pockets were rifled.

The detective testified that he arrested one of the men while the man had one hand in a stranger's pocket and O'Brien said the hand was firmly grasping a pocket-book. He took the name of the man who was to have been the victim. The name given was H. C. Weaver, 926 East Forty-third street. Investigation disclosed the address is a vacant lot. The detective advertised for the victim-to-be, but without result. Yesterday, because of a lack of a victim, the case was dismissed.

BURIED BY CAVE-IN.

Two Teamsters Painfully Hurt When Sand Bank Topples.

Caught in a sandslide on East Ninth street early yesterday, Elijah Steele, 27 years of age, and Holsey Boswell, 20, both teamsters, were painfully injured. They were treated at the Receiving Hospital and then removed to their homes.

The two men, according to the police who investigated, were loading their wagons at a sand pile. The top of the bank fell on them and they were buried beneath tons of earth. Other teamsters dug them out in time to save their lives.

GIVE PRAISE TO PORT.

George W. Ashworth, chief of the division of customs of the United States Treasury, accompanied by Special Agent Paul Cook, was in the city yesterday looking over the customs business in the local district. He said the tremendous jump in the receipts of the district, during the past year, indicated the growth of Los Angeles as a port.

ABOUT VEHICLE LAWS.

City Officials Confer Today; May Repeal Many Ordinances.

As a result of the sweeping decision by the Supreme Court that State vehicle laws supercede all municipal regulations, a conference is to be held this morning in the office of Mayor Snyder to determine the course to be pursued by Los Angeles relative to the enforcement of its traffic rules. Besides the Mayor there will be present City Attorney Burnell, City Prosecutor Widney, members of the City Council and other officials. It is possible that many traffic ordinances of the city, regulating speed of vehicles, etc., will be repealed in order to prevent conflict with State laws.

FOREST SERVICE MEN INSPECT NEW ROAD.

A party of officials representing the Forest Service, consisting of T. W. Norcross, chief engineer; F. H. Fowler, district engineer, and C. C. Morris, assistant engineer of the Bureau of Public Roads, all of San Francisco, accompanied by Supervisor Allen of the Angeles Reserve, made an inspection trip yesterday to the new road being constructed in the Arroyo Seco by the county. They report the work progressing favorably, and it is expected that the stretch as far as Oakwild will be completed by the setting in of the wet season.

KANSAN IS HELD ON CHARGE OF SLAVERY.

Asserting that his arrest is all a mistake and that he has violated no law, McKinley King, 23 years of age, a drug clerk of Wichita, Kan., is held in the City Jail here on a charge of white slavery. King was arrested yesterday afternoon by Police Detectives Gamash and McCann on telegraphic advices from the authorities at Wichita. The prisoner stated he came here about a week ago from Kansas with his bride of a few days.

COURT HEARS LICENSE REVOCATION APPEAL.

Department No. 3, District Court of Appeal, yesterday took under submission the petition for a writ of prohibition sued out by George W. Wood and L. Allen Wood, conducting an oil-filling station at 1102 South Hill street, to restrain the Board of Fire Commissioners of this city from revoking the license of the petitioners, pending an investigation of certain charges brought against the firm by Oil Inspector Blackmar. It is charged that the concern was engaged in selling gas for automobiles that was not up to the standard set by the city authorities.

COUNCIL TO INSPECT HIGHLAND PARK WALK.

Members of the Council will journey to the Highland Park district within the next few days to examine the new sidewalk, curb, gutter and street oiling work on Avenue 50, between Terrace 50 and Baltimore street, protests regarding the work having been made in the Council chamber yesterday by E. C. Jackson and other property owners. The work was done by Contractor Gabriel H. Oswald, and has been approved by the Board of Public Works.

ASSESSMENTS FILED FOR TUNNEL SCHEME.

The schedule of assessments for the Second-street tunnel was filed yesterday with the Council, the grand total for the improvement being $1,121,168.45. The Council set October 20 as the date for hearing protests which must be filed not later than October 19. The total number of parcels of property represented in the assessment district is 2395.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—A reprieve until October 29 was granted today by Gov. Stephens to Arthur Collins, sentenced to hang at San Quentin prison Friday for murder of a policeman in Los Angeles May 24.

A statement from the Governor's office said this action was taken on strength of a letter from Superior Judge Frank Willis of Los Angeles, who sentenced Collins to death. Judge Willis declared evidence had been produced since the trial leading to the belief the prisoner may be of unsound mind.

The reprieve will allow time for an examination of Collins by alienists. Collins's father had been insane, it was said.

INVESTMENT BUILDING SOLD TO C. C. CHAPMAN.

Epoch-Making Deal Means Resumption of Dividends in November by the Former Owning Company.

Sale of the Investment Building at Eighth and Broadway by the Los Angeles Investment Company to Charles C. Chapman of Fullerton for a sum in excess of $1,600,000, was announced yesterday. Almost simultaneously, announcement was made by officers of the investment company of the proposed resumption of dividends to the concern's 16,000 stockholders and of the calling of a meeting of the directors to arrange for the first payment on or before November 15.

The building under the new owner's plans will be renamed "The Charles C. Chapman Building." The purchase was as an investment, Mr. Chapman states, though he plans to fit up offices in the building for the handling of his own extensive fruit, oil and other interests.

The sale is one of the biggest downtown transactions in the history of Los Angeles. Charles G. Andrews of the Wright-Callender-Andrews Company and W. B. Merwin of the W. B. Merwin Company represented both parties to the deal.

The building is eleven stories high, constructed of steel throughout, and finely finished. The Home Savings Bank occupies the greater portion of the first floor under a long-time lease. Other first-floor tenants are the American Express Company and B. Gordan. The City Club occupies the three top floors under a three-year lease.

BUYS ON FAITH.

Mr. Chapman stated yesterday that the office rooms in the building are all occupied now and the building for the present at least will be handled through an agent, although he has not yet made definite arrangements. He intimated, however, that office rentals are likely to be higher, as many of the tenants are still paying a comparatively low price.

Seen yesterday at his home in Fullerton, Mr. Chapman was enthusiastic over his purchase. He voiced the belief that Los Angeles will develop and grow even more rapidly in the future than in the past, and declared this was one of the strong factors in influencing him to make such a big investment.

"Every year there are stronger reasons and greater incentive to come to Los Angeles," said Mr. Chapman. "We have every attraction to induce hundreds of thousands of people to come here to live and more are added every year. Los Angeles is better known now. It is world famous. I believe that people will come here to settle from all parts of the world, and that all Southern California will be thickly populated."

Mr. Chapman spoke also of the great advancement since 1894, when he first began business here. Then he bought a tract in the Wilshire district and drove prospective customers to his lots with a horse and buggy. Houses were few and scattering then in the Wilshire district.

The Investment Building, was erected by the Los Angeles Investment Company in 1912. The first floor lease of the Home Savings Bank, which was obtained before the completion of the structure, has over seventeen years to run.

The Los Angeles Investment Company will continue to occupy the second floor of the building, it was stated yesterday, although later the company may erect a building on property which it now owns at Tenth and Broadway.

TO STOCKHOLDERS.

In regard to the sale of the building to Mr. Chapman, a statement was addressed yesterday to the stockholders of the company by Frank P. Flint, the president, who stated further that during the latter part of the week a meeting of the board of directors will be held for the purpose of declaring a dividend on the stock now outstanding. The statement by Mr. Flint follows:

"A proposition for the purchase of the Investment Building for an amount in excess of $1,600,000, the estimated valuation given to the stockholders in the last annual statement, has been submitted by C. C. Chapman, and the same has been accepted by the board of directors.

"We are making this announcement at this time for the reason that we desire to have all the stockholders advised immediately of the transaction of any business of the company that will affect the value of their stock.

"As was stated to the stockholders at the last annual meeting, whenever we were able to sell one of the downtown properties, we would declare a dividend.

"The earnings of this company for the first six months of this year amounted to $196,975.25, which was in excess of 14 per cent per annum of our outstanding capital stock. We have not, even with these earnings, paid dividends to our stockholders for the reason that the demands made upon this company for the construction of houses have been so great that it required every dollar of our available cash, and careful financing.

"Upon the consummation of the sale of this building, we will be placed in a position where we can commence paying dividends to our stockholders and a dividend of 6 per cent per annum, payable quarterly, on the stock, will be declared by your board of directors, the first payment to be made on or before Nov. 15, 1920, to stockholders of record on or before Nov. 1, 1920.

"It is the desire and intention of your board of directors to increase the rate of dividends at the earliest practical date; but it is also the intention of the board to continue with the development of your properties so that you not only will receive increased value for your stock, but also a fair return on your investment.

[Signed]

"FRANK P. FLINT,
"President.

"T. E. Gibbon, W. H. Harrison, W. P. Jeffries, J. W. Burns, A. C. Brode, W. B. Corwin, directors."

STRENGTHENS COMPANY.

Besides strengthening the Los Angeles Investment Company by bringing in a large sum of money, the transaction, it is believed, will have a beneficial effect on the city generally. There is a mortgage of $800,000 on the building, but nearly all the remainder of the purchase price is in cash, thus making a dividend possible.

The deal is one of three large transactions handled recently by Mr. Andrews. He figured in the sale of the Wolfskill ranch to Arthur Letts two years ago and in the lease of the Seventh and Broadway corner by Mr. Letts to Loew's, Inc., a year ago. Mr. Merwin has also been instrumental in bringing about several big sales in Los Angeles. He sold the valuable San Clemente Island and its sheep ranch to Louis Penwelk and more recently figured in downtown transactions involving large sums of money.

Negotiations leading to the sale of the Investment Building were begun about six weeks ago, it was stated yesterday. Mr. Chapman investigated the proposition thoroughly and is satisfied, he declares, that the building and location constitute one of the best and most desirable pieces of property in the city.

BANQUET ON BIRTHDAY.

Jonathan Club Members will Observe Anniversary This Evening.

Two hundred and fifty members of the Jonathan Club are expected to attend a banquet which will be held this evening in the club rooms in the Pacific Electric Building to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the organization. Mayor Snyder will be the principal speaker and will be followed by many charter members of the club, who will give short extemporaneous addresses. In addition to the speaking program, there will be entertainment by professionals, including a quartet, vocal and instrumental soloists and other entertainers. The banquet will be served at 7 o'clock.

COP'S PREY GLAD RAGS, NOT CROOKS?

Policeman Charged With Seeking Trade for Cleaning Shop During Service Hours.

While Patrolman Edward A. Crandall was supposedly pursuing crooks he was in fact, according to a report filed yesterday by Sergt. R. H. Schofield, calling for and collecting armloads of clothing for his cleaning and dyeing establishment. As a result, Crandall will be placed on trial before the Police Commission next Tuesday morning, charged with neglect of duty. Sergt. Schofield, under orders, watched Crandall's home and shop for five days. His report, which is unique in the history of the local police department, is in part as follows:

"August 25—Crandall came home at 2:37 p.m. and left at 2:49 p.m. with black felt hat and bundle. Went east. Came back again at 5:12 p.m. with bundle of clothes and another hat which he left at shop.

"August 26—Crandall came home at 5:21 p.m. with two big bundles of clothes and a lady's hat in paper bag. He came home on this trip on a big red truck belonging to the fire department. On this date Mrs. Everhardt of 156 East Sixty-sixth street told Mrs. Hirsh in my hearing that the Crandalls had represented themselves to her as tailors.

"August 29—Crandall reported in on his beat. This is the day he put the sign on top of his shop.

"August 30—Crandall reported at station in plain clothes and was seen by Sergt. Toomey at 10:50 a.m. at Jefferson and Main streets with arms full of clothes. He went east on Ascot car, probably to cleaners, as he did not have these clothes when he came home at 11:40 a.m."

Lieut. McClary reported to Capt Heath, commanding the University division: "I am convinced that Officer Crandall is using the police department as a means for furthering his interests as a dyer and cleaner."

Nab Four, Seize Fortune in Drugs, Also Two Autos.

Officers Bright and Brooks of the narcotic squad arrested J. F. Coffman, Charles T. Freshman, Lloyd Pitchard and Russell Youman at a Hollywood residence yesterday on drug charges after a five days' vigil.

With the quartet was captured ten ounces of morphine and two automobiles, the officers say, adding that the four were making a delivery of the narcotic when captured.

It is stated that the morphine is worth $1000 and that in a retail way it would bring not less than $5000. It is understood that the narcotic was being delivered to an outfit of peddlers operating in and around Hollywood.

Coffman and Freshman, who are considered the head of the four, had their bond fixed at $7500 each by U. S. Commissioner Long, and that of Youman and Pritchard at $2500 each. The date for their preliminary hearing was set for October 4. None of the defendants was able to give bond.

VENTURA WONDERS SHOWN.

County Fair is Excellent Combination of Attractive Modern Features.

BY BURTON L. SMITH.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, Sept. 22.—Ventura county has declared a holiday for the rest of the week and all the inhabitants are celebrating at the county fair at Seaside Park, which opened its gates this morning for a four-day show. While today was devoted mostly to getting displays in place and putting the finishing touches on buildings, tents and grounds, it was visitors' day, too and several thousand people passed through the gates and into the grand stand for the afternoon program of races.

Ventura county fair is more than an event, it is an institution. The organization has grown with the community and in these times of rapid progress has not lagged behind the procession. The exhibition this year is a combination of fair, race meet, automobile and tractor show and airplane tournament. In every class that goes to make a show of this kind, entries have exceeded expectations and the whole is a most complete exhibition of what has been done by the towns and the county and gives a vision of what the future holds in store.

ATTRACTIVE ENTRIES.

Entries in all lines have attracted so much attention and the fair as a whole has received so much support that it has already been determined to extend it a day longer than was at first intended and a program including some of the best racing of the week has been arranged for Sunday.

Each day there will be a trotting and pacing race and two running races. A Roman chariot race scheduled for tomorrow and a horse show for Friday are added attractions, which will help fill the big grand stand.

Perhaps the biggest thing on the ground is the automobile show, which fills a large tent and in which are all the models of pleasure cars to be seen at any of the city shows. Every make is on exhibition, from the high-priced limousine to the one that has just made a radical reduction in the price of joy-riding.

A close second to the auto exhibit is the live-stock section, in which are shown some of the most wonderful horses, cattle, pigs, sheep and mules to be seen in California, with stock from the Anita Baldwin rancho at Santa Anita holding the center of the stage.

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS.

Los Angeles is well represented in the display tent, where industrial products are exhibited, and a Los Angeles band occupies the center of the grand stand. Imperial Valley is represented with a display by real estate dealers, where an aged negro, banjo and all, sitting on a bale of cotton, attracts large crowds at all times. A "better babies" show is a popular part of the fair and fond mothers with promising babies started early to battle for honors before a corps of professional judges.

The horticulture exhibit dispells the rumor that Ventura county is planted entirely to sugar beets and beans, for proof in large measure is present that every kind of vegetable listed in the biggest seed catalogue grows in abundance here, and two ranches have fine displays of citrus fruit. Peaches, pears, apples, plums, apricots and nectarines are shown in abundance, and several nurseries make creditable displays of orchards in the making.

A live and busy "midway" contributes to the pleasure of the crowds, who prove the fact that Ventura county is not only prosperous, but proud and happy, as she has a right to be.

FLINTHAM'S REPLY BRIEF.

"The picture is not half as bad as it is painted. Everything will come out at the trial," was the only statement forthcoming on behalf of County Forester Stuart J. Flintham, touching on the charges in the divorce complaint filed by Mrs. Helen B. Flintham.

Mr. Flintham remained away from his office yesterday. His whereabouts could not be ascertained and only a brief statement was made by Percy V. Hammon, his attorney.

Through her attorneys, John F. Clark and W. R. Law, Mrs. Flintham asks a divorce on the grounds of extreme mental and physical cruelty. One of the charges, the lawyers state, is that Mr. Flintham told Mrs. Cora B. Malone of 617 South Hudson avenue, Pasadena, that he had found her jewels, worth about $50,000, while driving with his wife, and that Mrs. Flintham had prevailed upon him not to return them to the owner, whose name is said to have been on the inside of the jewel case. Mrs. Flintham alleges that she was not with Mr. Flintham at the time and that she did not know of the method by which the jewels came into his possession until this year. The jewels were found in 1917.

The matter led to a grand jury investigation, but this was dropped when it was learned that Mr. Flintham had returned the jewels. Among other charges is one that Mr. Flintham and a deputy Sheriff entered Mrs. Flintham's home without a warrant and attempted to oust members of her family from the place. The police were called.

It is also charged that on another occasion she suffered a great deal when, as she says, he cursed her before the children and the neighbors.

This is the second attempt to get a divorce made by Mrs. Flintham. She was denied a decree in the spring by Judge Crail, who stated that cruelty had not been proven. The jewel episode was not involved at that time, as Mrs. Flintham stated that she wished to secure a divorce with as few charges as possible. Recent events, she says, have forced her to incorporate the story of the lost jewels in order that she may be sure of securing her freedom.

CHINESE CONVICTED.

Hi Fong, a Chinese woman arrested several days ago in a raid on a Chinese drug den on East Ninth street, was found guilty Police Judge Frederickson's court yesterday and sentenced to 500 days in the City Jail or a fine of $500. The woman paid the fine. The woman was charged with having drugs in her possession.

SHOOTS WIFE'S DAUGHTER; DIES.

Stepfather Wounds Girl and Kills Himself With Gun.

Jealousy Blamed for Tragic Outburst in Happy Home.

Injured Miss May Lose Arm; Mother is in Collapse.

Jealousy of his pretty 21-year-old stepdaughter, Miss Marian Plummer, is declared to have been the cause that impelled James Grazino to shoot her last night in his home at 3501 West Twenty-seventh street and then send a bullet into his own head. Detectives Hodson and Farrant of the University Police Station found the man's body locked in his house, from which he had driven his wife and her daughter after he had wounded the latter.

When the officers arrived at the scene of the shooting, the mother and daughter had taken shelter in a neighbor's house across the street from their home.

The stepdaughter, a bank clerk, was taken to the Receiving Hospital. It was found that the bullet had gone through her right elbow. The surgeons could not say whether it would be necessary to amputate the arm. Mrs. Grazino, who was overcome by shock, was taken care of by neighbors.

Miss Plummer said that her stepfather, who was wealthy and 44 years old, had been jealous of her since she had gone to live with her mother a month ago. She said her mother had been married to Grazino three years and they were apparently devoted to each other. But the pretty stepdaughter was the innocent cause of arguments. Miss Plummer said her stepfather feared that she would dictate to him and influence her mother against him.

When Miss Plummer went home last night, her stepfather told her to get out of the house or he would shoot her, she told the police. She started to go and was on the threshold of the living-room with her mother when Grazino opened fire, according to her story. Then the two women fled across the street.

Grazino's body was taken to the Fitch undertaking rooms.

AGED WOMAN, HIT BY AUTO, MAY DIE.

Mrs. Elizabeth Quaid of 628 Locust street, about 75 years of age, probably was fatally injured last night when she was struck by an automobile driven by Wesley Senkinaz, of 305 Loretta street, as she was crossing Dayton avenue at Cypress street. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where it was found that she had suffered a basal fracture of the skull.

After an investigation by Detective Sergeant Ziegler, Mr. Senkinas was released. According to his story, he was going north on Dayton street and did not see the elderly woman until he had hit her. The corner, where the accident occurred is made very dark by the shadows of trees, the police said.

SHOWS MENACE TO PROSPERITY.

Proposed Property Law Hard Hit by Former Senator.

Calls Measure Most Absurd Yet Put Before Voters.

Approved, Would Ruin Credit, Split Homes, He Says.

Reasons why men and women of California should oppose the projected community property law, which will be proposal No. 13 on the ballot November 2, were forcefully stated yesterday noon at a luncheon of the Commercial Board of Los Angeles by former Senator L. H. Roseberry.

The meeting of the board was characterized as "Times day," a member of The Times' staff officiating as chairman. In addition to the talk by Mr. Roseberry, Ira F. Thompson made an address on the needs of the judiciary, explaining what judicial temperament really is. Miss Hazel Miller sang several solos and played two selections on a steel guitar.

During his address Mr. Roseberry declared that if the proposed community property law goes on the statute books, it will overthrow the long-established and smoothly-operating present law and set up in its place uncertainty, confusion, acrimony, suspicion and litigation.

Wives will be suspicious of their husbands and husbands of their wives, and the end will be an increased number of divorces and all manner of disagreements between married people, he asserted.

"While the motives of the proponents of Senate Bill No. 471, so-called community property law, are doubtless sincere," he said, "the instruments which they would employ to accomplish their desires would bring disaster."

The proposed law would gravely impair credit, the speaker said, as no firm or corporation would dare to trust a married man unless his wife was a party to the transaction. "The measure can find no justification except upon the argument that married men are disloyal to their wives and families and are not providing for them at death," he stated.

Concluding, Mr. Roseberry said: "Such agitation, during these times of business uncertainty and industrial unrest, is bound to do damage. It is an ill-advised moment to suggest any law that would disturb business conditions, title to properties and family relations. It has been officially disapproved by practically every leading business organization in the State. No good woman, the business interests of whose husband and family are at heart, will support it. It can find no justification. It is a meddlesome piece of legislation, ill drawn, fraught with legal difficulties, will hurt business, and is a distinct step backward rather than foreward. It should be decisively defeated."

The People and Their Daily Troubles

Play the Game on a Fifty-Fifty Basis

By Jane Dixon.

Is a wife entitled to 50 per cent of everything her husband makes and owns?

Mrs. Charlie Chaplin, wife of the screen's funniest artist, contends a fifty-fifty split of the bank roll is the only fair basis for a parting of the ways.

Charlie allows as how any such idea is preposterous. He has no notion of cutting his slice of this world's goods in two and handing over one-half to the spouse.

According to the calculations of the wife, the Chaplin melon amounts to about $3,000,000 net.

The laws of the State of California, where Mrs. Chaplin brought action for divorce, allow the wife half of her husband's goods.

The laws of the State of New York, where the legal battle between the Chaplins is now being staged, are not so lenient. And the wily Charlie is in New York. He declares his intention of remaining there, making the metropolis his home and his workshop.

Again we see the inefficiency of the divorce laws in this country. One State reverses the decision of its next-door neighbor. Decrees are nothing more than travesties, to be broken the moment a culprit crosses the boundary.

When we progress to a point where the States adopt a universal divorce law this comedy of errors will cease.

In the meantime the Chaplins are attempting to apply any laws at hand, each to his or her particular advantage.

Charlie has for the moment checked his trick cane and hat and feet, and is holding forth in great grandeur at the Ritz-Carlton.

From his truly sumptuous apartment, high in the rarefied air of Madison avenue, he issues a statement to the effect the only split his wife will get is in the matter of alimony, for which she must sue and produce a court order.

He further declares that inasmuch as his wife is making $1500 a week playing in the pictures, it is scarcely probable she is in any great want.

Here is a strange question.

Why should any woman capable of making $1500 a week cry for the money of a man who she says has been cruel to her—a man, she asserts, who has grossly insulted and demeaned her before her friends and the public?

And why should a husband worth $3,000,000 withhold a goodly sum from the woman he took in marriage, even though he believes her in the wrong?

What would be a fair adjustment of the marital and monetary battle?

If I were judge I would instruct the husband to set aside a trust fund for his wife, the income of which would be enough to keep her in comfort during her life, so that she need never want. For, after all, that $1500 is a problematical sum. Mrs. Chaplin might be the victim of an accident tomorrow and her income be cut off for all time.

I would instruct the wife to forget that $3,000,000, which brought her nothing but unhappiness, and advise her to go out and pile up her own fortune. It would not take long at the rate of fifteen hundred a week.

Mrs. Chaplin is a wage earner.

So is her husband.

As long as we women are allowed to work on the same basis as men let us play the game fair.

Fifty-fifty.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Question: What President vetoed the greatest number of bills during his term of office? J. M. L.

Answer: President Cleveland vetoed 496 bills during his terms as President. During his first term he vetoed 301 bills, nearly twice as many as had all his predecessors combined. The majority of these were private pension bills, and only two of them were passed over his veto. No President since Cleveland has vetoed any considerable number of bills.

Q.: Why should Lamb have called Spenser "the poet's poet?" B. V. D.

A.: Charles Lamb was an enthusiastic admirer of Edmund Spenser and regarded his flights of fancy and imagery as so far above other poets' efforts that it required the high artistic sense developed by studying the art of writing poetry to appreciate Spenser.

Q.: How large a population constitutes a city? M. C.

A.: The Bureau of Census says that a town is usually considered a city when it reaches a population of 10,000.

Q.: Where are the points of the United States that are the farthest north, east, south and west? G. E. M.

A.: The Geological Survey says that a small detached land area in Minnesota is the farthest point north, extending to latitude 49 degrees, 23 minutes; the southermost point of the mainland is Cape Sable, Fla., latitude 25 degrees, 7 minutes; easternmost is West Quoddy Head, Maine, longitude 66 degrees, 57 minutes, and westernmost, Cape Alva, Washington, longitude 124 degrees, 45 minutes.

Q.: How much is the public debt? G. I. T.

A.: The national debt on June 30, 1920, was $24,299,321,467.

Q.: Is any part of the United States free from electrical storms? R. L. W.

A.: The Weather Bureau says that so far as known, no part of this country is entirely free from these phenomena. However, they are much more frequently observed in the eastern and central portions of the country than in the Far West. In fact, along the immediate Pacific Coast the occurrence of these storms is comparatively rare and it is stated that they are without many of the severe characteristics observed in the more eastern districts.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Answers Randall.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times Newspaper:] Being a law student of the University of Southern California, I cannot speak but from a legal standpoint and so, it is a long thrill of justice when someone will say; I am in favor of the immediate Philippine Independence. I don't believe the words spoke without putting into action for some people talking and talking about the immediate Philippine Independence that they are in favor of it, yet they are only talking like a wind talk and not a heart talk.

Vicente Mercado a law student of the University of Southern California, has testified himself that he is in favored of the immediate Philippine Independence and he opposed to Congressman Randall's article attacked of the immediate Philippine Independence which was published at the Examiner issue a week ago that Congressman Randall stated in this way: "Filipinos are not capable of self-government because they are a mere children." To "Congressman" statement above I am also opposed because the majority of the people are not a mere children but a real men. Probably Congressman Randall is right in other hand for a few of them are a mere children for some time I saw the proof which was stated by Mr. Vicente Mercado a President of the Philippine Independence Club. When there was a tie vote meeting last night of the Philippine Independence Club held room 201 Blanchard Hall, September 13, 1920, that Mercado himself could not decide the case but he assumed to ask an advice to some of his American friends and expectators before the Assembly in that evening and stated in this way: "Mr. Thurman will you point me out how and what side may I able to decide "affirmative or negative?"

I appeal before you ladies and gentlemen of the American Public that to the above statement shows the wickedness of his part and no judgment to himself and so he is not a real man in this case but a mere child. Therefore Congressman Randall is right in other hand.

Try Fair Play.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Early in the season a brainy business man came down to the El Cajon grape fields and contracted to purchase the bulk of the crop at 1¾ cents per pound on the vine. He is now busily engaged in loading them. They cost him about 2½ cents per pound after being picked and put on board cars. Carload after carload of these grapes is being shipped out. The consumer pays about 10 cents per pound for these grapes. It is said that this man receives $100 per ton f.o.b. El Cajon for these grapes, which cost him $50 per ton. The only way that the producers can protect themselves against such speculators in foodstuff is to organize grape producers' associations, such as the one that the government is now trying to dissolve. If the government is correct in its contention that producers' associations are a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law it is then only a matter of common justice that food speculators, who by a lack of organization among producers, are enabled to take advantage of the producers, should be most cordially invited to make such liberal contributions to the United States treasury that their profits will be reduced to a fair margin.

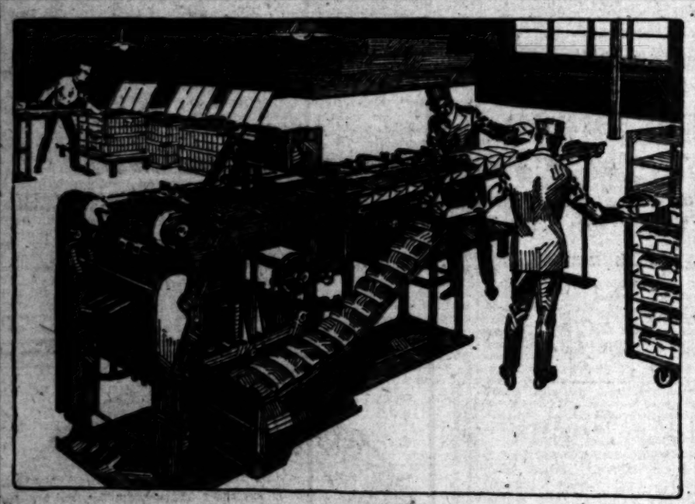
The Story of Modern Bread Making—Chapter XVIII.



Wrapping Bread By Machine

VISITORS to our plant find the operation of the bread wrapping machines especially fascinating.

Machines of the type we use will wrap 1000 to 3000 loaves of bread per hour, encasing the loaves in waxed or parchment paper which is moisture proof and protects the bread from dust and other impurities.

The loaves go direct from the cooling racks to these machines. They thus receive their protective wrapper before coming into contact with impure air, the hands of the delivery and grocery men, and the dust of the streets.

The work done by our wrapping machines insures that HOLSUM Bread will arrive at your table as clean as when it left our ovens, and with all its freshness preserved.

Bread which is not wrapped at the bakery is a menace to the health of the community. Insist always on wrapped bread—and insure the highest quality by saying—

USES MATCH TO PROTECT SHEEP.

Oil Pool in Highway Spurs Basque Herder; Forest Fire Results.

Because a Basque sheepherder in his employ set a match to a pool of oil in the middle of the highway just back of Cucamonga, Dr. C. C. Young of Los Angeles yesterday paid $61.02 to the forest service.

Dr. Young owns a flock of valuable Karakul sheep, and employs the Basque to care for them. The sheep recently waded into the oil pool, which had been left by road workers. The sticky oil ruined some fine Persian lamb pelts, and the sheep herder then set a match to the pool to prevent a recurrence of the loss. The fire spread to the brush and small timber along the roadside, and about 100 acres of land were burned over before the blaze was checked. Dr. Young's check reimbursed the forest service for the money paid out to fight the fire.

LADYLIKE MEN.

Doctors are worrying because the men are becoming more effeminate. But as long as they refrain from using peacock feathers in their hats and wearing two kinds of beads there is still hope for them.

QUICK ACTION.

They seem to change their Presidents in France about as easily as they change their wives in this country. No tiresome campaign—nothing much but a putting off of the old and putting on the new.

NOTABLE DAYS.

There is a widespread desire to make a legal holiday of November 11—which was first known as Armistice Day and is now desired to be known as American Legion Day. Why not move Thanksgiving up a couple of weeks and consolidate the two? They would go well together and we are not impoverished for holidays.

TROUBLE ALWAYS.

The problems of what to do with our drug addicts and how to cope with the grand army of burglars are about the most serious things clouding the local horizon. Prohibition did not settle our social ills, even if it did not aggravate some of them. The police are twice as busy as they were when they had nothing much but plain drunks to contend with.

GOING DOWN.

Henry Ford has cut the price of his merry-go-rounds to the figures that prevailed before the war. The drop is from 15 to 30 per cent on the different models. The day may come when Henry will be giving away one of his machines with every purchase of a can opener. The present cut in the Ford contribution toward reducing the high cost of living. But there are a lot of folks who declare that having a Ford isn't living. It is existing. Oh, well, have it your own way.

A STRONGHOLD.

Just now Chairman Hays of the Republican National Committee is further boosting the fame of Castle Hill, Me. The name sounds like a stronghold of some kind, and it is. In the election this month Castle Hill cast 101 votes and 100 of them were for the Republican ticket. The Democratic postmaster is supposed to be the only man who was able to hold out against the Grand Old Party. Castle Hill is certainly a stronghold and it comes as near being 100 per cent Republican as they can ever be expected to get.

SOME SCRAP.

The assertion was made in the Republican State Convention at Sacramento that Senator Harding would scrap the League of Nations if elected President. Looks as if there might be a scrap whichever way the word is used. But there is no warrant as yet for asserting that it is the intention of Senator Harding to send the League of Nations to the junk pile or the garbage can. He may help to make it more effective or more acceptable, but he cannot kill it, nor does he wish to. The League has already shown a capacity for service in peaceful arbitration. It is vital for the good of Europe, even if America prefers to remain on the outside looking in.

"LADIES ONLY."

The English railways have been petitioned to provide special carriages "for ladies only" because the cheaper compartments are crowded with "workmen of dirty appearance and objectionable habits." We can't imagine any such provision being made on American railroads or the ladies restricting themselves to the use of them if they were. But it is a fact that the lower-class British male is far less self-respecting and cleanly than the average American of the same species. The best remedy would surely be to improve the manners and hygiene of the workingman over there. All the same, the ladies ought not to object to honest dirt, especially as they wish to retain the right to travel in the general carriages if they choose. Ladies have long since invaded the "smoking carriages" on the British railways, originally sacred to masculinity. Now that they have the vote they ought to be prepared to accept all that "equality" implies.

RECIPROCITY.

The United States should be doing a lot more business with the countries of South America, and the exports from Los Angeles Harbor to the southern continent should even be fourfold greater than they are. During the fiscal year which ended July 1 the United States imported goods from South America valued at $860,000,000. In the same period our South American exports were $490,000,000. There is a balance of trade against us in the case of almost every South American country. We take vastly of their cattle, coffee, rubber and nitrates, but they do not take enough of our manufactured goods to pay for the same. It would seem that we should send them enough farm machinery, buzz wagons and moving pictures to cover the trade balance. The Chamber of Commerce is directing an intelligent campaign for the extension of the South American trade of Los Angeles. All manufacturers and producers should cast their eyes toward the Latin republics. Their people need our wares.

ANOTHER SOVIET FAILURE.

While the method employed by Premier Giolitti in dealing with the Italian industrial soviets is not one that appeals to the Anglo-Saxon sense of justice, the results which he has thus far attained indicate that he understands the psychology of the Italian working classes and that the very freedom which he has given them to violate the law has awakened them to a sense of their folly. Three weeks ago the Italian labor unions attempted a new kind of general strike. In place of refusing in a body to report for work they formed mobs in the big industrial plants, drove out the owners and their representatives and took possession.

In the flush of first victory they thought they had reached the millennium at a single bound. They were in possession of the machinery of production; the only thing necessary was to produce. In the Fiat automobile works alone 40,000 workmen were employed. They organized a soviet and began turning out machines, just as they had done before, and expected to collect from the sales enough to pay them their own wages and the owner's profit.

According to the Communist theory that is what should have happened. The owners of the plants appealed to the Minister of Labor and to the Prime Minister for help. They said they were being robbed. As the workmen blew open the safes in the plants, appropriated all the cash they found and divided it among themselves, and, as they were using the material and machinery of the owners without paying for it, the claim of the owners was incontestable.

But Premier Giolitti declined to call out the state troops to rescue the property from the soviets; and the Minister of Labor, Arturo Labriola, took the side of the workmen and against the owners. Labriola is one of the early Italian syndicalists. As far back as 1905 he advocated mass action by the proletariat similar to that which has been manifested in the present Italian Communist strike. He advocated that the workmen should seize the factories and operate them, to the exclusion of the owners, at a time when Lenine was a Siberian exile and Trotzky was yet a German Socialist. In a treatise entitled "Reform and the Social Revolution," published in 1905, Labriola wrote:

> The revolutionary method consists in preparing the working class organizations to take control of the units of industry, both manual and managerial, by means of dissolution of all authority of state, political party, etc., which lies outside the workers' organizations. . . . With all the means of production in their hands and being prepared to take care of them, the government would fall into their hands like ripened fruit.

Minister Labriola, as the above indicates, was sympathetic with the soviet movement of the Italian labor unions; and, as Prime Minister Giolitti was noncommittal, conditions were propitious for the Italian soviet experiment.

Late cables from Italy, however, indicate that the experiment has been working badly, although there has been practically no government interference. One employer of labor, Signor Bautieri, doffed his hat to his workingmen with as much aplomb as though it were to his king when they came to commandeer his limousine, and clambered aboard a passing street car. Other employers assumed a similar attitude. The employees were in possession of the works; and they were confronted with the question, "What shall we do with them?" The money taken from the rifled safes was not sufficient to fill the first week's envelopes.

When the second Saturday came it was found that there had been practically no sales. Buyers held aloof, because they knew that the workmen did not possess title to the products they offered for sale. The banks would extend no credits and agencies would not send in to the workmen the money due to the owners of the plants. All shipments of material were stopped until cash should be paid in advance.

Millions of workmen were ready and willing to work; but there was no raw material and no money for the pay envelopes. While possessing the plants the workmen found themselves helpless. They had thrown the great machine of modern industry out of gear and its separate parts would not function. Premier Giolitti smiled and waited. The soviets declared that they would resist the whole Italian army; but the army didn't move. They were assailed, however, from an unexpected source. Wives and children clamored for money to buy macaroni and polenta and when the husband returned Saturday night without his pay envelope the life of the Italian industrial communities was wholly disorganized. The butcher, the grocer and the spaghetti maker were dependent on the pay from the factories to replenish their stocks. When that pay stopped their shelves and stalls were soon bare.

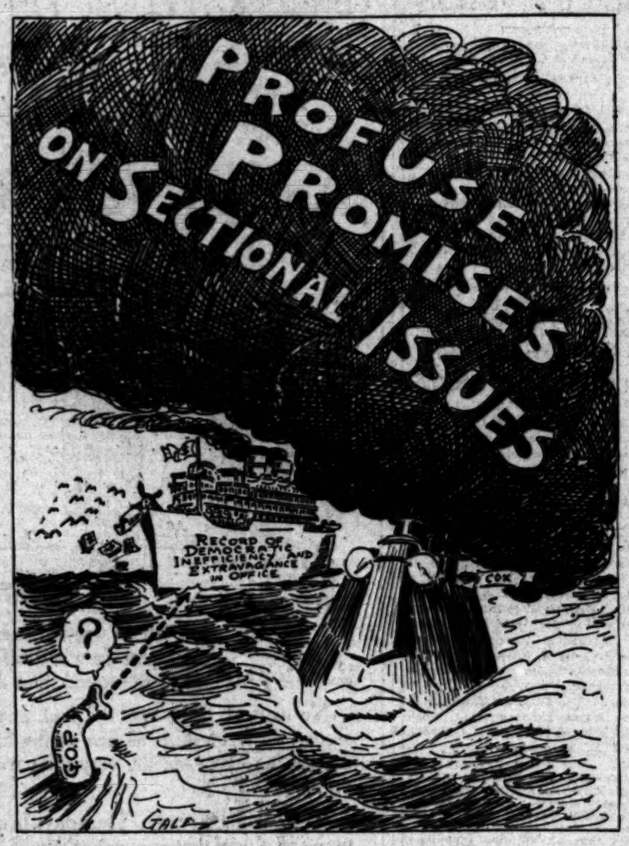
By the end of the third week a majority of the workmen began to view the industrial problem in a new light. They had discovered that there are unalterable economic laws never dreamed of in the Communist philosophy. Reports from Northern Italy last Saturday were to the effect that the workmen and voluntarily turned back the great majority of the plants and factories to their owners. The gaunt wolf of hunger had stalked before too many doors. They began to view their employers and their pay envelopes in a new light. The metal workers are still holding out, but the other industries are beginning to function again as they did before the soviet strike occurred.

Prime Minister Giolitti is still waiting. To a correspondent of The Times he said in Turin that neither the government nor the workmen of Italy would countenance any form of Bolshevism. He said that the workmen were not inclined to revolution, to destroy property or to rob the owners; but agitators had persuaded them that if they would but seize the plants they would find their own pay doubled and the cost of living reduced. He said that the situation is improving without government interference and intimated that the lesson which the workmen had learned in three weeks would not be quickly forgotten.

As it looks at this writing the sugar manipulators have a good laugh on Ponzi for trying to get rich quicker than they.—[Toledo Blade.

The Smoke Screen.



THE INTERNATIONAL COURT.

By the Supreme Council of the League of Nations meeting in Paris the most important question to be considered will be the constitution of an international court to which all justiciable questions and disputes arising among members of the League shall be referred. Elihu Root was called to London by the representatives of the Supreme Council four months ago to aid in drafting an amendment to the League providing for such a court. The tentative draft is completed and has been approved by three of the four representatives of the Supreme Council, those of the British Empire, France and Italy. The Japanese representative is still noncommittal.

When the original covenant was drafted at Paris in 1919 the international court idea was not included. There was no objection on fundamental grounds; but the peace commissioners felt that the time at their disposal was too short to permit them to formulate a plan for so important a tribunal. The armistice had already dragged along for six months and there was a general demand that the peace treaty should be completed as quickly as possible in order that the actual work of reconstruction in all the countries which had been at war might begin.

Mr. Root is now on his way home. Because America is not a member of the League he cannot take part in the final deliberations, and he realizes that his presence in Paris would be an embarrassment to the members of the Supreme Council. The draft has been prepared, however, with due consideration for the wishes of the United States, not of the present administration, but of the Republican administration which the European statesmen expect to see elected in November.

Mr. Taft, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Root, when the covenant was adopted at Paris, all expressed regret that no provision had been made for an international tribunal. It was strongly favored by the League to Promote Peace, an American organization nonpartisan in character, of which a number of the leading Democrats of the country who are patriots first and politicians after are members.

Senator Harding was one of the early proponents of the plan for establishing an international court which would decide questions of law as distinct from questions of policy. It is possible that the international court will become one of the issues of the present campaign. President Wilson is said to be opposed to the idea, largely for the reason that he objects to aught in the form of an amended covenant, and Gov. Cox will find himself confronted by the unpleasant alternative of opposing something which the great majority of the American people favor or getting embroiled in a controversy with the White House. Either horn of the dilemma will be unpopular. He must choose between the President and the people; he cannot satisfy both.

While the complete draft of the amendment establishing the international court has not been published, its authors have given to the press a fairly comprehensive outline. It will consist of fifteen members, eleven judges and four deputy judges. The term of office is fixed at nine years. The judges will be nominated jointly by the members of the Supreme Council and of the Assembly of the League. The names will be chosen from lists submitted by the national groups forming the League. It is proposed that its sessions shall be held at The Hague.

There is a recognition of the fact that all disputes arising between nations are not within the province of the international court. Questions local to different continents or regional localities are not classed as justiciable except on application of all parties to the dispute; just as there are questions arising in and among American States over which the Federal Supreme Court is without jurisdiction.

Specific questions are to be declared justiciable; but they do not include regional disputes, such as might grow out of the enforcement by this country of its Monroe Doctrine, a difference with Japan about admission of Japanese immigrants, questions relating to national tariffs and tolls. The collaboration of Mr. Root was requested for the express reason that the present members of the Supreme Council desired that there should be nothing in the amendment objectionable to the people of the United States.

In Europe, even more than at home, Mr. Root is regarded as one of the ablest authorities on international law. His success in drafting reciprocity treaties gave him an international repute.

The basic idea of the international court is to make the association of nations a league of justice rather than a military tribunal. Free peoples, when permitted to express themselves, have never failed to respond to an appeal of justice. As a last resort, as in the case of our own country in the World War, they do not shrink from answering by a call to arms.

Once the international tribunal is established disputes among nations will be first considered and judged by the court. The Supreme Council would not take up a disputed question until it has been passed upon by the international court and one of the parties to the dispute had declined to accept its decision. Compulsion would be the last word, not the first. It would become largely a moral issue with the nations associated in the League.

It stands to reason that the people of any country intelligent enough, diligent enough and progressive enough to become one of the great powers of the world would possess a chivalry and a sense of justice sufficiently developed to accept the decisions of such a tribunal as final. The World War proved that peoples can become commercialized without losing their sense of honor and justice. Bolshevism, anarchy and Communism might all have their day; but they would be judged by the tenets of immutable justice, the outgrowth of centuries of human development. While there may be objectionable minor provisions in the amendment constituting the international court and delegating to it certain authority, the fundamental idea is in keeping with the aspirations of free peoples to settle international disputes by arbitration and not by wholesale slaughter.

MEWSINGS FROM ARKANSAW.

Life isn't a long road. It only looks that way to souls that were born tired.

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who wore the Mother Hubbard and the Congress gaiters?

You might imagine that a person who wears nothing but a triplope and a one-piece gown should be able to dress as quickly as a fireman. But a fireman never pays any attention to the shine on his nose.

When a man sees a girl smoking a cigarette he knows that it wouldn't be hard to get a kiss from her. And he also knows that the kind of a kiss he would get isn't worth going after.

When a corn fed with a corsetless effect is approaching a man he has a hard time finding something in a window that will attract his wife's attention for a few moments.

A single girl thinks two can live as cheaply as one. And after she gets married she carries her belief out by wearing his necktie for garters in winter and wearing his socks around the house in summer.

After all, it is only proper that an American Beauty should have a rosebud mouth.

There are so many people in the world who like a free ride that it is hard to judge a man's popularity by the length of his funeral procession.—[Arkansaw Thomas Cat.

WHY THEY ENLIST.

The successful recruiting for military service which has been in progress in Kansas City this summer is readily explained. entering the service has been made a first-class opportunity and young men are not slow to respond. The opportunity that is now presented those who enlist means a chance for the young man to become a good citizen, a good soldier and a good American. It does not mean simply spending a few years in military training and a probable return to civil life with no specific preparation or definite aim.

The special training, vocational and civic, which is now provided for men who enter the service is aimed at the correction of the defects which the average American youth was found to possess when he was called to the service in the recent war. Entering the service now means that the young man will have a much better opportunity to fit himself for future life than he could have in any form of training or experience outside the service.—[Kansas City Star.

Is Romance Dead?

Is romance dead? I cannot mount

And seek for her adown the road to Yvetot,
Nor, sword in hand, chin hidden in

Challenge the passer-by, like
Launcelot,
I cannot build a tower upon a cliff
And make the wayfarer pay tribute to my might,
I cannot scheme to be a prisoner of

Nor play the Robin Hood or belted

What, then? I hie me to a stage

And buy a ticket to some near cities
And take my place upon its cushioned seat
Serene to wait what Fate will

Perchance some dame new-come from Iowa
Will strike a conversation as we

Perchance some veteran of Neuve

Will tell me how he fought and bled and died.

Perchance some Villa, guiltless of his country's blood,

While at my right a schoolgirl chews

That Wrigley flavors for a grateful world.

My Cousin Anne says her father was very fond of books and he got in a great way of giving books to the family for presents, although none of the rest of them was fond of the sort he specialized in and he got worse as time went on and one Christmas he gave Anne "Furnivall's Shakespearean Criticism" and the other sister "Richardson's Female Shakespearean Characters," and he gave her brother Furness's "Shakespearean Concordance" and the mother Hacket's "Notes and Comments;" and they decided things had gone far enough, so when the father's birthday came round Anne made him a present of a pattern for a silk skirt and one of her sisters gave him a pair of thirty-inch silk stockings and the other a pair of ladies' dancing pumps and her mother gave him a sealskin muff and her brother a lap robe that just fit the aforesaid brother's one-horse buggy.

Sol Kinderman says the artists of the world seem to have always been stuck on fine clothes and grand surroundings for the painting of their subjects, but we would know more about the past if they could have mixed in a little ordinary life as they went along.

A picture, say, of little King Charles as he looked when he had the mumps to put alongside the one with the coal scuttle on his head.

A picture, say, of George Washington with one of his galluses down and cooking flapjacks at Valley Forge to go along with the one where he is holding back his horse to keep it from stepping on him.

Any lady can put up a front in a wig and a broad-brimmed hat, but he would like to see what Gainsborough could have done with the Duchess of Devonshire with her hair down and her dressing gown sleeves rolled up as her maid and the little Devonshires saw her.

Also, his Uncle Mose has a picture of himself in the parlor up at his house as he looks with the emblems of the Eagles, the Masons and the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith on his bosom; but Sollie would like to have a picture of him as he looked last Monday morning when the prospective buyer of the $150 evening gown turned out to be a spotter for the profiteer-hunting branch of the Department of Justice.

TIBBIE FALL.

Doubly Gifted.

A New York authoress has gone into bankruptcy, her liabilities being $111,310.92 and her assets $500. It is seldom that one finds such a combination of literary talent with business genius.—[Cleveland Plain Dealer.

EDITORIAL OPINION.

Even Cox must be appalled by the futility of his speeches. No matter what he may say, nor how loud he may shout it, he cannot change the country's stubborn determination to wrest the government from the hands of bungling Democrats. Handicapped by the Wilson performances, Cox cannot possibly win.—[Baltimore American.

The nomination of Thomas E. Watson for United States Senator at the Democratic primaries in Georgia is an evidence of political demoralization without a recent parallel. For twenty years he has made no pretense that he is a Democrat. When the Populist party died he persisted in all its vagaries and violences and added thereto religious, racial and social bigotries which in any enlightened community should have consigned him to political oblivion. That such a man can be made a United States Senator by a progressive and prosperous State is a sorry commentary on the Democracy of the South.—[New York World.

For the first time since the "16-to-1" campaigns of Bryan there is an organized movement in Democratic ranks in support of a Republican candidate. Just as there were "Honest Money" Democratic clubs that supported McKinley, so there are Harding Democratic clubs giving aid, comfort and support to the Republican standard bearer in this campaign. The break in the Democratic ranks has come over the League of Nations. The number in the party who refuse to stand with the President for ratification of the treaty and covenant without reservations is legion. If they are the less Democratic for this, they are the more democratic for it.—[Buffalo News.

Maine speaks for itself; and it speaks also for the nation. The Republicans swept the State because the voters desired to register their confidence in the Republican party. There were no complications of local or State issues. There were no personalities which rose as candidates superior to party considerations. There was no apathy or indifference as to who won, or why. It was an old-fashioned party victory, planned to put out the Democrats and to put in the Republicans, and intended as a message to the nation for whatever effect it might have in November.—[Portland Oregonian.

President Wilson's refusal to reconvene the joint scale committee of anthracite operators and miners for the purpose of considering a new wage award is sound and straight to the point. As the President says, the action of the miners in quitting work because they were dissatisfied with the original awards "was a strike, no matter what name was given to it." It was, furthermore, a violation of a solemn contract which cannot be condoned in any way.—[Providence Journal.

The primary is sound in argument, but in effect it falls down. If it fails to provide the fulfillment of the wishes of the people it is a failure, and that is its fate. A reversal to the old conventions, even if they were not perfect, is a step in the right direction.—[Hartford Courant.

SEPTEMBER DAYS.

Diaphanous, delightful, gossamer threads are those that run through the loom of September. Drawn from the spools of summer, who would recognize them as the garish colors that came from the fabric of the heated sun? Yet there is no color or tint, however subtle and graduated to the nicest harmony, that was not brought into being by the showy sun of summer that lately spread its motley of riotous coloring over the earth. When the tangled skeins are unwound and run on the spools and played out by the movements of the loom in single strands all the garishness is gone. One looks aloft to the net invisible save for the marvelous tone effects that glint where the sun hangs low or where the clouds drape the morning. He fails to realize that he is rejoicing in the toning of summer's colors to the tints of autumn. But he is grateful for the gladness that comes with the higher artistry that the somber brush displays, as nature is transformed, from the sumac to the skies.—[Baltimore American.

A RARE REALITY.

Today we picture a steaming, gleaming ear of Golden Bantam corn, fresh from the pot, its luster enhanced by a bit of butter, its savor made piquant by a dash of salt and —for those who like it—pepper. The very thought tickles the palate. It is more than food. It is an inspiration. It makes us forget the Red terror, the political campaign, the high cost of living and cling to life and to our daily task for another week, when it may become a reality.

Such realities are rare. When one tastes the season's first ear of Golden Bantam corn, fresh from the pot—steamed, not boiled—one's attitude toward life is subject to change. The ordinary physical processes suddenly take on new importance. The business of fueling the human furnace becomes a pleasure. Faces across the table, bisected as they are by ears of Golden Bantam corn, take on new significance. They are a product of the corn, full of health, full of strength, full of life, full of possibilities for good and soon to be full of corn.—[Chicago Tribune.

If a owned a classy and high-priced tearoom in Kansas City I would not let the waitress pile knives and forks on the tables preparatory for the next guests while my present patrons were still dining. If I owned a ready-to-wear shop in Kansas City I would hire a few saleswomen who seemed to like their jobs. If I were boss of the police department in Kansas City I would have the crossing patrolmen spend a day in seclusion and send their uniforms to the cleaners.—[Dwight Thatcher Harris in Olathe Register.

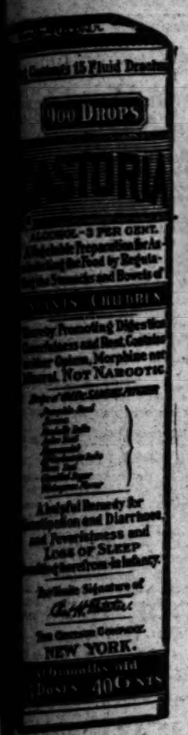
False Claims.

Hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for him; yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their baby that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been aiding in the reduction of deaths among infants as Mothers have become more and more acquainted with it. Always keep it in the house.



Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

CITY HEADS TO MEET REMAINS.

Body of Lorin A. Handley to Arrive from North Today.

Funeral Service to be Held in Highland Park Tomorrow.

Inquest on Prohibition Chief Postponed for One Week.

Arrangements for the funeral of Lorin A. Handley, State Prohibition Director and former president of the Board of Public Works, who was killed in an auto accident near Galt, Monday night, were completed here yesterday by City Treasurer Ned Powell and P. P. O'Brien, president of the Board of Public Works.

Accompanied by Ray Groves, secretary of the Democratic County Central Committee, the body will arrive from San Francisco at 10:15 a.m. today. It will be met at the Arcade station by city officials and members of the Democratic County Central Committee.

The body will be taken to the chapel of Arthur Cresse, 5566 Pasadena avenue, where it will be held until Friday at 2:30 p.m., when the funeral service will be held in Highland Park Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Campbell Coyle, the family pastor, conducting. The remains will be placed in a vault at Forest Lawn Cemetery. It is possible the body may ultimately be taken back to Mr. Handley's boyhood home, Franklin, Ind., for interment.

Reports yesterday from Lodi, where the body of Mr. Handley was taken after the rent car in which he was driving from San Francisco to Sacramento fell over a highway embankment, were to the effect that the inquest has been postponed for a week, owing to the inability of important witnesses to be present before that time.

The active pallbearers at the funeral will be U. S. Dist. Judge Bledsoe, John P. Carter, collector of internal revenue; Ned T. Powell, city treasurer; Mattison B. Jones, Charles H. Treat and Ray Groves.

Following are the honorary pallbearers: Mayor Snyder, Councilmen Conaway, Criswell, Farmer, Fleming, Langdon, Mallard, Sanborn, Wheeler and Workman, President P. P. O'Brien of the Board of Public Works, Hugh J. McGuire, U. S. Dist. Judge Trippet, U. S. Marshal Thomas Walton, John P. Elliott, Isidore Dockweiler, E. L. ...ARE HER TO SEE
THE DEVIL'S PASSKEY

MAYBE your wife or sweetheart is one of the hundreds of women in Los Angeles who have been afraid to come to see this play of Paris, the wicked and wonderful, fearing that the great Von Stroheim, who produced it, hurls darts of subtle satire at their own weaknesses, for Stroheim reads women like an open book.

Don't let her say, "Oh, we'll never be able to get in because of the crowds," and steer you away. Bring her to the early shows or make a date for a matinee. The play may touch a few of her sensitive points, but she'll be a better woman for seeing it.

...TH TREMENDOUS WEEK

WE have had to cancel all other bookings in order to satisfy public demand, and run this picture a fourth week, starting Sunday. All box office records have been shattered by the play that paints Parisian night life of today in its real crimson colors.

It will be given the same de luxe presentation this coming week with George Evans' augmented orchestra; Edna Mae Enos, songbird supreme; the atmospheric prologue, "The Thinker;" news weekly and other events. Don't miss the most talked-of photoplay of the year.

LOCAL TECH TO GET A BIG GIFT.

Pasadena College Enriched by $100,000.

Dr. Norman Bridge Makes an Additional Endowment.

Waving Confederate Flag is Source of Complaint.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Sept. 22.—Another gift of $100,000 to California Institute of Technology from Dr. Norman Bridge of Los Angeles was announced here today by Arthur H. Fleming, chairman of the board of trustees.

This gift follows a recent gift of $150,000 made by Dr. Bridge to the institute, formerly known as Throop College of Technology. The new physical laboratory building at the college, upon which work is to start in two weeks, will be called the Norman Bridge laboratory, in honor of Dr. Bridge.

AUTO DEALER IN JAIL.

Robert J. McNabb, prominent automobile dealer and clubman of Pasadena, was in the City Jail here today, having been surrendered by his bondsmen, who had put up $1000 bonds when McNabb was arraigned on a charge of embezzlement. McNabb has been remanded to the Superior Court by Justice of the Peace Raymond G. Thompson, before whom he was arraigned.

McNabb did a large business here in second-hand cars and trucks. The embezzlement charge was made by Walter I. Hildebrand of this city, who charged that McNabb sold his auto and appropriated the money from the transaction. It is reported that other charges of embezzlement, arising from alleged peculations of a similar character, may be filed against McNabb and the fact led his bondsmen to surrender the auto dealer. Meantime, a committee of creditors has taken charge of his automobile business, which is said to be deeply involved. Liabilities, it is reported, will reach $50,000 to $75,000. McNabb has been prominent in the Lions' Club and Elks' Club here and was one of the most popular young business men in the city. His arrest and confinement in jail provoked something of a sensation here. McNabb was trying this evening to secure new bondsmen and thus get his release from jail.

G.A.R. IS PEEVED.

Appearance on the streets, at the time some of the G.A.R. "boys" were leaving for Indianapolis, of a Confederate veteran, carrying an old Confederate flag, has roused the ire of John F. Godfrey Post, No. 85, Grand Army of the Republic.

At a meeting just held by Godfrey Post, attended by members who did not go to Indianapolis, resolutions were adopted to the effect that "we strongly condemn this incident because it is a taunt and an insult" to the 300 Civil War veterans here and "to every loyal citizen."

The resolutions state that the intrepid Confederate veteran was "dressed in Confederate uniform, girded with sword and pistol;" that he was carrying a "large Confederate flag" and was on the street September 16 and 17, "with a permit he obtained because he claimed to be a Spanish War veteran."

No one seemed to have the name of this Confederate veteran who caused so much commotion with Godfrey Post, although many citizens remember seeing him on the days the G.A.R. men were leaving. Many remark that the departing G.A.R. men did not regard the Johnny rebel's presence as an insult, but rather as a bit of fraternization.

CATHOLIC CHURCH PLANNED.

A beautiful new Roman Catholic church in Pasadena, to be situated somewhere between the Maryland and Huntington hotels, at the edge of the Oak Knoll district, is being discussed by local Catholics. It is said that Bishop John J. Cantwell has been investigating the project and probably will make an announcement concerning it upon his return from abroad. It is understood that many wealthy winter visitors in Pasadena have volunteered to make generous contributions toward the erection of the new church, which would be designed to be one of the most beautiful churches in the West. At present there are two Catholic churches here, St. Andrew's, a downtown parish, and St. Elizabeth's, in Altadena.

TWO THOUSAND HOUSES.

Two thousand dwellings and apartments are now in course of construction in Pasadena, it was stated today by Building Inspector C. B. Bucknall. Mr. Bucknall based his statement upon a review of the building permits issued here in the last two months.

Visit the famous Busch Gardens. Open, benefit Pasadena Hospital.—[Advertisement.

TIME TO PLEAD.

W. J. Hittson and William E. Shaw, clerks in a store owned by Francis Evans, and charged with petty embezzlement of $43.50 from their employer, appeared in Police Judge Chesebro's court and asked time to plead. Their case was set for September 24.

HARDING POPULAR AT SANTA ANA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 22.—Senator Harding will get most of the women's votes here if the proportion of ballots in a straw vote here is carried out in the fall election. In a poll being taken by a local drug store fifty-six women voted for Harding and twelve for Cox. The proportion for the men is nineteen for Harding and three for Cox.

RAISE GAS RATES.

Redlands Company secures Relief from Railroad Commission.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 22.—The long-suffering people of Redlands have received word that the State Railroad Commission has granted the Citrus Belt Gas Company a big increase in rates. The company is to have a $2.05 rate in Redlands instead of the $1.45 rate which has been in effect for two years.

This increase of 60 cents has been expected as it was forecasted by E. O. Edgerton, State Railroad Commissioner, when he held the hearing here recently. It is supposed that the increase will appear on this month's bills.

The company here threatened to close down if there was no increase in rates.

DEATH AT POMONA WAS ACCIDENT, IS VERDICT.

CORONER SAYS GAS WAS THE CAUSE; SPEEDERS ARE RELEASED; OTHER NOTES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Sept. 22.—The Coroner's inquest over the body of Leonard F. Glenn, at the Justin E. Patterson chapel today, resulted in a verdict of accidental death, caused by pulmonary hemorrhage, from inhalation of irritating gas.

Glenn was overcome by gas while engaged in fumigating trees at the E. T. Sederholm ranch, on the La Verne Road, yesterday. He was in the employ of the Growers' Fumigation Supply Company.

RELEASES SPEEDERS.

Police Judge Harry Mason relented today and Harold Collins and E. E. Johnson, who were sentenced to serve three and five days, respectively, in the City Jail for speeding, were released a few hours after their commitment. Parents of the offenders persuaded the judge to relent after agreeing that the boys would not drive an auto for six months and with the understanding that there would be a ten-day additional sentence in it for them if they violated the traffic rules in Pomona within the next two years.

INFANT IS INJURED.

Norman Granger, 3-year-old son of James E. Granger of Spadra, was painfully hurt in an accident this afternoon when a light car driven by the latter collided with one driven by Mrs. C. P. Humphries of Ontario, at the corner of Second and Rebecca streets. The little fellow sustained a badly-lacerated cheek and in the mix-up bit his tongue quite seriously. Neither of the others was injured.

BOY IS CRUSHED.

Paul Stiets, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Stiets of San Dimas, was severely crushed today when, in company with several other mischievous youths, he sneaked into the San Dimas Lemon Association house after working hours and proceeded to play with the hydraulic elevator. It seems that young Stiets was standing on the platform of the elevator when one of his companions turned on the power, which immediately raised the elevator to the roof, crushing the boy between the roof and the platform of the elevator.

The boy was discovered by the day watchman and was later removed to his home and given first aid and his wounds dressed by Dr. R. F. Rohifing. The boy was seriously crushed and it will be some time before he will be able to again take his place among the youth of the town.

KELP BEDS ARE IN MUCH BETTER SHAPE.

LONG BEACH BOATMEN SAY WAR RAVAGES OVERCOME; PLUMBER IS ARRESTED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 22.—Local boatmen report a revival of the extensive kelp beds that existed off this and other Southern California coast cities before the war.

The beds were then depleted and in many cases completely ruined on account of the demand for kelp for the manufacture of potash for munitions. Some of the beds were sheared so close by the unwieldly harvesters that they died and disappeared.

Many of the kelp beds, however, have resumed their former luxuriant growth and are one of the sights included in the itinerary of boatmen.

STREET CLEANERS FIGHT.

Because of differences between C. C. Horton, who holds a contract with the city for sweeping the streets, and W. E. Baxter, who owns the machine by which the cleansing operation is accomplished, no Long Beach streets have been swept the past couple of days.

A force of hand sweepers will be hired by the city tomorrow if Horton and Baxter have not settled their differences, it was announced this afternoon.

HELD FOR FELONY.

F. H. Richards, who formerly conducted a plumbing establishment at 612 East Fourth street, is being held in the City Jail on a charge of felony embezzlement. He was unable to furnish $1500 bail when arraigned this morning before Justice Hunter of Lomita, sitting for Justice Brayton of this city. Richards is charged with collecting sums of money on plumbing contracts and then failing to complete and in some instances even start work on the contracts.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE GROWS.

Long Beach schools show a 6% per cent growth over five years ago. Registration the first day of school of this year shows a total enrollment of more than 10,000, according to figures released by the Board of Education today.

The High School enrollment was 2567, grammar schools 7164 and kindergarten 556, a total of 10,079 pupils.

WATCH FRUIT CASE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

YUCAIPA, Sept. 22.—Yucaipa apple growers are interested in the suit filed by Rivers Bros., commission men of Los Angeles, who buy most of the Yucaipa fruit crops, against the Terminal Refrigerating Company, and Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company, before the Railroad Commission.

Rivers Bros. allege unlawful collection of cold storage charges last year amounting to more than $16,000. The charges were made on storage for Yucaipa and Oak Glen apples.

This is the first charge against cold storage houses, which are now under the commission. Rivers Bros. not only ask for refund, but also that the old rate of 25 cents a box be put on apples.

DUCK HUNTERS ACTIVE.

Indications Are Record Crowds will Visit Lake Resorts.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 22.—The duck hunters are making plans for their annual invasions of the hunting fields of the south, and indications are that Little Bear, Big Bear, Baldwin Lake and the Salton Sea will be overrun with hunters the opening day.

Baldwin Lake promises to be the big shooting place again this year and already boats are at a premium. Certain parties have laid in their cases of shells so as to forestall any shortage, and the annual pools for the biggest bags are being made now.

The season will open on October 15 and most of the hunters will be on hand a day early.

RIVERSIDE CELEBRATES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 21.— Sunday, September 26, has been fixed as the date for the dedication of the new band stand in Fairmount Park, erected at a cost of $5000. Features of the program include a short talk by Arthur B. Benton of Los Angeles, architect of the structure, concert numbers by the Riverside Military Band, vocal selections by Mme. Isobel Curl Plana, who spent her girlhood in this city, and the rendering of "The End of a Perfect Day," written by Carrie Jacobs Bond at the Mission Inn and dedicated by her to Frank A. Miller. COMISKEY HAS LITTLE TO SAY.

Can't Explain What Happened in World Series.

Baseball Probe Starts With Thrills Missing.

Prosecutor Says Information is Held Back.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Evidence that the world's series last year between the Chicago American and Cincinnati National League clubs was "not on the square" was presented to the Cook county grand jury, which today began an investigation of alleged baseball gambling, according to a statement issued tonight by Hartley Replogle, prosecutor in charge of the investigation.

Seven Chicago players are involved, Mr. Replogle said, but none of the Cincinnati players was implicated. He charged in his statement, however, that some of the witnesses were not living up to their pledges that they would make public all information they had.

ASK SEVERAL.

President B. B. Johnson of the American League, Presidents Charles Comiskey and William Veeck of the Chicago American and National League clubs, respectively, and several baseball writers were questioned today. Mr. Johnson told reporters he had presented testimony which he believed proved that some players last year had thrown games, but that he had no evidence of such actions this year.

Presidents Johnson and Comiskey, after being questioned for more than an hour each, were ordered to appear again Tuesday. The investigation will last for at least a week, Jacob ("Rube") Benton, New York National pitcher, will be questioned tomorrow and President John Heydler of the National League will be examined Monday or Tuesday.

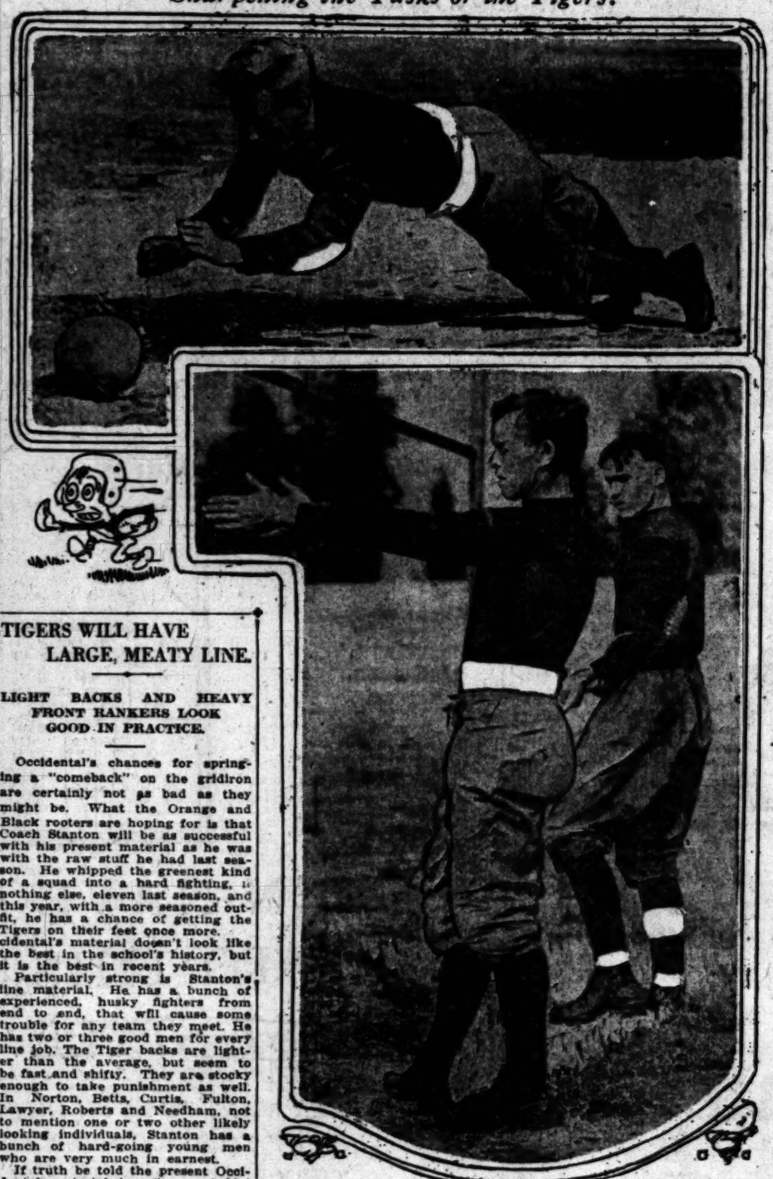
While little information concerning today's testimony was given out, it was reported that a new bunch of subpoenas would be issued shortly.

President Comiskey said he held up the world's series checks of several Chicago American players last year while investigating charges that had come to his attention, but declared he had obtained no proof against any player.

An armful of reports from private detectives was given the jury by President Veeck, but he declared that none of it furnished conclusive proof against any member of the Chicago National team. The reports dealt primarily with charges that the Philadelphia-Chicago game of August 31 had been fixed for Philadelphia to win, he said.

Subpoenas were issued tonight for John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Nationals; Barry McCormick, umpire in the Chicago-Philadelphia game August 31; John O. Seys, secretary of the local National League club; Ray Schalk, catcher for the Chicago Americans, and William Burch, former newspaper man. Charles Stoneham, president of the New York Nationals, and Joe Vila, a New York newspaper man, will be asked to appear later, Mr. Replogle said. The men subpoenaed tonight were ordered to come before the jury Tuesday.

Sharpening the Tusks of the Tigers.



TIGERS WILL HAVE LARGE, MEATY LINE.

LIGHT BACKS AND HEAVY FRONT RANKERS LOOK GOOD IN PRACTICE.

Occidental's chances for springing a "comeback" on the gridiron are certainly not as bad as they might be. What the Orange and Black rooters are hoping for is that Coach Stanton will be as successful with his present material as he was with the raw stuff he had last season. He whipped the greenest kind of a squad into a hard fighting, if nothing else, eleven last season, and this year, with a more seasoned outfit, he has a chance of getting the Tigers on their feet once more. Occidental's material doesn't look like the best in the school's history, but it is the best in recent years.

Particularly strong is Stanton's line material. He has a bunch of experienced, husky fighters from end to end, that will cause some trouble for any team they meet. He has two or three good men for every line job. The Tiger backs are lighter than the average, but seem to be fast and shifty. They are stocky enough to take punishment as well. In Norton, Betts, Curtis, Fulton, Lawyer, Roberts and Needham, not to mention one or two other likely looking individuals, Stanton has a bunch of hard-going young men who are very much in earnest.

If truth be told the present Occidental material is quite remindful of some of Stanton's old Pomona outfits with massive, plunging line and light, shifty backs. Considerably over sixty candidates are out for football this year. Yesterday five squads of about fourteen or fifteen men each, were on the job. Stanton's well-known method of jamming the fundamentals of the game into his players was being followed out and the men seemed to be going into practice with the right spirit.

Teaching the Fundamentals.

Coach Stanton of Occidental is going to see to it that the 1920 Tiger eleven is well grounded in the rudiments. Above, Peroxide Taylor is dropping on the pill in the most approved fashion, while down below Coach Stanton is showing a backfield candidate how to place the tootsies before booting the ball fifty yards.

SOME "FROSH" SQUAD FOR CLIFTON HERD.

Freshman Coach Herd at U.S.C. has one of the niftiest freshman football squads in the college ranks this year, no less than twenty-five candidates, practically all of whom are experienced, being out for the sport.

Chief among the list are Chet Long, all-southern interscholastic guard last year; Dick Lawson of Long Beach, the Hawkins brothers of Fullerton, Thacher Taylor and Baird Marble of L. A. High fame, Frank Von Mohr from Pasadena, and others. The list reads as follows:

George Campbell, back, St. John's Academy, Wisconsin; John Milton, back, Milwaukee High; John Hawkins, quarter, Fullerton; Arch Hawkins, back, Fullerton; Ted Kuchel, center, Fullerton; Frank Von Mohr, center, Pasadena; Baird Marble, center, Los Angeles; Thacher Taylor, back, Los Angeles; Orvall Buck, end, Poly; Oscar King, back, Venice; Harry Gordon, tackle, Queen Anne High, Seattle; George Freeman, tackle, Riverside; Ralph Cummings, tackle, Riverside; G. A. Perkins, end, Beaumont, Tex.; Kenneth White, back, Hollywood; Jack Kuhrits, back, San Diego Naval Academy; Willis Meyers, guard; Gifford Leece, end, Hollywood; Lewis Smith, end, Calexico; Bernard Kingham, guard; William Carpenter, Rochelle, N. Y.; Dick Lawson, end, Long Beach; Chet Long, tackle, Pasadena; Clif Borey, quarterback, Pasadena.

BANGTAILS TO RACE AT EXPOSITION PARK.

Three running races daily are on the Live-Stock Show's program at Exposition Park from October 2 to 10.

Opening day will feature a mile race between some of the best long-distance horses seen in Los Angeles in a long time. These horses have just finished a successful meet at Reno. The strings include Sam Hill, Sauer, Zamlock, Woodie Montgomery, Rutland Arms, Modiste, Miss Sedalia and others.

In the five-eighths-mile sprint race will run speedy horses such as Phrone Ward, Freedom, Fireplace, Juanita Frederick, Miss Manage and Maud Smith.

BREAKS PACING RECORD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Sept. 22. — A new world's record for 3-year-old pacers were established at the Grand Circuit meeting today. Frisco June, W. W. Fleming's bay colt, stepped the third heat of the Horse Review Futurity in 2:03¼, after dropping the first heat to Trampsafe, who, prior to today, had held jointly with Gen. Todd, the 3-year-old-colt pacing record.

After finishing fifth and seventh in the first two heats, Margaret Dillon won the Hartman Hotel Stake for 2:11 class pacers. Symbol S. Forest, driven by Walter Cox, won the first heat in 3:01¼, establishing a new record for the event.

Esther R., Murphy entry, won the third and last heat of the 2:07 class pacing continued from yesterday. She won yesterday's two heats. Best time, 2:04¾. The 2:18 trot was won in straight heats by Patrick Todd. Best time was 2:07¼.

Darvester, owned and driven by W. W. Fleming, outclassed the field in the first of the 2:13 pace, winning in straight heats. Best time, 2:04¼. Loyal W., driven by Erskine, had an easy time in the second division. Best time, 2:05¾.

BENNETT HILL IN FRESNO RACE MEET.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FRESNO, Sept. 22.—With the wired entry of Bennett Hill and the probable arrival of most of the drivers entered this week, practice spins being scheduled to begin Thursday, twelve of the best race drivers in America are scheduled to compete in the 200-mile San Joaquin Valley race here on October 2, the closing day of the Fresno district fair.

As the entries now stand, the following field is entered for the race: Bennett Hill, Edward F. Miller, Joe Thomas, Ralph Mulford, Edward O'Donnell, Eddie Hearne, James Murphy, Roscoe Sarles, Thomas Milton, Arthur H. Klein, Ralph De Palma and Gaston Chevrolet. From this field and the possible addition of Patterson of Stockton in a new 183-inch displacement car, the drivers will be narrowed to twelve, who will start in the 200-mile automobile grind.

Frank Lowry, official starter for the American Automobile Association and who is to officiate at the Fresno race, makes the statement that the fastest lap on the speedway will probably be turned at 106 miles an hour while it is confidently expected that the average speed maintained for the 200 miles will be around 100 miles an hour.

Bennett Hill, the latest entrant for the race here, took second place in the dirt track race at Fresno on Raisin Day and Eddie Hearne, crowned the dirt track champion and winner of the Raisin Day classic race, will also be a contestant.

MACOMBER BUYS FAMOUS STABLE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The stable of the late W. K. Vanderbilt has been sold to A. K. Macomber, millionaire American horseman, formerly of Pasadena, it is understood. The price named is 12,000,000 francs, the first installment of which, 5,000,000 francs, was paid today.

The sale, the reports state, includes the contract of Jockey Frank O'Neill, the complete stable of thirty-eight brood mares, four stallions, thirty-two yearlings, twenty foals and all horses in training, as well as the Poissy estate and the Deauville property.

"GENTLEMEN" TO SQUIRM TONIGHT

All Wondering Whether This is a Knock or Boost.

Thye and Clapham in Good Shape for the Match.

Wrestling Fans Give Lighter Man Slight Edge.

Ted Thye, middleweight champion of the world, and Sam Clapham, light heavyweight champion of England, meet tonight at the Los Angeles Athletic Club in what has been heralded loudly as a wrestling match between "gentlemen." Whether this is to be taken as a knock or a boost remains to be seen, but the general impression seems to be that the match will be a fiercely contested affair between two very clever wrestlers.

GOOD REPS.

Both Thye and Clapham have splendid reputations and have met some of the best grapplers in the game. Thye has been successful in holding his middleweight title against all comers, while Clapham has been taking 'em strictly as they came and has gotten away with a lot of victims since he last appeared in Los Angeles.

Clapham has stayed a long time against some of the best men of his weight in the business, among them Ad Santel and Earl Caddock neither of whom can be regarded as "soft." Clapham took Caddock on at Madison Square Garden while Caddock was still holding the world's championship and the Englishman was only pinned after a long drawn-out and exceedingly clever struggle.

HAS THE EDGE.

In the matter of experience Clapham has the edge, having been in the game for a good many years and having wrestled hundreds of men in all corners of the globe. Thye, while he hasn't met so many has probably been more successful on the average than Clapham. Both men are unusually strong and both are regarded as very clever men. Clapham is said to be a noble exponent of the toe-hold, while Thye has won a lot of fame with wrist locks of various kinds.

The chief difference between the men, and it should not be so much of a handicap, is in the matter of weight, Clapham jiggling the balance at just about 185 pounds, while Thye will weigh in at less than 170. This difference is not at all prohibitive, according to Thye, who confidently believes that he can throw the heavier man without undue exertion.

COMPARISON.

As far as the records of the men are concerned, there is very little to say as wrestling records are unreliable and never officially given the O.K. The only apparent line on the two men, will be found in the fact that within the past thirty days Clapham beat Bill Montana, Bull Montana beat Henry Irslinger, and Irslinger and Thye split even on two bouts. However, the comparison probably doesn't hold true and a very strong percentage of those supposedly in the "know" predict that Thye will trim his heavier opponent when they meet at the club tonight.

SACRAMENTO WILL KEEP FRANCHISE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—Lewis Moreing, owner of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, announced today the club would remain with this city next season. Moreing had asked the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce to exercise an option it held for purchase of the club. Moreing said he was eager to sell and would consider offers for the franchise from other cities.

The Chamber of Commerce today waived its option, voted confidence in Moreing's management of the club and the owner announced no effort would be made to dispose of the franchise.

LINCOLN ELEVEN TO MEET LOYOLA.

Coach Tommy Davis of Lincoln High will line up his first eleven today in an endeavor to whip it into shape for the first contest of the year, the practice game with Loyola College, which is scheduled for Friday afternoon. Davis believes that he has solved his backfield problem by shuffling the players around, switching Capt. Nason to quarter and putting Baner, former quarter, in Nason's place at half.

FINE MATERIAL AT POMONA

Eleven Varsity Men and Entire Last Year's Freshman Team on Job.

Out in the wilds of Claremont Coach Eugene W. Nixon and his Pomona College football stars have been toiling this week in preparation for the annual gridiron contests. The first turnout of the year was held Monday, but work will not begin in earnest until this afternoon when both the varsity and the freshmen will be on hand.

A PREDICTION.

When questioned regarding Pomona's chances for the season Coach Nixon was inclined to be pessimistic. "We have a wealth of material," he said, "but the stars we lost through graduation and discontinuance of studies will be hard to replace. Six letter men from last year will be missing and it is going to take a lot of hard work to make up for their absence. They can count on Pomona putting up an awful scrap this year and I hope that we shall be able to make a good showing. That is about all the prediction I can make."

The men who will not be back in uniform this year are ex-Capt. Marvin Greathouse, now married; Harold McClellan, end, now in Arizona; Clary Stover, quarterback, and George Pooley, Marion Wyman and Ed Chambers, lost through graduation. Stover is in college, but is carrying too much work to play football. This makes quite a hole in the Blue and White line-up and it will take some mighty good men to fill the gap.

HEATH HELPS.

An important announcement concerning the coaching staff is the addition of "Beefy" Heath, former Pomona tackle, and regarded as one of the greatest captains the Sagehens ever had. Heath will act as assistant coach and will give his attention principally to the line. He

Chicago and Cleveland Mix in Three-Game Series.

Indians Need Only One Win to Keep the Lead.

Both Teams Exhibit Class in Their Stick Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 22.—The Chicago White Sox, triumphant in their last six games, and the Cleveland Indians, winners of seven straight in the American League pennant scramble, rested here today for their important three-game series which starts tomorrow. With Cleveland setting the pace and Chicago only a game and a half behind, the series may go a long way toward deciding the winner.

Chicago must win two straight to displace Cleveland in the percentage table and three in a row will be necessary in order that the White Sox may leave here leading the league. Victory in any one of the three games will be sufficient to keep Cleveland in first place, although if the Sox take two out of three they will be only half a game behind.

Both the Indians and the White Sox have won their recent games through vigorous hitting, generally piling up leads early in the games. Chicago, although facing good pitchers on the New York and Philadelphia teams, in winning six straight, cracked out ninety hits for 117 bases and scored fifty runs to their opponents' twenty-eight. Included in the stick work were seventeen doubles and fourteen triples.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22.—Brooklyn drove another nail in the National League pennant today by beating Boston, 3 to 1. Smith kept the six hits well scattered. Konetchy connected with a homer in the eighth. The score:

Brooklyn Looks Like the Goods in the National.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Brooklyn retained its five-game lead in the National League pennant race by defeating Boston today, while New York was taking the final contest of the season with the Chicago Cubs. Cincinnati was eliminated from the race today by losing two games to Pittsburg.

Brooklyn, with a lead of five games over the Giants, has six more games to play, one with Boston and five with New York. The Giants have eight more games to play—two with Boston, one with Philadelphia and the five with Brooklyn. To win the pennant Brooklyn must win one game from the Giants and the final contest of the season with Boston on October 3, or win two of the five games with the Giants.

SEATTLE IS BIFFED BY THE SENATORS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 22.—Sacramento defeated Seattle today, 6 to 0, in six innings. A heavy, muddy field made playing difficult and the game was called on account of rain. Fittery held the Rainiers to three hits. McGarrigan, Sacramento second baseman, was injured when he tried to field a ball. The score:

SPORTSMAN DIES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NAPLES, Sept. 22.—Senator Ginistrelli, a famous Italian sportsman, is dead, according to announcement here.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Vernon again beat Oakland today, 7 to 2, but Acting Manager Mitze of the Oaks played the game under protest after trying in vain to get Umpire Phyle to call out two men instead of one in the seventh, so it will be up to President McCarthy to decide. But as Vernon was leading, 3 to 2, when the protest was made and Oakland made no runs after that, President McCarthy will probably decide that the decision Mitze kicked about had no bearing upon the final result.

But from the press box, it looked as if Mitze was right in his claim. With Smith on third, and De Vormer on second, Long hit to Ginglardi, who fired the ball to Mitze to head off Smith at the plate. Mitze ran Smith back to the bag, but De Vormer had rounded third for the plate and had to beat it back. Mitze tagged De Vormer as he was reaching for third with his hoof and when Smith stepped off third he tagged him. If that is the correct size-up of the situation both men should have been called out. But Phyle decided that only Smith was out, and Vernon made three runs in that inning after that.

Once again the Oaks had a splendid chance to win the game, but just as they did Tuesday they failed to rise to the emergency. Hack Miller fanned with the bases full, and when Hack does a thing like that, the Oaks look bad. Jack Knight, however, made good with a single and the Oaks scored their only two runs. The score:

Selling Diamonds, Real Gems, In Our Tailoring Establishment

Ever hear of such things as diamonds in a tailor store? We don't suppose you have, but you no doubt have heard of gems being sold in jewelry shops. For the information of those who have never heard of precious things existing outside of jewelry stores we volunteer to state that there are gems to be found in various other places. For instance there are gems of wives and husbands, who may be discovered in many homes, if you know where to look for them, and who are never mentioned in the newspapers. And so there are gems in this shop for all those who want them.

Suits $50 Overcoats

The gems we offer for this special price, are, of course, unlike the gems you find in the famous jewel shops, or in some happy homes, but they are gems nevertheless—gems of materials which we utilize in the construction of clothes for our dearest friends and customers. They are fabrics that withstand strenuous wear, endure the constant glare of Southern California sunshine and beautify their owners to a very marked degree. Such are the gems we offer, day in and day out, to the men of this fascinating city, who frequent our establishment, for the popular price of fifty dollars, and a trifle higher.

To give you a better idea of just what we call gems we would kindly suggest that you look at our window display, and observe the values contained in them. Incidentally, if you have a little time to step inside, so much the better. You are always welcome to look around.

Try us. You cannot lose. We won't let you.

Skin Without Blemish Every Woman's Wish

Disfiguring Pimples Cause Much Embarrassment.

How often do we see women who would really be good looking but for some unsightly facial blemish that spoils her complexion and her chance of being considered attractive.

A clear ruddy complexion is an unmistakable sign of a vigorous, healthy vitality, while pimples on the face indicate a depleted, run-down condition of the system.

A healthy, attractive skin is usually within reach of every woman, but it cannot be obtained from the use of cosmetics or so-called skin foods. First of all it must be realized that the condition of the skin depends entirely on the condition of the blood, and no one can have a clear, pure, healthy skin unless the blood is robust and healthy and free from all impurities.

Pimples and blotches on the face or other parts of the body are not only a source of embarrassment, but they are also a warning from nature that should not be promptly heeded. They indicate that the system needs a thorough cleansing — that foreign matter has crept into the blood to interfere with its perfect performance, and that a sedentary clogging up of the tissues through the skin pores will result unless proper treatment is resorted to.

And skin naturally leads to the query: "What is the proper method of treating diseases of the skin?" A very common mistake is to rely upon local remedies, such as lotions, salves, ointments and other applications to the surface of the skin.

But eczema, tetter, pimples, skin eruptions and similar disorders that cause so much discomfort, are not merely a surface condition; their cause lies deeper, and you will never be entirely rid of the terrifying itching until you realize that their cause must be reached and eliminated.

So the answer is: "Seek the cause and remove it." The real source of all skin disorders being in the blood, the proper treatment must be through the blood. Rout out of the circulation the disease germs, and your skin will clear up and become normal and healthy.

The one remedy that is being used with uniform satisfaction is S.S.S., the fine old purely vegetable blood medicine that has been on the market for more than half a century. This splendid remedy builds up the blood supply by removing from it any impurities, and gives excellent results in all cases of skin disorders.

Throw aside your lotions and ointments and treat the source of your trouble, if you wish to be free from skin disorders and blemishes.

Get a bottle of S.S.S. from your druggist today, and you will be pleased with what this remedy will accomplish. Then, if you want special expert advice you can obtain same without cost by writing fully to Chief Medical Adviser, 282 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Next week "Spud" Morrison will bring his Santa Ana High School stars to Claremont for a scrimmage with the Blue and White squad. It will not be a regular game, Nixon announces.

THE REGULARS.

The varsity men who are once more in the fold and who will undoubtedly appear in the first game include Ed Covington, captain and quarterback; Bill Cooper, end; Macy Chambers, guard; Warren Elliott, center; Bruce Elliott, tackle; Derwood Baker, center; Gordon Bell, tackle; Jack Rich, guard; Charles Valle, end; Charles McClain, fullback; Chauncey Voorhies, halfback, and Gerald Dennebrink, tackle.

Coach Nixon is sweet on a number of last year's freshmen players. In the first two days they have been showing a world of speed and a tendency to bust things up in general. Four of these men look especially good. They are Eugene "Red" Kennedy, halfback; Ray Wilson, halfback; Glenn Doughty, fullback, and Atherton Cliff, center. The entire Frosh team from last year is again on hand. Coach Nixon smiled broadly all Tuesday afternoon as twelve of last year's peagreen stars gamboled over the field. Harold Lorbeer, Harry Bowman, Llewellyn Smith, Don Cole, Clio Thomas, Lauren Handley, Fritz Maurer, Bill Houghton, and Braven Dyer were all members of the 1920 peagreen squad which went through the season without a defeat.

runs over the plate in the fifth on Bassler's single, Nichoff's hit to right and Ellis's double to left, scoring Bassler and Nichoff.

The Angels' big chance came in the eighth, but the punch was not there. Killefer started off with a walk. McAuley struck out. Killefer went to third when Agnew threw wild to Walsh to catch Red stealing. Zeider up. Nobody will ever know what Zeider was trying to do with the seals' infield, which was playing close in.

Be that as it may he popped up a little hectic foul to Agnew. Sam Crawford was then called upon to save the day, but the best Sammy could do was to send a lazy fly to Kennedy. That punctured the Seraphs' bubble and they retired for the evening. The score:

NEW TALMADGE LEAD.

HARRISON FORD WILD PLAY OPPOSITE SISTERS.

By Edwin Schallert.

The Talmadge sisters are to have a new leading man, and by the same twist in filmland developments the Coast loses one of its most popular comers in the picture-acting profession. This is Harrison Ford, who quietly took his departure a day or so ago for the East to become associated with the Schenck interests in New York City.

Mr. Ford has achieved particular fame here by his appearance as leading man with Paramount productions. He is one of the most successful and popular of the younger actors.

It was his desire to return east for a time, and he received a particularly agreeable proposition for principal masculine roles in the Talmadge pictures. He is to appear with both Norma and Constance in their features.

Chicago Opera Visit.

The plan for the visit of the Chicago Grand Opera Company is agitating locally, after remaining in the unsettled stage for several months. And this time definite action will be taken.

The company desires to play two weeks in this city. Two weeks have already been booked in San Francisco. It is probable that the necessary guarantee fund will be raised by the leading business and musical interests locally.

Maud Allan in Europe.

Maud Allan, the celebrated esthetic dancer, has completed her South American tour and is now in London. She has an engagement to fill in Paris before returning to this country early in the new year.

Miss Allan has spent considerable time in this city between seasons.

Honeymoon Special.

A compartment car dubbed "The Honeymoon Special" will arrive with the Lark today, bearing Allen Holubar, the young director, and Dorothy Phillips, his star. The car acquires its name from the fact that Harry Bucquet, Mr. Holubar's assistant in the making of "Man, Woman, Marriage," took unto himself a wife in Piedmont on Saturday, Mr. Holubar and Miss Phillips being guests of honor.

Mr. Holubar had a special car to bring Miss Phillips, the bride and groom, James Kirkwood, his leading man; H. Lyman Broening, his cinematographer, and other members of his staff back to Los Angeles.

Final scenes for "Man, Woman, Marriage" were made in San Francisco, with the Bucquet wedding to a Piedmont society girl taking place between scenes.

The members of the Holubar company who did not make the trip have decorated the Holubar studios with all manner of junk from the prop room, the articles ranging from teething rings to rolling pins.

Grauman Concerts.

Sid Grauman will start the fall and winter season of symphony concerts at his theater October 3, at 11 o'clock. Misha Guiteron, the Russian violinist-conductor, will make his Los Angeles debut as musical director of Grauman's orchestra.

The program for the opening concert of the new series will include the overture from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream," Tschaikowsky's "Valse des Fleurs," Pierne's Serenade, Litolff's "Robespierre" overture, Rachmanioff's Melodie and Strauss's "Blue Danube Waltz." Mme. Anna Russena Sprotte, the contralto, will be the soloist.

Henry B. Murtagh, organ soloist at Grauman's Theater, will offer a special organ recital next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Success is Directing.

The policy of changing directors for Louise Glaum on the completion of each individual production was disregarded by J. Parker Read, Jr., when he re-engaged Wesley Ruggles to make "The Leopard Woman," after the clever young director had put the finishing touches on a previous picture.

"The Leopard Woman" is to be the second release on the Associated Producers program, according to present plans.

Mary Privileged Name.

Everyone of the name of Mary is to have a special admission ticket to the Kinema Theater Monday afternoon, according to announcement from that house. The occasion is the presentation of the film version of George M. Cohan's "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," in which "Mary" figures prominently. Several songs in the original musical comedy production were woven around the name, for instance, "Mary is a Grand Old Name" and "So Long, Mary."

Pasadena Community.

A modern version of "Rip Van Winkle" is being presented at the Pasadena Community Playhouse this week, and in its new form the Washington Irving tale preserves all its delightful qualities.

The play has been simplified by reducing it to three sets and eight scenes instead of the score or more of the original version. Garnet Holme is directing the production in the absence of Gilmor Brown, who is on a vacation.

Otto Matieson gives a very capable interpretation of the leading role, and others in the cast are Mrs. J. W. Morin, Edward Murphey, Raymond Jarecki, Fisher H. Joy, Mary Novis and Robert Higginbotham. The musical setting, provided by Will Rounds, is enchancing the quality of the production.

NAVY RESERVE MEN CALLED FOR CRUISE.

The first division, United States Naval Reserve, will go on its first cruise of instruction Sunday. The men will leave the Pacific Electric Station at 8 a.m. and proceed to the Submarine Base to get preliminary instruction on the Eagle boats and submarines. The men are asked to get in touch with Lieut. H. S. Ryerson, telephone 61061.

INCORPORATIONS.

Motion Picture Securities Company, incorporators Clyde L. Clarke, E. J. Alpaugh and W. D. Curtis, capital stock $100,000, subscribed $300; Healy Power and Engineering Company, incorporators Patrick J. Healy, Patrick J. Golden, Otto J. Emme, Lee M. Rosecrans and Charles F. Healy, capital stock $100,000, subscribed $50; Chancellor B. Thornton Construction Company, Inc., incorporators Chancellor B. Thornton, Lillian F. Thornton and Frank G. Falloon, capital stock $50,000, subscribed $300.

On the Silver Sheet.

Naomi Childers (right) plays a leading role in "Earthbound," coming to Miller's next week, and Seena Owen has the principal part opposite Bert Lytell in "The Price of Redemption," now at Tally's.

FLASHES.

FAVORITE TO RETURN.

BERTHA MANN ELECTED FOR LOCAL THEATER LEAD.

By Grace Kingsley.

Theatrical producers do seem given to changing their minds almost as often as women. Oliver Morosco has indulged in a regular orgy lately.

For instance, it seems that after all Grace Valentine isn't going to come West as the Morosco Theater's leading woman. New York is loth to let her out of the principal role in "The Cave Girl," the play in which she has been appearing at the Longacre Theater for several weeks.

However, Morosco patrons need not be cast down, for the new leading woman will be—well, you may have three guesses. I knew you couldn't. Bertha Mann, no less!

During her engagement here Miss Mann was one of the most popular leading women that the Morosco ever had. Though she spent about two years there, it seemed to that she rivalled Mr. Shakespeare's Cleopatra in that "custom" could not "stale her infinite variety," or words to that effect.

Miss Mann is even now leaving New York to come West, and her first return bow to Morosco audiences will be made in "The Little Teacher." Since she played here last she has had very great success in New York, appearing at one time with the Barrymores.

Mr. Morosco himself is reported to be on his way West, but so often have those Morosco people cried "Wolf," that we have to print the story with crossed fingers.

Another interesting development of Morosco plans concerns Francis X. Bushman and Beverley Bayne. And thereby hangs a tale.

The pair were supposed to appear in the leading roles in Paul Dickey's new drama, "The Rainbow Bridge," but it seems that there was that in the intimate domestic drama which the two objected to portraying, so other actors will assume the parts. At present it appears likely that Mr. and Mrs. Bushman will have star parts in the Morosco picture productions.

Fanchon's Own Theater.

It looks as though another woman producer were to have her own theater. Also, the lady in question will be the youngest theatrical producer in this country. She is none other than Mlle. Fanchon of the Fanchon and Marco Revue, now appearing at the Mason, who is only 24 years old.

A group of western capitalists have offered to build Mlle. Fanchon a theater, and it is likely, she stated last night in course of an interview, that following the Chicago and New York run of "The Satires of 1930" she will return west and spend her time in production activities in her own theater. This house will be located either here or in San Francisco.

"I believe," said Fanchon, "that distinctively western revues should be produced, as those from the East smack of eastern traditions. We've tried to accomplish the result in our moving picture satire and burlesque in our present show. I think there is a vast deal of material which has so far been left untouched out here, and I don't believe we have to go to New York for all our ideas."

Sounds Fair Enough.

You can't beat these picture directors for realism. Take Paul Scardon, for instance. Mr. Scardon is responsible for "Milestones," now showing at the California, but he also has the honor to be Betty Blythe's husband.

Miss Blythe is playing the Queen of Sheba in a big Fox production in which Fritz Leiber, the well-known Shakespearean actor, is King Solomon. While it doesn't appear from the Bible that there ever was really anything between these two potentates—in fact, it does seem the queen visited King Solomon only once and that when she found he was wise she went right home—still, the Fox production is to show a love affair between the two.

"Mr. Leiber is coming over to our house tonight and he, my husband and I are going to work out our love scenes," said Miss Blythe, yesterday.

"What's the idea?" we asked the lovely Miss Blythe, "of having Mr. Scardon on the job?"

"Why," retorted Miss Blythe indignantly, "he naturally directs all my love scenes, doesn't he?"

Will Rogers Writes.

"Even if Will Rogers couldn't come to the disabled soldiers benefit given the other night at the Alexandria by the Motion-Picture Directors' Association, he sent a most amusing letter, also a check. By the way, the letter was auctioned off for a goodly sum. Here it is:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—and you, too, directors: Kindly accept my regrets at not being able to come and annoy you-all personally tonight; but on going to the Goldwyn wardrobe room at the last minute they told me every dress suit was gone. Barker and Schertzinger got the last two left. As it is money this affair is given to raise, I am inclosing a check which is worth more than all the jokes I could think of.

"If Doraldina does that dance she used to do in New York, where, after every dance, she used to take off something, kindly let me know how many retakes you have on it. If she gets started, there won't be a director there with the presence of mind to holler 'Cut!'

"Just for scenic value if Tom Mix is there, get them to open with a long-shot of one of his overcoats; then to a close-up of all the leading men, and you will see the shade of grease paint they wear, by looking on their coat-collars.

"You made a mistake by having this on the same night that Bull Montana had a previous engagement, because two affairs of equal social importance should never be held on the same night.

"Regards to all who are sober.

[Signed:] "WILL ROGERS.

"P. S.—As I just gave a check to the architect, the landscape gardener, the plumber and the contractor, would advise you to get to the bank early in the morning with this one, as somebody is going to lose out."

Political Note.

Some sidelights on Gov. Cox's visit to the Hollywood studios Tuesday are offered by an observer, who declares that the Presidential candidate stated that work around a picture studio didn't look like work, but like playing. And he didn't mean any pun either.

It seems Gov. Cox spied Katherine MacDonald, but had no idea she was one of the great stars, so he spoke up, saying, "Come here, little girl!" and Miss MacDonald came.

He had a chat with her, and then the fair Bessie Love loomed on the horizon. Naturally he was introduced to her, and wished her "all the luck she wanted." She returned the compliment.

"But I had my fingers crossed," explained Bessie, "Of course, he's nice and all that, and I wish him luck, but not all the luck, he wants, because I'm a Republican."

Just then Gov. Cox caught sight of Louise Fazenda's comedy bathing girls, and his manager had to call "Five minutes!" on him.

Marshal Neilan Flits.

Marshall Neilan's company left last night for Glacier Park, Montana, where many scenes for "Pards," from the Ben Ames Williams's story, "Not a Drum Was Heard," are to be made. In the company were Mr. Neilan, James Kirkwood, Marjorie Daw, Priscilla Bonner, Pat O'Malley and Wesley Barry.

An immense amount of paraphernalia, sufficient to fill ten freight cars, was carried, and a special train has been engaged by the company. Among the props will be forty stunt horses. These will be augmented by 300 of the common or garden variety of horse.

A whole car is required to carry the blimp airship which is to be used. Other cars will transport three gigantic lighting plants, 400,000 rounds of ammunition, camping supplies, etc. In all fifty people will make up the staff of players and technical men who will make the trip.

There wasn't anybody in the company who was so elated over the trip probably as was Wesley Barry, the kid actor. He declared yesterday they had wanted to carry his teacher along, but he said "nothing doing" very firmly, and she got left at home.

If It Excites You to Know It.

Frank Urson, former assistant to Cecil De Mille, has been promoted to a full-fledged directorship. His first work will be with Wallace Reid.

Ruth Roland was the honor guest at a small party given at the beautiful new home of Charlie Ray at Beverly Hills Sunday afternoon.

Mack Sennett announces the completion of his sixth five-reel comedy, "Love, Honor and Behave."

Pauline Frederick is taking a short vacation between pictures.

Elmo Lincoln is preparing to go on a lion-hunting trip in the Sierra Madre Mountains.

Mme. Doraldina has originated a new Hawaiian dance, which she will perform in her Metro picture, "But Yet a Woman."

Doug Fairbanks Goes Away.

Douglas Fairbanks has taken his entire company on location to the San Fernando Valley. It is Doug's intention to film several of the big scenes for his forthcoming production, "The Black Fox," an adaptation of Johnston McCulley's story, "The Curse of Capistrano," which ran serially in a popular magazine.

With all available data and history as a guide, an actual replica of the entire city of Los Angeles, as it appeared under the domain of the Spanish settlers, was constructed.

Clara Young Home.

Clara Kimball Young has returned from New York, bearing a nice fat contract with Pathe. Her first picture to be made under the new regime will be a filmisation of "Julie Bon-Bon."

Locklear's Swan Song.

"The Skywayman," the late Lieut. Ormer Locklear's picture, which shows his last flight, drew capacity houses to the Garrick, where the feature was moved yesterday. The stunts that made him famous are performed by Locklear in "The Skywayman" and have been caught by the camera in a series of remarkable close-ups. The aviator proves himself an actor as well as daredevil.

William Elmer, in the role of Pilot Ted McCann, also distinguishes himself. Louise Lovely is the leading woman.

A Ben Turpin comedy, "He Looked Crooked," is on the program.

Musical Comedy Hit.

"Havana Bound" is the title of a nautical musical comedy with pretty girls and funny dialogue that heads the Hippodrome bill. Erford's Golden Whirl introduces an aerial novelty presented by three shapely misses.

Burt Adler tells a line of clever stories that keep the audience, while Gene and Katherine King in song and talk have an entertaining offering.

Martin and Elliott offer a descriptive display of different dance doings, and the Pathe News completes the show.

Barrie Bulletin.

Sir James M. Barrie is expected to arrive in this country in December. Later he will come to Los Angeles, according to word just received. The picturization of "Sentimental Tommy" will be made in New York.

Arbuckle's Kind Heart.

This story is not to be taken as a suggestion that Roscoe Arbuckle will continue to do what he has done once; it is merely a statement of fact—

Lou Anger, friend and associate of the Paramount comedian, was bemoaning his inability to secure a new closed car that he wanted. "I can't get delivery for months and months," he complained, "and I want it at once, for the rainy season is coming on."

The two were riding in Arbuckle's car at the time. Roscoe was at the wheel.

"Here, take the wheel," he said to Anger. "If this car spits you, it's yours!"

And Arbuckle proved that he meant it by signing the papers then and there. As Anger made ready to drive off in the car, Arbuckle hailed him.

"There's just one think I ask," he called, "Don't come around again at Christmas!"

Hotel Theater to be Premier House for First National

Announcement that the theater now nearing completion as a unit of the new California Hotel on Wilshire Boulevard is to be a premier house for all First National attractions, under the direction of Gore brothers and Sol Lesser, was made yesterday. Messrs. Gore and Lesser stated that arrangements had been completed with the home office and J. D. Williams, general manager for First National, for the immediate booking orders.

The prices of seats in the hotel theater will range to $1.50 and every seat will be reserved. Tickets will be sold two weeks in advance. Joseph Urban, New York artist, is to paint the curtain and settings of the stage. The orchestra, which is to be a chamber music organization, will have twenty violins, four 'cellos, two violas, two harps, two flutes, one cornet and two bass violins. The theater will have a seating capacity of 750.

URGES ADVERTISING IN ALL PROFESSIONS.

ONLY THOSE ASHAMED OF OWN BUSINESS NEED SHUN IT, DRUGLESS HEALER SAYS.

Newspaper advertising is applicable to any business of which a person is not ashamed.

This was the statement of Dr. J. B. Palmer, dean of chiropractors, who last night addressed a big meeting in the ballroom of the Alexandria and before that held the noon hour crowd interested at the City Club luncheon. Dr. Palmer is head of the Palmer School of Chiropractic at Davenport, Iowa, the largest nonmedical institution in the world.

Speaking of the value of newspaper advertising, Dr. Palmer said:

"If a man builds a better mousetrap than his neighbor and uses printer's ink to tell the world about it, the world will beat a path to his door, although he may live in the wilderness."

Bitterly denouncing the custom which has heretofore restrained certain professional men from the use of newspaper space to sell their services, Dr. Palmer said:

"It is no longer unethical for a professional man to tell the truth about himself in the advertising columns of a newspaper, but it is foolish for him not to do so."

Tonight at the hotel Dr. Palmer will conduct a clinic which will be open to the public.

TO SHOW THE PUBLIC HOW MONEY IS SPENT.

NEAR EAST RELIEF COMMITTEE MEETS HERE AND DECIDES ON EDUCATIONAL DRIVE.

To show the public the work that money contributed in the Near East Relief campaigns has accomplished in Assyria, Persia and Turkish and Russian Armenia, an educational drive, in which scenes in these stricken lands will be shown on the screen and described in lectures in the various clubs and societies, will be launched the coming year, it was announced yesterday at the annual conference of the Near East Relief Committee here.

"In the orphanages now maintained by the relief committee there are 110,000 children being cared for," said former Judge H. N. Wells, speaking to the conference, "enough to encircle a table twenty-four miles long. But there are yet 100,000 children destitute and needing food and shelter. To save these from the fate of the 150,000 who died from starvation last year, the Near East Relief Committee has hit upon the plan of showing people of this country just what conditions exist and to what extent the money already contributed by them has helped to save human lives."

The conference opened yesterday morning and closed last evening with a dinner at the City Club. Dr. Isaac Yonan, the "Hoover of Persia," who was to have been the principle speaker, was not present, due to delay in train schedule from the north. John W. Mace, field secretary, spoke on rehabilitation work among the Armenian girls.

Some years ago there was a slaughter house in this territory. The People's Market Company planned to reopen it, but property owners protested to the Supervisors and asked for a restrictive ordinance. The petitioners were represented by Attorneys Mimmo and Woodward.

The police say the couple had separated.

Detective Johnson, who was investigating another case in the apartment-house, rushed down stairs and saw Elder bending over the prostrate woman's body and snapping his revolver, he stated. He called to Elder to halt. Elder ran and Johnson fired once in the air. After a chase of two blocks, Elder ran in behind a house. Johnson says Elder snapped his revolver at him but it failed to work, whereupon he grappled and threw the man, holding him until the police arrived.

Patrolman McGuire reported that a man answering Elder's description attacked Mrs. Elder near West Sixth and Figueroa streets two weeks ago. At that time, the woman screamed for help. McGuire chased her assailant about a block when the man jumped upon a motorcycle and fled. Elder has a motorcycle of the same description, the police say. McGuire said that Mrs. Elder told him that the man who attacked her was her husband and that he had thrust a revolver into her side, threatening to shoot her unless she would agree to sign a quit-claim to some property both were interested in.

Elder, who is a carpenter, refused to talk until he could consult an attorney.

INVESTIGATE CRASH.

Injured Child May Die; Police Detectives Start Inquiry.

Police detectives yesterday began an investigation of an automobile accident on Pasadena avenue in which Neil Gritton of Eagle Rock, 5 years of age, was perhaps fatally injured. The child's hurts were received last Monday when a car driven by his mother, Mrs. A. Gritton, struck a motor truck driven by W. C. Cain of 353 Central avenue.

Witnesses told the detectives that the smash was caused by Cain cutting a corner.

The injured boy is in a private hospital.

PASTOR BACKS POOLROOM.

Rev. James Stephen O'Neill, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church at Glendale, has signed a petition widely circulated in that town asking the town Trustees to amend the ordinance which prohibits poolrooms, and by his support of the project finds himself in opposition to most of the other churches in Glendale, members of which will hold a prayer meeting this evening and then march in a body to protest to a meeting of the trustees against changing the antipoolroom ordinance, up then for final decision.

"I signed this petition because in Glendale we have no places where young men can find amusement," said Father O'Neill yesterday.

"We have even no town park, and no baseball grounds.

"I think that a poolroom, properly conducted, will be a good thing for the young men of Glendale. It will help to keep them away from the 'bright lights' of Los Angeles. Moreover, Mr. Cushman, the young Englishman who is asking for a poolroom license, has given a pledge to me, and to the business men who signed his petition, that his proposed establishment will be conducted without objectionable features.

"It has come to my ears that I am accused of signing a petition to establish a 'hell-hole' in Glendale because the man who wants to invest in it is a communicant of my church. This is not true. Mr. Cushman is not a Roman Catholic."

Practically all of the business men of Glendale have signed the petition asking the trustees to amend the ordinance, and to grant a license for a poolroom to Mr. Cushman, Father O'Neill says.

But the Glendale churches, with the exception of St. Mark's Episcopal and the Christian Science Church, which have remained neutral, and the Church of the Holy Family, Roman Catholic, have ranged themselves against Mr. Cushman's enterprise. The Glendale Ministerial Association also condemns the move to permit a poolroom in Glendale, as does the Federated Brotherhood, an inter-church organization.

TO IMPROVE AVENUE.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday appropriated $15,000 from the general fund for the improvement of Florence avenue. This money will be spent over a distance of about four miles. The recommendation was made by Supervisor McClellan.

OUTLINES CURB FOR COLORADO.

Student of River Talks to Chapter of Engineers.

All-American Canal Scheme Declared too Costly.

Cheaper Plan Will Irrigate Half-Million Acres.

Control of Colorado River flood waters, irrigation of 500,000 acres of new land, and reclamation of the old river channel are embraced in a plan which was presented to members of the Southern California chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the University Club last night by J. C. Allison, an engineer who has spent years studying Colorado River problems. He illustrated his talk with photographs made from an airplane.

Mr. Allison offered in place of the proposed all-American canal a proposition which would, first of all, crowd the Colorado River back into a portion of its old channel leading to the Gulf of California. The next step would create a gigantic storage basin which would make 1,300,000 acre feet of irrigation water available once a year for the irrigation of 500,000 acres of new agricultural land in the west end of Imperial Valley. The third point is that his plan would create a silt barrier twenty-five miles in length that would forever stand as a barrier between Imperial Valley and the Gulf of California, forcing the turbulent river to keep to its old course and exhaust its flood waters into the gulf.

The proposed storage basin would be created in the vicinity of Volcano Lake and its water could be conveyed to the west side of the valley via a high-line canal. This plan would afford irrigation water as far north as Coachella Valley. Mr. Allison called particular attention to the fact that this canal would be in conformity with the topography of the country, and not practically opposite to the contour of the land, as is the case, he said, with the proposed all-American canal.

About seventy-five of the foremost civil engineers in this part of the country heard Mr. Allison's talk and took deep interest in his remarks, particularly his discussion of what he called absurd features embodied in the all-American canal plan. He called it a ridiculous proposition, absurd in conception, excessive in cost and practically impossible of maintenance. He said it contemplated cuts as much as 160 feet deep for as many as twenty miles, through loose sand, and that the speed with which its engineering features would permit the waters of the Colorado River to pass would be so much less than the speed at which it should travel that the channel would constantly silt up and require costly dredging to keep it open.

Mr. Allison pointed out that the work he outlined would cost only from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 and could be done within two years, while the all-American canal project would cost at least $50,000,000, and would require many years of construction work.

Rich Pasadena Woman Regains Lost Jewelry.

A receipt for her fare given by a taxicab driver yesterday enabled Mrs. M. J. Hixon, wife of a Pasadena millionaire, to recover jewels valued at $35,000 and contained in a $500 gold mesh bag, which had been missing for a week. Mrs. Hixon and her six children, are staying at the Blackstone, Chicago, en route to Europe. A week ago she left the gems in a yellow taxicab. She recollected that she had retained the receipt given her by the driver and through it she recovered the treasures.

It was ascertained that a man named Sam Dorsky was the driver. Officers of the detective bureau took the receipt to Dorsky and he gave up the jewels. Chicago dispatches say that he declared he had been waiting for the offer of a reward. He was not held.

The Hixons live at 1050 Arden Road, Oak Knoll. Mr. Hixon is said to have large oil interests. The family spends the winter in Southern California and has a summer home at LaCrosse, Wis. At the Pasadena home it was stated that the Hixons intended to leave Chicago for New York yesterday and had planned to go abroad for several months.

CARROLL TO RETURN.

Former City Council Minute Clerk Will Have Job Again.

David M. Carroll will, on October 1, return to his position as minute clerk of the City Council, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by City Clerk Wilde. Mr. Carroll left the position May 12, after many years in the city service, securing an eight-month leave of absence from the Civil Service Commission. He then entered the employ of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. President Workman and the other members of the Council yesterday expressed to Mr. Wilde their pleasure in learning that Mr. Carroll will return to his old place in the Council chamber.

VINEYARD DAY CROWDS SHOW.

Orchard and Grape Men See Tractors Operating.

Glendale Exhibit Justified Already by Turnover.

Motorization of Farms Here Called Good Example.

Orchard and Vineyard Day at the National Tractor Show of the West at Glendale brought out thousands of citrus and deciduous fruit growers and vineyardists yesterday. Exhibitors of tractors, implements and equipment especially designed for work in getting out the great fruit crops of the Southwest held the boards, demonstrating and explaining to interested groups of men and women the usefulness of their mechanical aids to better fruit farming.

Visitors were struck with the many new improvements to tractors and implements designed for use in plowing and cultivating fruit groves and vineyards. Tractors with metal shields which protect low-hanging branches and fruit were shown; implements which reach under the trees to the very trunks, shown with branch protectors, interested many fruit growers. Many designs of citrus orchard heaters which do not smoke up the surrounding country were seen. One concern had a miniature citrus grove in which to set off an exhibit of orchard plows.

Guy H. Hall, manager of the big farm power equipment exhibition, stated that, judging from reports made to him by exhibitors, enough tractors, implements and trucks were sold to farmers during the first three days of the show to prove the usefulness of the project and to justify a repetiton of the event each year. Many Imperial Valley cotton raisers bought equipment yesterday.

Southern California leads the country in the motorization and modernization of farms, according to H. E. Everett, of Philadelphia, editor of the Chilton Tractor Journal, who is visiting the show.

Today will be "Cotton Day" at the Tractor Show, and Imperial, Palo Verde, Salt River and Coachella Valley farmers will be shown special attention, and mechanical equipment for use in raising more and better cotton will be featured.

Youth and Age Must Not Mate, Judge Advises.

Uri Metcalf told in Judge Jackson's court yesterday how unhappiness had resulted from his marriage to Emma J. Metcalf, his junior by twenty-five years. He asked for a divorce on the ground of desertion and was granted a decree.

Judge Jackson delivered a homily based on the facts in the case. He said:

"Youth and old age don't go together in the married state. The single men in this court room would do well to heed this admonition."

Attorney Isador Morris, counsel for Mr. Metcalf, introduced a letter from Mrs. Metcalf to her husband. She wrote in part:

"Listen, old man. We are twenty-five years apart. Tempermentally, we are apart. We always have been and always will be. We can never catch up those twenty-five years. The best way is for me to say goodby."

No Damages to Man Who Drank Wine and Fell.

A jury of seven men and five women heard in Judge Wood's court yesterday the story of an accident that dealt with two drinks of wine and an empty wine bottel. The participants in the suit were W. M. Nicholson and John S. Baker. Mr. Nicholson demanded $10,000 damages for injuries he received when he stumbled in a hole on the Baker ranch, breaking the wine bottle he carried and badly gashing his face.

The story was that Mr. Baker had some wine remaining in a cask last April. He invited Mr. Nicholson to have a drink. William See was also present. They had several drinks. Then it was suggested that Mr. See would like to have a bottle of wine. Mr. Nicholson started off to find an empty bottle. The accident happened on his return to the winery near Norwalk.

After the plaintiff's evidence, Judge Wood instructed the jury to find for the defendant on the ground that the accident happened through no fault of Mr. Baker.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Cotton Situation Improves; Local Stock Soars; Postoffice Boxes Scarce.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Los Angeles interests are so definitely interwoven with the cotton industry of Arizona that the crop conditions and labor and price trend are of vital importance here.

Advices from Phoenix, which is the center of the big Salt River Valley cotton belt, say that within the past week there has come a much larger degree of confidence than that prevailing during the earlier summer. The weather has remained cloudy and hot, an exceptionally favorable growing condition, which will serve to increase the crop far above earlier estimates.

The stagnation which has been felt in the cotton market, and includes all grades, has been especially noticeable in Arizona, because much of the crop produced there finds outlet through the automobile tire industry, which uses this high-grade Pima long staple for the best of the cord tires.

This condition, both growers and buyers assert, will pass within a few months. In the meantime a strong organization has been established that will provide funds for carrying the cotton over the winter, if necessary, while a local representative will be sent to England to secure recognition of the Pima in that market.

A few sales of long staple have been reported at 60 cents at the gins, by growers who had to have ready money, but the standard price appears to be around 85 cents, at which several October deliveries have been contracted. At this price there has been a small sale to English spinners, who desire to place the Pima long staple in comparison with the Egyptian, which it really surpasses in strength and length, though not in luster or fineness. The Egyptian holdings are reported short, although about 240,000 bales are held by American spinners.

"HAVE A KEB!"

It looks as though the Yellow Taxicab Company has come to stay. At least, the backers of the new transportation organization assert an optimistic assurance that Los Angeles will give liberal support to the enterprise, which is still in process of financing.

According to a statement made yesterday, a profit was shown the very first week of operation, and plans are being made to have over fifty of the cabs in operation by the time the tourist season is under way.

There has been a liberal movement of stock on a $10 basis, and the company asserts that the issue will soon be absorbed and a sharp advance recorded.

REDONDO PACKING.

A big run of mackerel in Redondo Bay during the past ten days has extended the activities of the Redondo Packing Company to its maximum capacity. This concern cans a smoked mackerel after the Scotch method, which has been adapted so successfully to modern methods that the Redondo plant is many thousands of cases behind on its orders.

The Chamber of Commerce has interested itself in this enterprise and through its industrial department has aided in bringing to general attention the merits of a growing industry. This department, by the way, is doing a fine work in intelligent aid towards building up pay rolls of Southern California manufacturers, and the bread cast upon the waters is beginning to return.

REFUNDING PLAN.

The Liberty Loan refunding plan suggested by Joseph W. Harriman, president of the Harriman National Bank of New York, is receiving the careful consideration of Los Angeles bankers and financiers, who recognize the magnitude of the undertaking, but agree that a condition of stability and balance would be given the money market if something of the kind could be brought about.

It is suggested by Mr. Harriman that if a merchant sold a bill of goods to a responsible purchaser and took in payment a note, the merchant would indorse the note and borrow money from the bank to extend his business. Now he argues that the United States government is somewhat in the position of the merchant in that it has the obligation of the Allies, and that an arrangement should be made whereby this debt should be placed in, say, a fifty-year 6 per cent obligation, with sinking fund, etc., and that the United States government should guarantee these bonds and offer same in exchange for our outstanding Liberty Bonds to an equivalent amount.

Naturally, a financial undertaking of this magnitude would require Congressional legislation and time to carry it out, but if in the form as above outlined or in some modified form, such a proposition could be consummated, it would result in, first, the reduction of our taxes, and, second, an advance in the market value of our Liberty Bonds, and thus would relieve the congestion of rediscount in the Federal reserve system.

LIBERTY COPPER.

The financing of the Liberty Copper Mines was said yesterday by E. S. Coplen, president, to be progressing satisfactorily, and a large development work will soon be under way at the company's holdings in Yavapai county, Arizona, contiguous to several of the big producers. According to Mr. Coplin, copper is back, for he points out that many essential industries are dependent upon it, notably electric distribution and hydroelectric power production. The Liberty is planning an extensive program of development of the twenty-six contiguous lode claims controlled by the company in which Los Angeles capital is largely interested.

LOCK BOXES SCARCE.

The life of the man behind the window in charge of lock boxes at the general and branch postoffices in Los Angeles is not a happy one. It may be possible to make two blades of grass grow in the place of one, but he can't produce two postoffice boxes for one, and that is just about what is needed to meet the demand.

While Los Angeles has been growing by the well-known leaps and bounds, whatever they are, the box crop has stood still, and not a one has been added to the list at the main office in about three years. In place of 1584 now in use 3000 could be used, and the waiting list is longer than a queue of hardy amusement hounds waiting for entrance into a moving-picture temple.

The same condition, cut back to proportion, exists at every one of the branch stations, and business men who are seeking the accommodation are outspoken in their opinion of the government at Washington, which may still live, but which gives little indication of mortality in the matter of supplying a long-felt want.

About 80 per cent of the box-holders are permanent, and, while there are some relinquishments every quarter, there is seldom a box to be rented after the first week.

LOS ANGELES INVESTMENT.

It has been known ever since the annual meeting of the Los Angeles Investment Company last winter that the downtown holdings of that corporation were for sale, and that when they were disposed of the company would concentrate its energies upon the opening of subdivisions and the building and selling of houses.

Therefore, the announcement made yesterday of the disposition of the largest of these parcels, the Investment Building at Eighth street and Broadway, while not exactly a surprise, had an immediate effect upon the stock, which has been displaying airplane tendencies for several days, or since the present negotiations which were consummated yesterday had assumed a definite tenor.

As a result of the transaction the stock moved up seven points on the floor of the Los Angeles stock exchange yesterday, although only the inside circle knew just what it was all about. The opening was at 94 cents, six points higher than the Tuesday close. Then came a one-point reaction and then a rush of buying orders, which quickly sent the price to $1. Trading interest in the pit was concentrated in this stock, and considerable excitement attended the bidding.

From par there was another break to 97½ cents followed by a quick recovery to a morning close at par. In the afternoon heavy trading was resumed and before the last call nearly 25,000 shares had changed hands. Final sales for the day were at $1.01 and the closing bid $1.00½, with the cupboard bare of offerings at any price.

The balance of the market afforded no feature, although prices were well maintained and the undertone excellent. In the morning Mascot sold down to $2.27½, but rallied sharply in the afternoon and regained its Tuesday high of $2.40. Southern California Edison sold up to $87; United Eastern, $3.05. Liberties were in good demand and fractionally stronger in some issues. At the close a slight weakness was manifested in a few of the listings, but, on the whole, it was the liveliest day the exchange has had recently.

CHEAPER AUTOMOBILES.

The price slashing indulged in by Henry Ford was the most-discussed feature in the wire board rooms yesterday, together with its probable effect on other lines. As a result, motor and rubber stocks were depressed from one to four points. The situation in the automobile industry is clearly indicated by the information brought out as the result of the Ford action.

Rumors were current yesterday that General Motors might be the next to join the decline, and the financial district will not be surprised to hear of other cuts at an early date, in spite of statements on the part of dealers and manufacturers that none such are contemplated.

The statement made by Ford himself that a general reduction is the only way raw materials can be forced on the market and prewar conditions brought about received general indorsement, and the opinion was freely expressed that we are at last launched on a definite commodity price decline.

IRRIGATION BONDS.

Irrigation bonds are again attracting the attention of the country bankers, according to the Bank of Italy, as the bond department of that

LEADERS ARE STEADY ON PRODUCE MARKET.

CANTALOUPES AGAIN ADVANCE SHARPLY; LETTUCE AND ONIONS DECLINE.

Although some of the leading lines were selling to local retailers and peddlers at a sharp decline during the session at the Wholesale Terminal yesterday, the undertone of the market was firm, and many of the offerings, which were in good demand throughout the day, made short advances. Receipts of potatoes from the north were heavy yesterday, but the rail arrivals of other lines were limited, and the country offerings were moderate, with the result that most of the stock was moved during the early hours of the day. Best Stockton potatoes were steady, but the poorer offerings were in slow demand, and the market was about 20 cents per sack lower for this grade. Four-tier Bellefleur apples again weakened, the market ruling 5 to 10 cents per box below previous quotations.

Local arrivals of lettuce are increasing, with the result that prices for this commodity are on the downward trend. Prices dropped sharply for all grades of lettuce yesterday, sales ranging from $1.00 to $1.25 per crate, as compared with $1.25 to $1.50 per crate on the preceding day. Business in onions was also heavy, moving at declines ranging from 10 to 15 cents per sack, according to quality and condition. Lima and string beans were down 1 to 2 cents per pound under the day's movement.

A feature of the session was the sharp advance made by cantaloupes, which again moved up 25 cents per crate, making a total advance of 50 cents since the opening of the week. Offerings were very light, and the demand for this commodity was brisk. Canaba stock moved to local buyers, selling at 70 to 85 cents per box, as compared with 60 to 75 cents per box of Tuesday's session. Although no cars were in Hemet, stock of very good quality sold at about 25 cents per box higher. Local tomatoes moved up about 10 cents per lug over previous prices.

Ships that Fly the American Flag:

For nearly a century the United States has had to depend upon ships flying foreign flags for carrying the goods we wished to sell to foreign markets. Our merchant marine was freighted with handicaps and disadvantages. Only the strongest and most soundly established shipping enterprises could succeed under such conditions.

But now we are determined to have a merchant marine of our own and to place it upon so sound a basis that it can compete profitably with all comers.

Evidence of this determination is found in the Jones Law, passed last June. Whether or not this law stands in its present form, it clearly indicates the temper of the times and substantiates in a large way the encouragement American business wishes to give this industry.

Such an attitude, whether or not expressed in legislative terms, will result favorably upon all American shipping enterprises and upon industries closely allied to shipping. Among other results, it will greatly strengthen overwise very attractive marine equipment securities and make them prime as a class of investment.

The China Mail Steamship Corporation is a successful shipping enterprise. It survived foreign competition and is on a sound business basis. Its securities would be attractive under the old regime. Under new conditions, this Corporation's First Mortgage 8% Serial Gold Bonds are doubly attractive, having every essential feature of a sound and profitable investment. Bonds mature serially, thus increasing equity. The price is 100 and interest and the yield is 8%.

As a practical investment for your funds, we recommend these marine equipment bonds. Decide today to ask for full information. Just call, write or phone—no obligation!

Bond Market

BY C. F. SEIDEL,
Manager, Bond Department, Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank.

There is a general convergence of conditions which is again bringing the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company's $10,000,000 issue of First Lien Ten Year Marine Equipment 7% Convertible Gold Bonds into marked prominence in the bond market.

The chief feature has to do with the recent statement that the Mexican Petroleum Company, a subsidiary interest of which is owned by the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company, has acquired leases on about 750,000 acres of oil lands located just north of the great Tampico region in Mexico.

Other matters, which bespeak prosperous conditions, probably in the immediate future, are recently announced increased annual dividends; the possibilities of a loan to Mexico; the recent statements of President de la Huerta on the Mexican-American oil situation, and the policies announced by Alvaro Obregon, the newly elected President, who takes office in December.

* * * * *

The 750,000 acres acquired through lease by the Mexican Petroleum Company in the vicinity of Tampico, shows great oil seepages and more than doubles the company's oil territory, which, before this acquisition, totaled 640,000 acres. Geologists estimate there is more oil underlying the new leases than under the company's old territory.

The Wall Street Journal recently stated that the net earnings of the Mexican Petroleum Company were running at the rate of $24.00 a share on the common stock and are tending upward as a result of increased production and better prices. The dividend announcement named an increase from $16.00 to $12.00 annually. No change was made in the Pan American rate.

* * * * *

President de la Huerta, at a luncheon given to foreign correspondents in Mexico City this month, stated that Mexico does not desire to change American domination of that country's oil production. "On the contrary," he stated, "we would welcome such preponderance if our laws were obeyed." The latter reference was to the recent diplomatic correspondence concerning the proposed concessions in Mexican federal zones.

The statement of President-elect Obregon, contained in his first interview since his election, is of even more importance. His will not be a one-man government, he asserted, announcing that he intends to appoint cabinet members capable of running their own departments. A commission to study the oil problem, he said, will be appointed before he takes office in December.

* * * * *

The election of Obregon to the presidency is looked upon favorably in American banking circles. Many bankers are of the opinion, according to the Wall Street Journal, that the matter of a loan to Mexico will be favorably considered. In 1919, when a loan was under discussion, it is understood, but not officially confirmed, that the United States government refused to participate in a guarantee. Washington, according to the Wall Street Journal, is expecting a better and more orderly administration under Obregon, and bankers, therefore, feel that when the question of financial assistance arises again, "it will not be frowned upon so quickly in administration circles."

Gen. Salvador Alvarado, Mexican Minister of Finance, recently returned to Mexico after a visit to New York bankers. "While no immediate loan is contemplated by Mexico," he said, "it is possible that after the inauguration of the new President, Gen. Obregon, negotiations will be opened for such assistance."

* * * * *

All of these things tend to show that the future of Pan American and Petroleum Transport Company, through its subsidiary, the Mexican Petroleum Company, is extremely bright. It is needless to say, therefore, that the marine equipment bonds of this company, now on the market, present a splendid investment opportunity.

These bonds are obtainable at the Bond Department of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank at 94½ and accrued interest, yielding 7.80%.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Trading on the stock exchange today was again restrained as a result of recent events calculated to bring about a revision of estimates dealing with general industrial conditions. Observance of the Jewish holiday also served to curtail operations.

In addition to developments pertaining to the motor trade and its collateral branches, there was much discussion respecting the immediate future of the steel industry, especially as to maintainince of prevailing prices. Gossip dealt in the same strain with the metal market, including coppers.

Motors, oils, steels and shippings suffered extreme reactions of 2 to almost 5 points, coppers, sugars, leathers, chemicals and textiles yielding 1 to 3 points. The cheaper rails again provided the chief element of strength with tobaccos as the only firm to strong specialties. Sales amounted to 700,000 shares.

Opinions from authoritative banking sources regarding future credit conditions were encouraging greater price stability being predicted, especially for foodstuffs and other raw materials. Call money was offered at 7 per cent, but time funds evinced a firmer tendency. Foreign exchange was erratic, sterling rallying after weakness.

Domestic and foreign bonds were featureless on enlarged dealings. Total sales (par value) aggregated $14,500,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

This issue was placed on the market in the middle of last week, and, while it is only a $510,000 issue, the fact that small banks throughout the country are interested is interpreted by the Bank of Italy as a sign of returning prosperity.

BANKING SITUATION GOOD.

In a statement made yesterday the National Bank of Commerce declared the general banking situation to have improved substantially in the last few weeks, in spite of high loans.

Stocks Headed Up or Down?

A decline in security extending over a period of nearly a year, due to industrial deflation, it is of interest to know whether the downward movement has ended, or whether the next utility which has reached bottom place represents a high preparatory to a further decline.

In view of the extreme importance of this question, we are prompted to indicate the probable trend of the market over the balance of the year in an editorial appearing in our current Market Review.

This publication, which currently discusses developments in industrial, oil and mining securities, will be sent to investors free upon request.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCHES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—Believing that the tropical storm which hit the Louisiana coast last night would spend itself without serious damage to the crop, cotton interests led by the South sold heavily today and broke the market more than $3 a bale. October sold to 27.02 and January to 24.10, representing net losses of 75 to 110 points, while July dropped to 21.90, a new low price for the season. An exceptionally favorable weekly government crop report increased the bearish sentiment among the traders.

Later the decline extended to 27.30 for October, or 145 points under last night, due to reports of lower southern spot markets, but shorts covered at the close and most prices were 40 to 95 points net lower.

Petey, listen hard:

when it's your good luck to butt into Buffalo, go to that store on Ellicott Square where the dark haired clerk slips out Camels with both hands—plus a tank of talk on the side!

The thing that tickled me most was his sureness that I was after Camels! As soon as I had my coin on the counter and before I could say a word, he flashed me a package of Camels! When I asked him how he knew I wanted Camels he took a pull on his laugh stock and soaked me with this:—"Can't tell you, old mayonnaise—I'm dressing!"

After he had waited on several other men who drew their Camels like I did, this salesman said:—"For a fact, most men here smoke Camels. They hit the popular taste! Camels have the right body and the right mildness and the right flavor. They're all right!"

And, Pete—he added this without a stutter:—"The more I see of the world and the more I learn about cigarettes, the more respect I have for Camels and Camels quality! I don't believe a better cigarette could be made at any price!" and, Pete—oh, Pete—listen to this gem: "And it's an odds on bet I'm a good judge. I've tried 'em all—and my taster is the jury box!"

If that isn't a swell line of Camel talk I'll sell my shoes! But, Peter, that salesman is right! It's my belief that no cigarette in the world can be favorably compared with Camels—they're so smooth and mellow and delightful!

I'm herewith slipping between the sheets, old book. So, you tell 'em the rest—you're full of knowledge!

Sincerely
Shorty

RAISIN COMBINE CASE IS HALTED.

Associated Yields on Points Condemned by Government.

Order to Show Cause Against Injunction Discharged.

Trial of Case on Merits Put Over to Unnamed Date.

Yielding on methods condemned by the Federal government, the California Associated Raisin Company, a $5,000,000 corporation of the San Joaquin Valley, yesterday entered into a stipulation which resulted in the discharge of the pending order to show cause why it should not be enjoined from acts declared to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. It has been stated that if an injunction had been granted by the Federal court at this time it would have paralyzed one of the greatest industries of Southern California.

On the motion of John T. Atwood, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Palmer, the order was made in U. S. District Judge Bledsoe's court dismissing the order to show cause, after explanatory statements had been made by attorneys representing the government and the company.

MOTION FOR DISMISSAL.

W. A. Southerland, of counsel for defense, said he would file a motion for the dismissal of the bill, but no time was agreed upon as to when the motion should be argued.

Judge Bledsoe expressed a preference for an oral argument on the points to be raised, and this will probably be done.

The suggestion was made in the stipulation that the case be tried on its merits in November, but no definite agreement was reached on that point. The chances are that if it is tried during the month it will be heard at the Fresno term of the United States District Court.

The stipulation that was spread on the records of the court is as follows:

THE STIPULATION.

"It is hereby stipulated and agreed by and between the plaintiff, the United States, acting by its United States District Attorney, J. Robert O'Connor, and the defendant, the California Associated Raisin Company, acting by its attorneys, W. A. Southerland, C. L. Evarts and Carl Lindsey, that the order to show cause now pending in the above entitled suit is discharged, that the defendant company agrees to convey to certain raisin packers, to-wit: American Seedless Raisin Company, Bonner Packing Company, Rosenberg Bros. & Co., Guggenheim & Co., and Chaddock & Co., at least 20,000 tons of raisins to be used by such packers in their business; that a like amount shall be delivered by the defendants to the California Packing Corporation to be likewise manufactured for the trade; that the contract at one time existing between the California Packing Corporation and the defendant company which was condemned by the Federal Trade Commission, has been canceled and is no longer in force and effect; that defendant hereby agrees to abandon all contracts and forms of contracts of the kind known as 'firm at opening price' contracts and 'guarantees against decline' contracts; that the defendant stands ready to release all growers of raisin grapes now under contract with it from such contracts if such growers claim they were coerced into entering into such contracts, and that it will proclaim by advertisements in the newspapers of Fresno county, its willingness to so release grape growers; that defendants agree that no option had by the company under any contract shall be exercised pending the hearing of the suit. Otherwise the situation shall remain in statu quo. Defendant will not interefere nor attempt to interfere with packing of raisins under other brands than its own. Parties further agree that preliminary motions aimed at the bill, shall be disposed of at the court's earliest convenience and immediately following the making up of the issues that the case shall be set down for trial at the earliest date the state of the docket will make possible."

HIS EYES OPENED.

In presenting the stipulation, Mr. Atwood said he had not been impressed until he came to Los Angeles with the great damage that would result to the raisin industry of Southern California, if the case was pushed now. He recognized that business depression would ensue in the raisin trade at least if the government insisted at this time upon the pending hearing. He said that the aggregate amount of raisins prepared and marketed in the San Joaquin Valley amounted to about 190,000 tons annually. By this agreement about 60,000 tons will be released and cared for outside of what the reputed raisin combine could handle. All sides to the contention have agreed to the stipulation, and he believes that the provisions of the document are fair to all concerned. It adjusts or rather readjusts the raisin situation, and with that in view there is no disposition on the part of the government to press the order to show cause. In his opinion the stipulation will bring the relief prayed for.

In ordering the dismissal of the bill, Judge Bledsoe said he was glad to acquiesce in the suggestion of the attorneys on both sides. He said that since the complaint was filed he had studied the matter very closely and especially the findings of the Federal Trade Commission, on some features of the raisin business. He had come to no conclusion, however, on the merits of the prayer of the government. That was a debatable question. But he was impressed most deeply by the probable chaos that would ensue to the raisin industry if the motion was pressed at this time for a writ of temporary injunction. The consequences would be most disastrous, in his opinion.

COURT CONGRATULATES.

Judge Bledsoe said he is not very enthusiastic over government by injunction, and that it should never be used except when other means fail. The court was glad to be able to congratulate all concerned on the spirit of being able to see the other fellow's viewpoint. He said the gentlemen who had arranged the compromise were entitled to the gratitude of all concerned. He was happy that an end had come to the present controversy, and hinted that when the case came to be heard on its merits a similar situation should be in evidence.

When Attorney Southerland was pressed to fix some date for the hearing of the motion to dismiss the bill that is still to be heard on its merits, he said he could not do so without consulting his associates, but it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that the case will be finally threshed out in Fresno.

RECKLESS LAD TO SWEEP JAIL.

Young Truck Driver Gets Ten Days Straight for Carelessness on Streets.

Pete Borno, 18 years of age, a truck driver of 1213 Naomi street, will spend the next ten days keeping the hallways of the City Hall in order, according to a sentence given him yesterday by Police Judge Chambers for reckless driving.

Borno was convicted after witnesses testified that he drove a light truck into the rear of another machine on Wall street.

After Borno had been ordered to jail for ten days, Chief Jailer Shand announced that he would be detailed to the janitor gang.

MEET PLEA TO EXTEND LONG PIER.

Port Commissioners Vote Money for More Wharfage for Admiral Line.

To handle the increased business of the Pacific Steamship Company, which operates the Admiral Line of steamers, the Harbor Commissioners yesterday authorized the construction of 450 feet of additional wharf for the company at pier A, Los Anngeles Harbor. The cost of the improvement is expected to be about $100,000.

The commissioners received a report from Harbor Engineer Griffin estimating that the cost of a proposed wooden swing bridge over Long Beach Channel connecting Terminal Island with the mainland would of $480,000, and if steel construction were used the cost would be $576,000.

Action was postponed by the commissioners until the cost and other features of a bascule or lift type of bridge could be considered. The Federal district engineers will be consulted as to whether or not they prefer a wooden swing bridge, which would turn from a base in the middle of the channel, or a lift bridge which would raise from one bank of the waterway.

ORDERED HUSBAND OUT.

Wife of Harbor Physician Sent Word She has Never Loved Him.

When Dr. Albert Winn, a San Pedro physician, married Dora E. H. Winn, he was a widower and she a widow. Each had one child. That was in 1902. There came a day when, as he says, she ordered him to leave the house. A friend sought to patch up the marital trouble, but Mrs. Winn was unrelenting. He reported to Dr. Winn:

"She said she would never live with you again. She declared she never had any affection for you; she never loved anyone but her first husband."

Yesterday Dr. Winn was granted a divorce on the ground of desertion.
